THE MESSAGE OF LOVE.

There is no message which brings me gladness to a true woman's heart train the sweet assurance that a little one is coming to bless her life and call her "Mother."

But in all her low-ing preparations for the expected little guest, a mother is isable to forget that her own health and physical condition is the most important provision which can possibly be made for the baby's happiness.

If the prospective mother is week, nervous and anxious, this condition is bound to react on the baby's constitution. No daintiness of wardrobe will compensate for the loss of the natural, healthy vigor which a mother should bestow upon her baby.

As early as possible during gestation, the expectant mother should reinforce her bodily power with the sustaining, healthbringing influence of Dr.

Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It gives natural, healthy vigor and elastic endurance to the organs specially concerned in motherhood. It makes the coming of baby perfectly asfe and almost painless. It gives serve-strength to the mother and vitis hardihood to the child. It is the only medicine devised by an educated physician specially to overcome all weaknesses and diseases of the femining organs. Its sale is greater than the combined cales of all other medicines for women. This fact shows the unbounded confidence which women place in Dr.

Pierce. He has been for nearly thirty years chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. During this time he has achieved a world-wide reputation for his successful treatment of the most obstinate ailments psculiar to women.

"I have taken three bottles of 'Favorite ailments psculiar to women."

Short Story of a Mining Camp In

They called him "Gentleman Jack."
He came to the mining camp at Virginia City one summer's day and asked the superintendent for work. The miner looked at his questioner's white hands, frail figure and neat fitting clothes and smiled. But the man insisted, and finally the superintendent consequed to allow the superintendent consented to allow him to remain.

That night, when the miners returned to camp, the newcomer was introduced to them as Jack, the only name be gave. His companious smiled as the superintendent had smiled, and one, turning to his fellows, said, "Geathennan Jack."

Jack took his place in the mines and performed his share of the labor. His comrades gradually came to respect the man who, evidently unaccustomed to the life they led, yet adapted himself to the conditions as they knew them. Time and time again they sought to assist him, but he would not permit it. Neither did he talk of himself. Once they happened to held him refer to Chicago, and it was understood it was his former home.

Six morths passed. The miners were one day using dynamite to remove the rock. After the explosion Jack was found lying on the ground, crushed by the weight of a huge bowlder. Tenderly they bore him to the hilliside. They thought him deed. The blood cosed down his pallid face. Lits eyes were closed. As they stood about him the eyelida raised, and a smile spread over his features, followed quickly by a terrible look of pain. His lips quivered, and, bending low, his contrades heard a murmur of words.

"Mother, I have not forgotten," was what he said, and then, is long drawn, suffering sounds followed the words, "Our Father—which art in heaven—hallowed be thy name—thy will—be-done—on—earth—as"—And then, though the lips continued to move, no sound was audible. These who wastehed knew, however, that the prayer was finished.

The eyes again closed, the stained, bruised lips smiled—Gentleman Jack was dead. Who he was his comrades did not know. But somewhere a waiting mother may understand as she reads.—Chicago Journal

In Africa there are several varieties of unusual money. The following incident gives an example of one mode of using

In west Africa there was an illustrious king, Kamrasi by name, of the Wanyoro tribe. He sent off an expedition provided with 600 unajembe, a kind of iron spade money. The expenditure of 3 majembe per diem would provide for the expedition. With them was carried a magio hora, which protected them from danger.

East central Africa furnishes another form of spade or hoe money made of ham mered iron. This is made and used by the Bari tribe, who trade with poople from the interior. This hoe is of no practical use, except as a poetable form of exchange, after barier being converted into weapons and ornaments. As Urna, contral Africa, is another form of surroncy in the shape of a flast cruciforus ingot of copper, 9% inches in length. Spears formed a currency in use meas Stanley Falls as recently as 1895. The iron spear is very well made. In the shaft is an ornament. The whole thing is 5 feet a neches in length and could well be used as a weapon. It is a recognized currency at Lower Lonamu. A smaller object is from the same district, of a graceful shape, but of no use except as money.—Good-Words.

INSPECTION OF EXPORTS.

INSPIRCTION OF EXPORTS,
Ottages, May 31.—Discus ing amendments to the Weights and Measures' Act, Sir Charles Tupper advocated inspection of exports of hay, apples and other products. He recalled the large rhuments of hay some years ago, when hay, was £19 per too in England, and the first shipments from Canada were of such exceitent quality that a great demand graw up for it, any thousands of tons were purchased by British consumers on the reputation of the first shipment, but later the shipments were of such stuff as should not have been shipped, with the result that the trade was killed, and at the suggestion of several members, who desired time to consult their conutituents, who are interested in the apple trade, Sir Henri Joly agreed to allow the bill to stand over.

Grer.

BLT McMillem (South Hurum) urged the necessity for a standard being estatlished for a dozen eggs, and a reguested that a clause be embodied in this bill providing that unless otherwise specially agreed between buyers and sellers of eggs shall be sold by weight, and that the weight of a dozen of eggs shall be a pound and a half.

Sir Henry Joly expressed his readi-mess to consider the question.

A Lawyer's Confession to a Judge After an Adverse Decision.

Judge J. M. Hurt tells a story on a couple of members of the Dallas legal profession which goes in this wise:

They were on a hunting and fishing expedition to Wynne's lake. On the day of their arrival one of the heroes of the story, who was at that time a district judge, found a cance that had been buried in the mud. He excavated it and found it to be in pretty good shape. He washed off all the mud and calked a few holes in the bottom, and it was a good hoat. It was a long, narrow affair and was evidently never intended to be built for two.

However, when the judge started out to fish in his cance, his lawyer friend insisted on going with him. The judge was sitting in the end toward the take, where the water was about six inches deep and the mud about four feet.

"Now, keep out of this boat," exclaimed the judge. "You will turn it over, surs, if you try to get in it."

"That's all right," said the lawyer. "I am an old boatman and have fished in a dugout many a time, and you know a man has to six mighty level in a dugout."

With that he stepped into the cance, and it capsised instantly. The lawyer saved himself by a quick spring for the bank, but the judge, who was about 18 feet off shore, was thrown in the shallow water and mud. He crawled out like an yeb of the property of the wallow, and when he reached the bank he delivered his opinion of the lawyer in anything but judicial language and wound up in italica, old hog coming out of its wallow, and when he reached the hank he delivered his opinion of the lawyer in anything but judicial language and wound up in italica, punctuated with dashes and exclamation points, saying that he hoped the lawyer was satisfied. The lawyer apologised profusely and assured the judge that there was nothing infentional about it; that it was purely an accident, and to show that he was sincers he divided what clothing he had with the judge and helped wash his wet and muddy suit. Peace was thereby patched up, and all went well.

At the next term of court the lawyer had a case in which he was very much interested to come up in the judge's court. He worked on it very hard and thought he had it perfected. All during the trial he sat up nights studying every point. He made a long and very exhaustive argument and thought to himself that he had a sure thing, but the judge decided in favor of the other fellow. It was a greed disappointment to the lawyer, and after sourt had adjourned he walled the judge to one side and said:

"I told you out at Wynne's lake that I turned that boat accidentally, but I want to tell you here and now that it was intentional, premeditated and done with express malice aforethought." — Dellas News.

Mohammedun courts which deal with question of marriage, divorce and mocesnion, have cried aloud for reform Minsiems whose orthodoxy is beyond dispute have pointed to the existing Jevils and clamored for redress.

The Egyptian Ministry, fully realising the position, resolved to transfer two Mosliem judges from the Native Court of Appeal to the Mehkem Sheraich in order to put an end to an intolorable condition of affairs. These judges had qualified at the great Moslem University of El Asher, and their ability to interpret the religious was unquestioned. Still the Ordi of Egypt, who by the way, is at the head of the Mehkemeh Sheraich, and the Sheikh of El Azhar, considered It their duty to oppose the proposal and, as a result, the Legislative Council passed a resolution charing against the innovation.

Minutem Objects.

The objection of the Moslem dignitaries was based on the contention that the Sultan, in his carriety of point judges to religious courts. This ideal was shaftered by the production of a proclamation of Ismail appointing the predecemor of the present Cadi, and expressly declaring the right of the Khedive to make the appointment. Moreover, many educated Mosleme leaders are absolutely wrong in their contention, and unring the Governcontestion, and unring the fovern-ment to carry out the proposed re-form. The Legislative Cruncil han-pily has not the power to yets the proposal, but the point of the incident lies in the fact that the appeal to religious projudice has met with no no respense in the country. The party of resotion is dead.

M. A FINANCIAL CRISIS.

The Climax Was Ferced by a Relent-ices flot Gas Meter.

And the slot meter, with its joshing clothes on, can turn some awfully emberrasting tricks. Now there is a young man living in a nice little flat not far from Park avenue, and he had one of the slot meters put in because he holds that it is better to pay for everything as you go and then you know where you stand. For a month past the young man has been running close to the wind financially and conomy of the strictest sort has been his watchword. Also the young man's wife, being a woman of understanding, has cut expenses down to the minimum. Last Friday the young man expected to make a raise down town during the day, but the man he expected to meet disappointed him, so he went home without a cant in his clothes, and, to make matters worm, there was no money in the house.

Nothing of the financial crisis in this household appeared on the surface, however. The flat is handsomely furnished, and when some friends to the number of half a doson called Friday evening everything looked prosperona. The host and houses were both smilling as young folks will smile through adventity, and matters were drifting along right merrily until the gas went out.

At that instant the young man realized with horror that there wasn't a ponny in the house and that the sum of $8 cents wherewith to propilise the god of the gashouse was an importative meening.

"My dear," he said, symulously—"example of the house and that the sum of $8 cents wherewith to propilise the god of the gashouse was an importative meening."

"Good gracious, Charlie!" gasped the ledy somewhat hysterically, but still with great presence of mind. "There isn't a "Good gracious, Charite!" gasped the ledy somewhat hysterically, but still with great presence of mind. "There isn's a thing in the house but a $10 bill."

"I've got some change," said one of the visitors, forking out a handful of sliver.
"All right," said the young man. "I'll skin out and get the $10 broken after awhile." The borrowed quarter went into the slot, the gas burned once more, and, in the hilarity that ensued, further reference to that quarter was studiously taboosd.—Minnespolis Journal.

The Settly Islands.

A letter written by a New York artist who is painting there gives an enthusiastic description of the Solly islands, which have so far been comparatively unknown to American tourists. Even the English have been slew in realizing the charm of the islands so near their own shores, but it essens that this spring many artists have gone to "dasfodil land," and the winter exhibitions will probably be flooded with pictures of the islands. Dasfodils have always grown in great profusion in the Solly islands. February and March are the height of their blossoming time, and to quote the artist's letter:

"The whole land is a binning sas of brilliant yellow dasfodils surging up upon gray rooks and falling back in foam bursts of white narolesce. Even the tuilp fields in Holland don's give such gorgeous effects of color. You should stand on one of the little hills here and look norms the sunlit fields if you want to see the leveliest things in the world. Yet sometimes I think the flower drifted land is more beautiful under moonlight than in the daylight, and daytime or nighttime the air is soented as though it blew stenight from Araby the blest."

HUMOR IN THE SMALL "ADS."

Fenny Things Found In the Brchange Columns In Chicage.

There is more than one way of getting rid of some article you don't want and getting hold of something you really need, or think you need, which is the same thing. If a man owns a dog and hankers for a watch, he doesn't have to sell the animal and then use the monoy in purchasing the timepleos. That was the way it was done years ago, but the "For sale or exchange" column in the Sunday newspaper has changed the method of operation. Planos are exchanged for essiskins and jeweiry. Books are taken in trade for silverware for the table and harnessea.
Sign painting goes for clothes and seenography for bicycles. One young woman advertises, "First class teacher, with best of references, will give stage or society dancing lessons for dry goods, those or anything useful." Another person says, "Opals or amethysts for silverware, typewriter or hardwara." A laundress who wants to learn to play the plano says, "Wanted-Piano lessons if exchange for laundry work, or what have you?"

Apparently many of these traders are willing to take nearly anything of value and, of course, each one expects to get the better of the bargain. There must often be heart burnings and many sad thoughts when the man who has traded an Angora cas for dental work finds that his teeth have been filled with plumber's colder, or the woman who has exchanged a Perstan run for an alarm clock discovers that the timeplece runs only on Thursday afternoons and then strikes nothing but 32.

One enterprising individual advertices,
"Best Freench conversation in exchange for cash or solid goods." It may be said that there are many persons who would also like to trade large bunches of "best English, conversation" for cheeses andwiches or an old pair of panta.

A family with lots of board, but a houseful of leaky pipes, wants to "exchange good board for plumbing; walking distance," and a man with a large wardrobe, but nothing to hunt with, wants "up to date gun for winter sait, No. 63."

PALM VARIETIES OF CUBA.

There Are Twenty-six Different Kinds on the Island.

Not only is the climate of Cuba favorable to the planting of crops whonever the farmer chooses to plant them and the lands so rich that no fertilization is ever required, but nature seems to have, with a beneficent hand, reared many strange trees and plants to supply the wants of man without the necessity of his planting them himself. First among these are the palms, some 30 varieties of which adorn the fields of Cuba, giving shade, food and life. At the head of these stands the royal, palm.

the fields of Cuba, giving shade, food and life. At the head of these stands the royal palm.

The royal palm consists of a tall, straight trunk of a very fibrous nature and supports a cluster of pinnated leaves like a bunch of plumes on a long stick. The leaves are large and leathery. These leaves continue to grow from the center to a great length. When the leaves cannot grow any more, they drop to the ground from the bottom of the cluster, thus making room for the new once which are always coming out of the center. It also yields in the proper season yellow flowers. The fruit cannot be esten.

The stein of the long leaves is peculiar. It is semictroular and embraces the trunk of the tree and holds the leaf in place until it withers and drops to the ground. It resembles a thin board and is often of great size, and it has a number of uses. The trunk of the tree is without any bark, and its center is very porous, increasing in density toward the outer surface. From the hard outer shell of the trunk canes are made. The bud or root of the center spire, from which the leaves grow, consists of a tender substance buried deep down within the cluster of the green leaves and forms a very palatable food either in the raw este or cooked as a vegetable. It is also made into a preserve with sugar.

The royal palm is one of the most common of all the trees in Ouba. It is med with everywhere, and in the penter of the broad pasture lands it often stands alone. Bordering the cultivated fields of rich planters, is forms ab ade avanues which lead to the dwellings.—Scientific Chroniels.

The work of a farmer's wife is never carded. But it is wholesome, enjoyable, productive work that is pleasurable if the farmer's wife is a well woman.

The work becomes weary drudgery when the woman is sick. The work drags and the woman's pride is hurt. Her ambition is to do as much and better work than her neighbors. It is a distinct triumph if her butter is generally regarded as the finest in the county.

But fine butter and bad health don't go together.

found that I was to become a mother and that I was to become a mother and that I was in rapidity failing health. I suffered dreadfully from bloating, and urinary difficulty. I was growing perceptibly weaker each day and suffered much abarp pain at times. I had to give up my work and I leit that something must be done. Jounght your advice and received a prompt payly. I followed your directions and took twelve bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and also followed your hygraic instructions. I began to improve immediately, my health became encellest, and I could do all my work (we live on a good sized farm). I walked and rode all I could, and enjoyed it. I had a short, easy confinement and have a healthy baby hop."

The one medicine that gives prompt and sure relief is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a tonic and purifier that works on one special set of organs and puts them in a perfectly vigorous, healthy condition. It quickly soothes inflammation and stops debilitating drains on the system. Taken regularly during the period of gestation it greatly lessens the pain and danger of childbirth.

Although sweet to the taste it contains no sugar which often disagrees with weak stomachs; nor does it contain any alcohol, or opium in any form, and therefore does not induce a craving for stimulanta. Keeps perfectly in any climate.

A general meeting of the above board will be held on Tuesday mart, when among other business of in-terest to be discussed will be the G. T. R. Truckmen's strike, Mankoba wheat and the annual excursion.

Mr. Henry Johnson, the well-bnown ceptulist of Hastings, is enjoying himself for the "Golden State, as will be seen by the following taken from the Dally Hersid, San Jose, Calfornia—"Henry Johnson, of Hastings. One, one of Canada's millionaires, is in town. He is here in the interest of his Calfornia holdings in Tuolume county. Rumor says he has arrester interest in one of our wealthy widows."

Corner Stone Said.

The corner stone of the new Methodist church, Baltimore, was laid on Wednesday, by Chuncellor Burwash, aminted by the Revs. Young, of Port Hope, McCamus, of Cohourg, and R. F. Hunter, Pre-ovierins minister of Baltimore intoly Cold Cyrings, who delivered appropriate addresses. The Bespatch twatradicted.

A disspatch was sent out from Lindsay, Tunsday to the effect that a number of bridge builders had been disminsed there for refusing to take the piaces of strikers, says our estained contemporary, the Review. Mr. Candy, G.T.R. agent, states that this wrong, that the men were laid off because there was no work for them, and that sums of them have been re-ranginged.

A Progressive Township.

The Township Council of Smith, propose to invest in a stone crusher and road grader. At a meeting of the Council, held on Tuesday, the Reeve was instructed to go to Hamilton and purchaise a grader and also look at the stone crusher. The gentlemen, who compose the Council, are of the opinion that it will pay to have good roads. We hope other municipalities will follow the example thus set.

A Fact Pacific Train.

The C.P.R., is about to put on a new fast trian to the coast, to be called the "Imperial limited," which, it is expected, will reduce the time to about one flumitred hours. This train will run every day, fluminy included. A fast train will also be put on: the Crow's Nest Pass Railway, which will give better facilities to the mining districts of British Columbia. The passengers will have a choice of routes by, the main lines or the Crow's Nest Pass for the future.

An armusing incident happened on the G.T.R. express on its way west. South of Woodville, a large pig was received by express and hefore reaching battern broke tone. Abandon all Business Cares and Mak-

Since the days when Aldam inventati trouble by enting an apple in the garden of Edem, when Eve invented manufacturing by making Adam the first suit he ever owned out of a fig leaf, when Nosh invented navigable appliances by building the ark, when Essai invented commerce by seling his birthright for a pot of porridge, and since the days when Lot's wife want into the mineral business and turned everything she had, including hernelf, into sait, business men the world over engaged in all branches o ftrade and commercial pursuita, have fall the need of brief periods of relaxation. There are periods when nothing but an abrupt severance of one's said from dull care and business worry, and an absolute abandonment of business responsibility will recuperate the fagged energies and enthuse one with renewed life and vigour, clearing the cobwebs from the brain and sharpening one's capabilities, wits and faculties etc. Thus it is, when Old Sol drys the sir, singes vegestation and turns office and home into veritable bakes-ovens, that the overwrought business man, armed with a galandeaf fan, a bottle of seltzer, a copy of this great family journs? bars awallowed their coffae and hot rolls, and made for the Grand Trank station.

At 8 detock the crowd assumbled in the depar resembled the betting circle at the Westiblas track on Queen's plate day. R was a joyous and jaunty assembly, whose mery talk and chast'ful bardinage payed on the morroids at the department of the cigare, intermingied with the belchings of the engine as she wrood panting to carry them away, added to the interest of the occasion.

Time was going on so President J. J. Lundy, called the roll to see if all were present. This Agitator Leque counted mess, and embarkation at once took place.

Arriving at Lakefield the steamer Majestic was on hand! The trip up the bautiful Katchawanousk is too well known to need notice in these columns. At Toung's Point Brother Win. Macfarlane, President of the Young's Point Liver Complaint Society, Sir. James Kearmey and Mr. Young were on hand, and extended a hearty welcomes Proceeding Burleigh Talks was at length resched, where min short Gratter put up as excellent disher.

After an hour's rest the party again ambarked and the steamer's none was turned towards Buckform to the strains of music of the 57th Battaliouband' which was on board. At Buckhorz Mayor Tom Bastwood was on hand with a large ambulance corpe, to amint the party up to the book.

Returning after an hour's stay, the party again arrived at Burlingth, and the fun apil environment run high and lil supper was amagismend.

After a hearty meal a programme of sports was then run off. It would take too much space to describe the interest which attended the various events. Hat pools were dumerous and ay most cases the favorites won. The winners radient and happy were presented with the prises by Chief Agitator Lecque, who used language so beautiful, so transcentiant and poetical that many of the members involuntarily shed tears and had to seek the privacy of the hotel to quench their—symotion.

It had been a pleasant day; full of happy incidents, and fraught with nothing but merriment, good apirits and wholesomed intercourse, in the cool off the evening the steamer's deck was again invaded by the party, and if the course Labefield and home, sweet home," was reached than putting an end to the 10th anchial excursion of the Olympic Club.

He turns with a start, and colors a dark red on seeing her, but neither moves new offers greeting.

"Oh, Philip! let me do temething for you," says Molly, impulsively, without preparation, and with tears in her eyes. "I have robbed you, though unwittingty. Let me make amenda Out of all I have let me give you."

"Be only thing! I would take from you is out of your power to give," he interrupts her; gently.

"Ito not say so," she pleads, in a trembling tone. "I do not want all the money. I can not spend it. I do not care for it. Do take some of it, Philip. Let me share."

"Impossible, child!" with a faint antie. "You don't know what you are saying," Then, with an effort. "You are going to marry Luttrell?"

"Yes," blushing unity as looks like a pate, sweet rose with a droping head.

"Bow rich to overflowing are some, while others starve!" he says, bitteriy, mains at her miserable. "How her his party her interparable."

"How rich to overflowing are some, while others starve!" he says, bitterly, gazing at her miserably, filling his heart, his senses, for the last time, with a view of her loft and perfect lovelines. Then, in a kindler (ene, "I hope yeu will be happy, and," slowly, "he too, though that is a foregone conclusion." He pales a little here, and steps as though half-choking.
"Yes, he has my beat wishes—for your rake," he goes on, insteadily. "Tell him so from me, thought we have not been good friends of late."
"I will surely tell him."
"Good-bye!" he says, taking her hand. Something in his expression makes her exclaim, anxiously:
"For the present!"
"No. forever. Herst and England have grown hateful to me. I leave them as soon as possible. Good-bye, my beloved!" he whispers, in deep agitation. "I only ask you not to quite forret me, though I hope—I shall never look upon your sweet face again."
So he goes, leaving his heart behind him, coarrying with him evermore, by land and see, this only—the vision of her he loves as fast he sees her, weap-ing and and bitter tears for hims

WHAL RELEASE COL. PROBLANT.

Paria, June 2.—The Echo de Paris this morning says that Gen. Zurlinden, the Military Governor of Paris, he commented to the provincial, release of Ool. Picquart, who is in prison on the charge of revealing documents comouning the mational defence on the demand of Gen. Marquis De Gallifet. The Petit Republique has a report that Lieut.-Fol. Dn. Pary de Clam, who was arrested and sent to the Cherche Midit prison! ast night, has attempted to commit suicide in prison. Reveral papers amnounce that proceedings will be taken against Gen. Moreigr, former Minister of War, and other officers.

The arrest of Lieut.-Colonel Du Pary De Clam, who in 1894 was charged with the investigation of the first charges made against Drayfus, was ordered after the Minister of Wir, M. Krantz, had committed with the remier, M. Dupuy. The prisoner, who as confined in the military prison of Charche Midit, is charged with forgery. It is not yet known whether he will be tried before a court-martial or a disciplinary court.

BRITISH REPORT ON MINES AND QUARRIES

ne for Last Year Show the Largest Augsber of Miners on Berord Complete With a Berroner in Fraduction Sever

London, June 2.-In spite of its obvibus discomforts and dangers, min-ing is a distinctly popular calling iss this country, and its popularity is increasing. There have never been so many persons employed in and about the mines of the United Kingdom as there were last year. Taking the mines of all chases, we find from the General Report and Statistics of Mines ant Quarries for 1898, which have Just been issued by the Home Office, that the total number of persone employed was 741,125. As compared with 4897, this was an in-crease of no less than 12,412 persons. Mumen and girls are no longer employed below ground, but a considerable number of them still at work at the pit mouth. Of the 139,770 surface workers at mines under the Coal Mines Act 4,617, or 3.3 per cent, were somen and girls. With the record beaten in the numer of persons employed in and about mines, we are prepared to fluid the output of influers standing who at its highest recorded total. East year the mines under the Coal Mines Act. turned but £15,161,954 tons of minerals, and the other mines 3,818,812 tons. Of this output 202,042,243 tous were coal, 2,783,219 tons fireclay, 7,- were coal, 2,783,219 tons fireclay, 7,901,046 tons bromstone, 2,167,109 tons from ore, 2,137,993 tons oil-shale, and the rest subdry minerals.

But the total output of coal alone, curious enough, shows a decrease as compared with the previous year. To the output of coal alrendy mentioned under the Coal Bines Act, must be, added 12,273 trons from 0,240 quarries making a total output of 202,054,516 tons, which was lower by 75,415 tons than that of the year 1897. Their reasons is not far to seek. The, whole enplanation lies in the atrike in the South Wales coal trade.

As to the "sundry minerals," the chief feature that we solve is the decrease in the output of the more precious metals. Only 708 tons of gold ore were turned out, whereas in 1897 the total was 4,517 tons, and there was no output at all of jet and nickel ore, whereas is the previous year 94 lb, and 300 tons respectively were produced.

Notwithstanding that there were never so mency persons employed in and about mires before, and the rewere never so great and output are not been persons.

In any one year, so far as the persons were killed.

The Berlin gathering has to deal with a scientific profilem. The peace congress is concerned with the human propensity for fighting-a propensity which is as strong! to-day as in the earliest dawn of histery and which has resisted the influence of religion and philenthropy alike, Hence, while scientists at Perlin may do much toward the accomplishment of their object, the diplomats and statesmen at The Hague will separate with mutual assurances of profound considenation, only to resume the strengthening of armaments and th eraising of additional armies in preparation for ineritable conflict. SON CANADA IN ADVERTISED ARROAD. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has th ereputation of being a pretty good advertiser, but many doubtless would be surprised to learn that its publications are put to useful purposes in distant lands. In a recent number of the New York Outlook, Mr. George Konmin has an interesting article on the "Regeneration of Cuba," in which incidently id told bow thoroughly Canada is advertised abroad by this company. Mr Kennan described his visit to a Cuban achool. n which he cays-

The principal of this school was an intelligent young Cuban, named Ramon Martines, a graduate of the University of Hayana, who had in his scanty library such books as Wickersham's "Methods of Instruction," Sully's "Lipschology of Teaching," Frosbel's "Esucation of Man," nearly all of Herbert beener's works, and the educational books of Currie, shedon ands Frich; but whose teaching outfit, or plant, if I may so call it, consisted of two ansall blackboards; a may of haif the eworld on a globular projection issued as an advertisement, by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company; one torn, tattered copy of Ollomotoff's "New Method of Learning English", a few local butterfliss, minerals and shells of his cwellection; half a dozen kimdergarten cubes, pyramids, spheres, etc., of glass, which he had bought with his own money; and a small amortment of second-hami carpenter's toola. ECOTONICS IN WARFARE.

Kitchener's campaign of 1898 in the edan, principally with native troops officered by British, cost only $4,000, 000. while the Wolseley campaigns of 1894-6 cost over $30,000,000. To the $4, 1894-6 cost over $30,000,000. To the $4,000,000 may be uskiled the cost of making the Egylptian army "out of mind," a process that took ten years, but the tarmy is now an imperial military asset worth far more than theseout of manufacture by many millions. All of which goes to show that the tendency is fowards the amployment of cheap labor in fighting, as Kitchener preposes to use only native troops in the final campaign this summer.

the president, Judge Macdonald, of Brockville, addressed the convention, emphasizing the importance of worbers for various charities coming together for the interchange of experience. He dwelt in the importance of child-aving, work, and advoicted the employment of the latest methods in prisons and other public institutions. In conalusion he urged the necessity of hospital treatment for confirmed inchriates when the chart-contence system has failed to benefit.

Addresses were given by Hon. Geo W. Row and E. J. Davis, welcoming the delegates, pointing out the prominent position that Ontarid has always taken in the alling with the helpless and unfit members of the community and gromising the bosperation of the Government with the community and gromising the bosperation of the Government with the community and gromising the bosperation of the Government with the community and gromising the bosperation of the Government with the community and gromising the bosperation of the Government with the community and gromising the bosperation of the Government with the community and gromising the bosperation of the Government with the community of the securing the best possible results.

REPAIRING WATCHES.

ow Jewelers Tell When They Were Last in Their Hands.

"Will you please tell me what alls this watch?" she asked.

The watch doctor opened the case deliberately, peered into the works and said.
"It needs cleaning."

"My, that seems strange!" said the woman, "You cleaned it only a few

"Is that so?" asked the man and opened the case once more and made another examination with the aid of a ministure microscope. Then he handed the watch back and said. "We cleaned this watch two years ago, and it has not been in our hands since that time."

"Is that so? I must be mistaken; but how do you know when it was cleaned last?"

how do you know when it was no trick at memory, but simply the result of a system. "Whenever a watch is brought to us." be said, "to be cleaned, regulated, repaired or "fixed up," we put a tag on it, which is numbered to correspond with a number in our workbook. In the book we record the style and make of the watch, the owner, what repairs are to be made and the amount charged for the work, and when the workman finishes the job he puts the same number in microscopic figures on the edge of the inner case. A letter or sign also shows what has been done to the watch. So, you see, when a watch somes here we look for a mark of that hind, and when we find it we refer to the book, and there you are."

The woman left the watch with the man of system, and when she had gone he said:
"That happens many times every day. We have the most fun with the people whe say, 'You guaranteed this watch for a year when you repaired it, and here it is out of order again.' The glass usually reveals the fact that the watch was 'due to break' months and sometimes years ago."

All watchmakers keep records and mark the watches which are placed with them for repairs, but no two have the same system. Some makers mark the watch with the man of the workman in itial on the case, and others have signs in conjunction with these designations to abow just what work has been done on the timepicoa.

This system of marking and recording watches is of much service to the police also, and lost and stolen watches are identified daily by means of the watchmaker's private marks.

The Menkeye of Malacca.

The Henkeys of Malacca.

Do you care for monkeys? Personally I know two kirds caly in Malacca and detest them both—the brok and the kra. The brok is a big brown, fatuous baboon of the familiar low comedy pattern. forsers excratching himself and sputtering and fidgeting with hands and feet and making faces. Should you desire to please him you will squat (just beyond the length of his chain) in front of him and similarly scratch your person, make faces and sputter. Then in high good humor he will amble round his post in as big a circle as his chain permits, clutching at your hair with an adroit high kick as he peased. Such are his low delights. The hard is a small gray person of pessionate appearance, with close set, flery eyes. The testes of this little flend are still more primitive—namely, to fly straight as you with kie tall sticking out and his creek sticking up and his you again and again.—Blaskwood's. The Monkeys of Malacca.

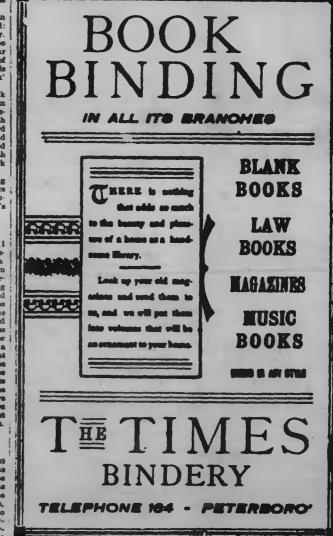

The Miserable Meers.

The lives lived by the Moors are without perhaps any exception the most precarious and miserable that can be imagined. The poor man is thrown into prison for sums he never possessed and can never pay, the rich to be squeezed of all he possesses, while those only can hope to escape who are members of families sufficiently powerful to arouse the fears of the local governor should he attempt extortion and not sufficiently powerful to stir up the jealousy and avarioe of the sultan.

Even the governors of the provinces suffer for intensives as they make others suffer, for just as they squeeze the agriculturist and the peasant so are they in turn squeezed by the sultan and his visiers, and, should they fall by constant presents to maintain a good opinion at the court, they can expect only imprisonment and often death.—Bleckwood's Magazine.

MARKET AGEARE CESA POOL. Editor of the Times.

Bilitor of the Times.

Dear Sir,—Considerable indignation is felt at the setton of the council in putting downs next the market scales, two pens, about 12 feet square in such a manner as to make them equivalent to a cose poul. The excavation, fifteen or twenty inches deep is filled with stone below, with broken stone on top and crushed stone for a surface all solidly compacted by passing the town roller over it swers! times. While an excellent hed for a highway is made, the pens are actually a made, the pens are actually a great amount of fifth and give off noisome smells with a facility to create a nuisabne of the first order in that visinity. For an expenditure of hetween $15 and $25 the aurhoe of the yard could be concreted and could then be cleaned off by using the hose and no nuisance would be created.

The town coshoil's excuse for such it slop-work job as is being dure, is that the gressent position of these stock peas is only temperary and they will be removed before long to a more suitable place, and it is further at blaimed on behalf of the alderment that a meavenger has been simployed to keep the place clean. But it is further to be the place of the alderment that a meavenger has been simployed to keep the place of the laderment that a meavenger has been simployed to keep the place of the laderment as while, the usual delay that attends civic changes will result in heaping the peak in their present position for an indefinite time, especially, when the merolients about the market square strongly object to a gigantic cas pool being oversing at their doors. It would not be a vary expensive affair to have mot be a vary expensive affair to have the pens properly constructed on their present site and connected with the sewer, to permit of perfect clear-liness. When we are doing a thing it pays to do it right.

B. D. GAMBLE, Deminion Parky Screeto, 29.h April, 1889

The mystery of womanhood is full of deep unanswerable enigmas. Why should women be compelled to suffer simply because they are women? Why is it that the source of their highest joys is at the same time the cause of their greatest wetchedness. The very attributes which make it possible for women to be happy wives

stee which possible for to be happy and mothers also render them liable to the stmost physical misery pain. Gerings of and pain.

The sufferings of body and mind caused by some weakness of the distinctly feminine organs are so almost universal among women that the question might well be asked: "Is this Nature's punishment for the crime of being a woman?" The true answer is No! These sufferings are neither natural nor necessary. They would not exist if the organism was healthy. No woman ought to endure such troubles. There is no need of it. Dr. Pierce's Paworite Prescription is a perfect and positive care for feminine weakness and disease.

Help is at hand for those who choose to take it. Dr. Pierce's Paworite Prescription will infallibly cure womanly ills. It is designed for that purpose alone. It acts directly and quickly os the organs involved and restores them to health and vigor. This is proven by the triumphant record of tens of thousands of cures. It is successful when all clae has failed. After the abhorrent local treatments of the doctors have proven useless, the "Pavorite Prescription" does its marvelous work, bringing comfort and happiness. It is the one thing that can always be depended upon.

It gives health and strength to the special organs and nerve-centres; heals inflammation; stops weakening drains; promotes functional regularity, and restores the normal, vigorous and painless condition which Nature intended.

It is the ouly medicine of its kind invented by an educated and experienced physician. It is the only medicine which makes baby's coming safe and comparatively painless. It has had a larger sale than any other like medicine. Get it at your druggist's and do not be persuaded to take a substitute.

"When I wrote to you about two years ago, I was indeed a fine and and sevented was a papitation of the heart. After receiving your advice, began treatment with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and Coilen Medical Discovery. I kept this up several meaths and am sew in the best of health. Many thanks to you and ville medicine and lawer to go by but gone would receive and will heartly recommend them to all sufferi

MAKING A NAME FOR MIMSELF.

London June 3-Lieut. Winston Leonard Churchi l eldest son of the late Lord Rando'ph Churchill, is making a dis-tinct hit in the political field. He has Rando'ph Churchill, is making a distinct hit in the political field. He has been elected president of the Midland Conservative Club, and at a meeting held at Birmingham on Thursday to welcome him, he made an extremely able speech, during the course of which he worked much merriment, saying the expression of a presidential address always reminded him of the high politics of a Queen's speech, a rescript of the Czar or a message of President McKiniey, or, coming to lesser matters, of Emise o Willi m's telegrams, former searchary Olmy's notes or other dignified atyles o' public utteranos. Church'il also treated Lord Rossbery, Sir William Vernos-Harcourt, Mr. John Bforley and other big leaders of the Opposition to a lose of chaffing but his clover criticism and speech generally attracted considerable atten ion. The Conservative Morning Post says: "The old po'iticians had better look to their learels. Churchill's speech has a force o' myoement and humor that desighted his hearers and discloses a sense of form and consciousness that oratory is an art, which will leave the public to expect more in that respect than has hitherto been supplied."

THE G.T.R. TRACKMEN'S STRIKE NOW

Strikers Return to Work Again Under Arrangements Satisfactory to Both Sides.

THE C.P.R. RATE OF $1.25 PER DAY TO BE ADOPTED.

Negotiations for Sett'ement by the Executive Committee of Strikers Terminated Successfully.

Montreal, June 4.-The Grand Trunk trackmen's s rike is pract cally over and the men have returned to work again under conditions satisfactory to both parties. Although full details at this juncture are not obtainable, it is generally understood that the strikers have returned to work at the C. P. R. rate of $1.25 a day for a short period pending a final agreement of the dispute, wherein the men's demands will be acceded to. and the interest of the railway in question benefited. The men seem to have the sympathy of the whoie country in their grievances, and universal satisfaction is expressed at the management's decision to follow in the C. P. APPROACEMENTS MADE.

Ottawa, Jame 3.—Strembous efforts are being made by the Grand Trunk management to bring about a settlement of the trackmen's strike, and this city has been the centre of the movement airce Wednesday last.

On Thursday Assistant General Manager Waiswright came up from Montreal, and interviewed a large number of members of Parliament on both sides, appurently for the purpose of ascertaining host that yell individually. He was not long left in doubt. He found on both sides politics the strongest sympathy with the men, and had little to comfort him if he anticipated assistance from that source. This state of affairs led, him to request the good offices of a teading Cumservative member of the House to bring about a settlement.

As a result the strikers' Executive Committee were telegraphed for, and reached Ottawa yesterday morning, since which time negotiations have been carried on with, it is said, a fair prospect of success.

Basis Suggested.

The bale of settlement auggested is that the man shall receiver for! pay for the time they have been on strike.

fins. adoption of this the men aret to return to work for ten days, at the expiration of which period the dispute will be adjusted.

It is stated here that the loss of traffic and universally expressed sympathy with the men have impressed the management with the necessity of the state of the management with the necessity of the state of the management with the necessity of the state of the st the management with the necessity of making an early settlement.

The reason given here for the Government's refusal to interfere in the dispute is that the trackmen on the Intercolonial Railway receive the same Government to champion the cause of the men against the Grand Trunk would be to condemn themselves.

The matter is causing the Ministers considerable anxiety, for since it was introduced in Parliament by Mr.

E. F. Clarke it cannot be got rid of by any other means than a estilement, and nearly all the members, find it an awkward question to deal with, being between their constituents, the Grand Trunk and their party.

RACED FOR HIS LIFE.

AN EXCITING ADVENTURE WITH A WILD OSTRICH

Thrilling Chase on an Africa. Voids That Was Interrupted by a Kaffr. Who Was Then Ricked to Death by the Inferiated Bird.

The open veldt lay before us bathed in the dew and the lingering shades of early morning as we mounted our horses for a ride across country. Before we had gone far, however, my companion was summoned back, and I continued my ride alone. As I advanced mile by mile the scenery grew wilder, and the great rocks, just tinged with the purple of the sunrise, rose majestically on either side. When the mod divided, my Basuto pony turned off into a bridle path which led through a wild gorge and eventually lost tastf among the rocks at the foot of a hill. The surfooted little creature started up the side of off into a bridle path which led through a wild gorge and eventually lost itself among the rocks at the foot of a hill. The sure footed little creature started up the aide of the mountain and eventually landed me at the top. Here I dismounted and left him to grass. We had been out some hours. Remounting, we followed a half beaten track on the opposite side from which we had come, and in a short time we were at the foot of the hill and on the level void once more. Going forward into the main road, which wound round the base of the mountain, I started off at a quick canter toward homs.

For some time we went along at a good pace, when suddenly I was startled by the sight, not far ahead, of a cock ostrich rushing wildly backward and forward, with its black and white wings flapping and quivering with rage. I pulled up with a jerk, for at first I thought the bird was loose on the veldt, but on closer inspection I found that a wire fence was between us. Just at this mement I saw on the other ride of the camp a hen sitting on her nest, and, knowing only too well the danger I was in. I paused to consider what I should do. A short distance in front the road ran close to the fence, and I knew it would be impossible to pass that way. There was nothing for it but to retrace my steps and follow the road back round the mountain till it joined the one by which I had come. I was not afraid, for it was by no means an uncommon position in which to find oneself in the center of an astrich farming country, and, besides, I felt sure of getting away. Accordingly I turned the pony's head in the opposite direction and walked quietly back, hoping to escape notice. A few moments passed, and I began to think we were safe, when suddenly a strange sound made me look around. To my horror I saw that in one of his wild charges the enormous bird had caught sight of us and was making frantic day es along the fence, which was unusually tow, and was not of barb wire. In a few seconds he would be over, and then it means a strange sound made me loo ishort time we should keep ahead, but in the end I knew the ostrich must easily catch us.

As if by instinct my faithful friend scanted danger, and after one whispered word in his ear he was off like the wind. There was suddenly a crash behind us, followed by a measured beating which almost made the ground vibrate and sot my heart thumping. If you have never heard the "tramp" of an infuriated ostrich, no words will adequately describe it. The nearest approach to it that I can think of is the sound of the regular "thud, thud!" of soldiers on the march. There was no mistake. We were being pursued by a furious cock ostrich—a formidable foe indeed! Now it was only a question of time. The pony's feet seemed enercely to touch the ground, and I bene forward, arging him on feverishly as I had never done before. Nearer and nearer came the beating, the distance between us and our strange pursuer growing has and less every second. I was powerless to do anything but hold on to my flying horse. We were miles away from any farm in the direction we wave going, and those behind knew nothing of the terrible danger I was in. Could there be no help? Alone on the boundless veids, I looked vaguely up into the bits sky.

There was a distant shout, and I was Maspero Tells of the Mechanical Statues of Egyptian Gods.

M. Gaston Maspero, the well knows French Egyptelegist, has recently written an interesting article on the "speaking statues" of ancient Egypt. He says that the statues of some of the gods were made of jointed parts and were supposed to communicate with the faithful By speach, signs and other movements. They were made of wood, painted or gilded. Their hands could be raised and lowered and their heads moved, but it is not known whether thair feet could be put in motion. When one of the faithful asked for advice, their god answered either by signs or words. Occasionally long speeches were made, and at other times the answer was simply an inclination of the head.

Every temple had pricets whose special duty it was to assist the statues to make these communications. The priests did not make any mystery of their past in the proceedings. It was believed that the priests were intesmediary hetween the gods and mortals, and the priests themasives had a very wasted idea of their calling. They firmly believed that the souls of divinities fishabited the statues, and they always approached them with selficious fear had reverence.

Those priests would stand behind the statues and move their heads or hands or speak for them, never deubting that at that moment their movements and words were imprired by the divine spirit dwelling in the statues. The statues were regarded as severy much alive that in war they shared the fate of those people whose delties they were. They were taken pripers, condemned to death or given into slavery—in other words, placed in the temples of the conquering gods. If they were returned to their own temples, they have defined and imprisonments.

As to the "sundry minerals," the chief feature that we notice is the decrease in the output of the more

Varitable "Queen's Weather" greeted our local sportsmen on the morning of the 24th, and in this respect the day was throughout all that could be desared. As far as a large display of colored posters, and abundance of energy on the part of interested parties in pursuit of the "simighty dolar" were comearmed the events which were to make up the day's attractions were no doubt unparalled. But when the proceedings of our national holidays are engineered by promoters whose parasotum reaches no deeper than their puckets and whose love of aport can be measured by the amount of gant to be expected the true spirit of the day's celebration is too often ahused or lost eight of altogether.

A bicycle race which just escaped ending in a "fixzle," a trutting race culminating in a protest, and a football match of which a sparring contest was a praminent feature comprised the aftermoon's bill of events offered our luyal citizens in commemoration of the birth of our glurious foveregn. SICK WOMEN ster invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter, without fee or charge of any kind. Dr. Pierce is a specialist in the diseases of women. He has treated over half-a-million women for diseases of the womanly organs and ninety-eight out of every hundred women he has treated have been absolutely and perfectly cured. Every letter received by Dr. Pierce, is treated as a parely personal and private communication and its contents guarded as a sacred confidence. All answers to these letters are sent in sealed envelopes bearing upon them no printing or advertising whatever.

Write to the doctor. It is no use for sick women to write to a man unless he is a doctor. It is no use to "write to a woman" unless the woman is a doctor. Write to a woman about cookery or any branch of housekeeping, because she is a woman and khows. But it is of no use to write to a woman about cookery or any branch of housekeeping, because she is a woman and khows. But it is of no use to write to a woman about cookery or any branch of housekeeping, because she is a woman and khows. But it is of no use to write to a woman as a dector, when she usdertakes to treat disease.

There is no qualified woman physician so far as is known connected with any proprietary medicine put up for women. Even the "bearded woman," the man who advertises "write to a woman" is not a qualified physician and stands too much in fear of the law to claim that he is. There is no other physician, male or female, who, like Dr. Pierce has a record of over thirty years, as chief consulting physician of a well known institution, making a specialty of the private treatment of women's disease.

SPORTING NOTES.

On Saturday afternoon the finale of the golf handimp was played off by Mr. E. W. Holst and Mr. G. W. Hatton, Mr. Holst winoing after a hard fought hattle by twin shots...

The greatest interest was taken in the game. Many of these older players who had fallen before the prowess of these two beginners, watched the game with great interest. Among these was Mr. Fired Hall, who was feature by Mr. Holst in the semi finals. Fred wanted to see what would happen to Mr. Hatton when "that man Holst" run up against him.

Mr. Hatton seemed a lattlet nervers at the start for such har old athelete, but them that was quite excussible when we consider the importance of the malch. Mr. Halst drove off in a sing froid menner without even addressing the ball at all, and watching it speed on life way well toward the first hole, remarked that he hit if, first, and tried to afterwards. This seemed to do very well with Mr. Halst who made amon magnificent intrees. Mr. Halton seemed to excel however, in apprenching and putting, and at the third hile they had the two holes, and Mr. Halton made a leaperate effort to catch him or the last three holes he finished two holes down.

Anyone wishing to purchase a set of goof second hand clubst kindly apply to Mr. Fred Hall.

INDIAN POISONS THAT PUZZLE OUR MEN OF SCIENCE.

Finish Ito Deadly Work and Against Which There is No Reme-dy-A Poison That Paralyses.

"I venture to say that no poisons known to science the world over can compare in their effects with the deadly mixtures used by the conjurers, or medicine men, of the Cree and Saitsaux tribes of Indians away up in the northwest region of British Columbia," mys Dr. James Melden of Maniadas cree and Salteaux tribes of Indians away up in the soortheest region of British Columbia." mys Dr. James Melden of Manibobs

"These tribes," he said, "live in that wast, wild region from 700 to 1,000 miles north of Winnipeg, just on the border of Eskimo land. They are the last tribes to be met with before the Eskimos asp reached, and they get along very amicably with thom, as hunting ground demarcations are mutually understood and respected. No doubt the extreme rigor of the climate accounts for it, but they are conspicuously peaceful for redskins and perform almost incredible feasm of andurance. I have known bucks of these tribes to run abead of a dog sied as guides for over 100 miles liut, for all they have such amiable dispositions, just let one of them get his anger or spirit of revenge aroused through jealousy or eavy, and the victim of his wrath meets a death more horrible than the tortures of the inquisition by the use of them systerious, baffling potsons. The modus operand it simple enough. He takes his case to one of the conjurers of the tribefor the same custom prevails among both the Crees and the Salteaux—who undertakes the job of removing the objectionable buck." The conjurer then starts off into the dense forests alone and gathers a collection of barks and berbs unknown to betanists. With these he returns to his wigwam and brews the destructive mixture that does the business.

"Now for the peculiar way in which it works," the doctor continued. "I want to say, by way of parenthesis, that these tribes never go on the warpath. They make no use of tomahawk or saiping knife. They never resort to the popular redskin method of removing an enemy by shooting him down from ambush. Polson is taken is access. Fortified, then, with his potent drag; the man who is out for verigence manages to have it administered to his doored for in his food. It may be menths before the effects are visible. Brussia, June 8.—Some horrifying details of the doing to death of two Krooboys while on the voyage from Monrovia to Belgium, are related by an Aniwerp newspaper.

Shortly after the vessel started it was discovered that the negro's were in the last stage of amailpox. In order to secape quarantime at Fr.e own the dying wretch-swere placed in the vessel's lifetout, and covered with a large sheat. During the night they were thrown overboard, and eventually cut to pieces by the vessel's acrew.

The negross fought hard for life. When they were thrown in o the water they managed to come to the surface, and cluing to the bulwerk netting of the ship, but were beaten with atteks on the hands, and compelled to let go. In falling they contrived to hang onto the window's in the ship's side, but were once nere beaten off.

In a last deaperate bid for life they seized a rope which hung from the vessel's side. The sallors cut the rope, and the miserable negroes were the appetched by the crew.

PETERBOTO JOB, JUNE 0 1890

In England the idea of making crema tion compulsory is being earnestly pressed with a view of cheapening the cost of the disposal of dead bodies and upon the higher grounds of sanitation A bill in Parliament looking to this end has passed the committee and the first reading, with an amendment that causes it to apply only to certain large cities and to defind conditions of society in them.

It is twenty-five years since the first organization was made in Great Britain to establish a crematorium. It took six years to get one built and it was four ears before an incineration took place, but from the date of its first use, that is to say, fifteen years ago, the number of incinerations has increased rapidly, so that several thousand bodies were cremated last year. Aside from the senti. mental phase of the matter one of the most potent-obstructions thrown in the ray of the society that pr plans was that cremation could be used to destroy the evidence of crime. This objection was met by the society assuming the obligation to investigate the conens of death in the case of every body for which application for incineration should be made. The prejudices were finally overcome, as may be seen by the efact that the proposed legislation includes a provision that in the whole kingdom cremation shall be obligatory in cases cremation shall be obligatory in cases where death is due to transmissible diseases, as small-pox, scarlet fever, diphytheria, cholera, typhoid fever and tubercalesis. The measure is meeting no considerable opposition, and the bill will probably pass. This is meeting the questions involved in a wise and broad spirit.

THE CAREAT SCOURGE.

The carefullar scourge is one of the worst plagues that ever visited the country Reports from various sources indicate that the damage done by the pest is very great. The worms are getting into the forests of the country, where they will encrease very fast. For every this season it is eafe to predict there will be a thousand meet year, and so on, unless some samedy is forthcoming. Spraying the twents is all right, so far as the towns are sectioned, but cassed the country, where forests of trees exact in the stock of leaves are enhanced, attack grass not grain. If this is tree, and there appears to be little doubt of it, we can see our faish. It will only be a short time until the catespillar has eason up everything—destroyed the forests of the country, the grain, the grass, and there is no opening accept at the, to put the country the country the forests of the town. I hope the Country will not accept the roller if these defects above pointed extent the country, the grain, the grass proper to the country the grain that the cou when these are all gone, will no doubt attack man himself. This, of course, may be a rather horrifying to the average reader, but it is none the less likely, unless those government professors who are experimenting with a view of discover ng remedy, well get a move on.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Many a man cannot be bought, but he will give himself away.

Did it ever occur to you that a watchnaker always works over time?

These remarks aneat the Dreyfus case of De Clam now being in the soup really mean that he's in hot water.

A CERE FOR THE CATERPILLAR PLAGUE

Editor Morning Times. Sir,-A good deal is being said about what to do with the caterpillar, and no solution of the problem.

After visiting the Fez grasshopper market and studying the hygienic conditions and habits of other African insect eaters, the French scientist and ex-min-ister of State Berthelot has come to the ister of State Berthelot has come to the conclusion. that neglect to recognise insects as a regular article of food involves a distinct loss from a gastronomic as well as an economical viewpoint. The number of insects that help us eat or forestall our consumption of the world's products is increasing all the time," says the author of "The Age of Applied Chemistry," and adds: "Let us eat them, else they will eat us." This admonition, coming on top of the opinion expounded by several Chicago doctors, that whisky and beer drinkers cannot claim credit for destroying dangerous bacilli, makes his and others' reports on insects-eating people doubly interesting.

The scientist point out that all plant-

The scientist point out that all planteating insects make clean food, and that even those feeding on animal matter are less repugnant than some of our acknowledged dainstes like crabs, lobsters or snails. While in the capital of Morocco Berthelot regularly partook of the daily dish in the Lative restaurants—fred grass hoppers—and found them wholesome sustaining and agreeable to the taste. In Fez, as in other parts of Africa, grass-hoppers are a staple of commerce. They are carted in from the fields as if they were grain, at certain seasons of the year, are carted in from the belds as it they were grain, at certain seasons of the year, and are sold by the sack or carload.

The water is skimmed off and the insects are treated to a coat of and the insects are treated to a coat of the same and salt to re fried finally in vine. pepper and salt, to be fried finally in vine-gar. There are several ways of preserv-ing grasshoppers. Some Africans pickle them in salt water. North Africans mash ing grasshoppers. Some Atricans pickle them in salt water. North Africans mash them in barrels and use them as butter as we do our cow's product. The subjects of Emperor Menelik, who make delicious grasshopper pies, are so fond of them that they regard a so-called grasshopper pest as a gracious act of Providence. Some more civilized Africans eat grasshoppers only when the crops have failed. The Hottentots pronounce a grasshopper year a good year. They are never so fat and contented as when the "pest" strikes their homes. Grasshopper eggs are a great delicacy in Hottentot land. They make a brown soup of them that is sweet and nutritions.

The Frenchmen eats even more maybings and cockchafers than the proverbial diet, for which he is held up to scorn. Maybug some is just now in season in all southern provinces of France. Gravenhurat, June 4.—The increasing fame of Gravenhurat as a health resort is leading to some advanced legislation by the Town Council along the lines of senitary regulations. At the meeting of the Provincial Board of Hasilth pesterday lir. Bryos told of his work during his recent visit to Muskoka, in assisting the Town Council to draft a by-law relating to boarding houses for consumptives. The increasing number of consumptives where resort to the town made come action, to limit the danger to the citizens imperative. Lass summer there were as many as 60 tubervulosis patients in the town, some too far advanced in the disease to be admitted to the anatoroum, others for whom there was no roum. The by-law in question as far wan up provided that all boarding houses shall be licensed to such as are repared to take in consumptive patients. These latter are to be regularly unspected. Burteriologist MacKenzie presented his report on the laboratory, work for the quarrer. The most interesting part dealt with the examination of amplies of four patients who had died from cerebro-quinit meningitis. In each case Mr. MacKenzie discovered the specific gesun of the disease. He pointed out the desirability of physicians reporting cases of the disease, so that if it appears in the province, measures may be taken as fant as possible to isolate patients.

The Conntinu Proposition as to the tinsks

Boundam Proposition a to the throad Boundary Mars tan 3 A representative here of the Associates Press has been informed that the Inited States Ambassador & L. Joseph H. Choste, at the conference which he lend with the Marquis of Silesbury at the Foreign Office yesterday submitted despitches from Wishington, who have considered the points raised by the Canadians in the boundary dispute. These are treated generally, but two points were specially treater, the first defining the line of arbitration to which it is proposed to submit the Alaskan question and second, the American view of the Lynn canal strip claim. A prominent Foreign Official said Canada proposition on the first point might be accepted by both parties and that the futy years which title clause may be made the base of negotiations in which case they would practically proceed on the Venezuela lines.

"As the United States attorneys finished Clark arose, picked up one of his law books, and, without opening the volume, threw it saids. The next book shared the same fate. The third was opened only to be cast aside. Clark then squared himself to the jury.

"'Nesida tillicurus!' he commenced, and then in a flow of Chinook jargon went on to plead his client's cause. These was not a man on the jury but what understood every sentiment Clark conveyed, whereas the high flown language of the imported attorneys had been utterly lost to them.

"In vivid Chinook Clark painted a word picture of the trials and tribulations of the settler in the wilds of a Washington forest; of the desperate effort necessary to maintain wife and bahies. And because his client had hauled a wagon load of cordwood to the village store to trade for food he had been arrested and his family deprived of his support.

"There was possibly not one in the jury box but who had at some time been in the position Clark pictured. Every sympathy in them was arouned. Tears trickled down their rugged cheeks as Clark's Chinook flowed on.

The Cigar Smoker

The Cigar Smeker.

When you see a man grip a cigar between his teeth and hold it fast, careless of whether it burns or not, you can see him down as an aggressive, calculating and exacting individual.

If a man smokes a cigar deliberately, just enough to keep it lighted, and delights in taking it from his mouth and wasching the blue smoke from it curi upward, he is likely to be an easy going man, good natured and honest.

There is another fellow who smokes intermittently, takes a puff and then rests end fumbles his cigar about. He is apt to have little decision of character and to be easily affected by circumstahoss. A man may be nervous and fumble his cigar a good bit, and in this event he is a would be swell, vain and frivolous.

He invariably titts his cigar upward, while a sensible, level headed fellow will hold it straight out from the mouth. When you see a man chewing upon an unlighted cigar and twisting it about, he is nearvous, but of great tenactity.

A man who cannot keep his cigar alight has a whole gouled disposition. He has a lively nature, is a hall fellow well met, gill of tongue and usually a good story teller.

But whather dream or vision it made a profound impression on the youth, so much so that his father requested Dr. Beard—Oliver's subcommatter—to flog him serversly for "partisting in the wickedness of such an assertion." The flogging only deepened the impression. He told his uncle Stuart of the prophery and was warned that it "was traitorous to relate it." But when he had seated himself upon the throne of England he frequently spoke of the occurrence and was fully persuaded in his own mind of the prophetic and supernatural character.—Amelia Barr in Harper's Magasine Fee April.

A Lawyer's Confession to a Judge After an Adverse Decision.

A Lawyer's Confession to a Judge After an Adverse Decision.

Judge J. M. Hurt tells a story on a souple of members of the Dallas legal profession which goes in this wise:

They were on a hunting and fishing expedition to Wynne's lake. On the day of their arrival one of the heroes of the story, who was at that time a district judge, found a cance that had been buried in the mud. He excavated it and found it to be in pretty good shape. He washed off all the hud and calked a few holes in the bottom, and it was a good boat. It was a long, narrow affair and was evidently never intended to be built for two.

However, when the judge started out to fish in his cance, his lawyer-friend insisted on going with him. The judge was sitting in the end toward the lake, where the water was about six inches deep and the mud alsout four feet.

"Now, keep out of this boat," exclaimed the judge. "You will turn it over, sure, if you try to get in it."

"That's all right," said the lawyer. "I am an old boatman and have fished in a dugout many a time, and you know a man has to six mighty level in a dugout." With that he stepped into the cance, and it capsized instantly. The lawyer saved himself by a quick spring for the bank, but the judge, who was about 15 feet off shore, was thrown in the shallow water and mud. He crawled out like an old hog coming out of its wallow, and when he reached the bank he delivered his ophion of the lawyer in anything but judicial language and wound up in italics. when he reached the bank he delivered his opinion of the lawyer in anything but judicial language and wound up in itsilos, punctuated with dashes and exclamation points, saying that he hoped the lawyer was satisfied. The lawyer applogued pro-fusely and assured the judge that there was nothing intentional about it; that is fusely and assured the judge that there was nothing intentional about it; that it was purely an accident, and to show that he was sincere he divided what clothing he had with the judge and helped wash his wet and muddy suit. Peace was thereby patched up, and all went well.

At the next term of court the lawyer had a case in which he was very much interested to come up in the judge's court. He worked on it very hard and thought he had it perfected. All during the trial he sat up nights studying every point. He made a long and very exhaustive argument and thought to himself that he had a sure thing, but the judge decided in favor of the other fellow. It was a great disappointment to the lawyer, and after court had adjourned he called the judge to one side and said:

"I told you out as Wynne's lake that I turned that hoat accidentally, but I want to tell you here and now that it was intentional, premediated and done with axpress malice aforethought."— Dalias News.

The wife of a tenor singer says that of all the tributes paid to the beauty and pathos of her husband's voice the one which touched her most had in it an element of humor despite its gravity.

She sat, at a concert, directly in front of two old ladies, whose comments on the soprano who graced the ecossion were far from flattering.

"She can stop high." sati one of the old.

Later, when the tenor mang, his wife listened half anxiously to hear what the old ladies would may of him.

"Yes, and what a voice for a funeral?" exclaimed Sarah. "If we could have se-

GREAT BRITAIN'S NEW TERRITORY.

OFFICIAL REPORT ON THE KOM-LOON EXTENSION.

Proposal for Good Government.

London, June 3.—The full text of the report out the Hon J. Stewart Lockhart on the Konwion Extension, which has just reached this country, tells a great deal about oour latest territorial acquisition. The total area of the territory leased is 378 square, miles, and the population is about 100,000 for 423 villagers. It as anticipated that under British occupation the population will rapidly increase. The new territory is mountainous, with rich, extensive, cultivated walleys, and posses a coast limit mountainous, with rich, extensive, cultivated walleys, and posses a coast limit generally fertile, and yields annually two croops of rice. There is also a large area of land devoted to the growing of sugar cane, initigo, herm, beans and vegatables of all kinds. The land under estitivation is estimated to be about 72,000 acress, so that there is a balance of 168,649 acres available as Crown land."

"Is that so? I must be mistaken; but how do you know when it was eleaned last?"

The man explained that it was no trick of memory, but simply the result of a system. "Whenever a watch is brought to us." Whenever a watch is brought to us. "Whenever a watch is brought to us." Whenever a watch is brought to us." Whenever a watch is brought to us." Whenever a watch is observed in our workhook. In the book we record the style and make of the watch, the owner, what repairs are to be made and the amount charged for the work, and when the workman finithese the job hyuts the same number in microscopic sigures on the edge of the inner cass. A let the owner, what repairs are to be made when when when what has been done to the watch. So, you see, when a watch comes here we look for a mark of that kind, and when we find it we reture to the book, and there you are."

The woman left the watch with the man of system, and when she had gone he said:

"That happuns many times every day."

The woman left the watch with the man of system, and when a she had gone he said:

public of Lindsay will show their appreciation of so great an undertaking

This, of course, will materially affect the Barleigh Lindsay sobeme, as it is hardly likely that power will be taken from both places.

The following was picked up in the neighborhood of the Peterborough Central Statool: Water is found everywhere, expecially when it rains, as it did the other day, when our cellar was half fall. Jaue had to wear her father's rabber boots to get to the onione for dinner. Onloss make your eyes water, so does horseratish, when you eat too much. There is a good many kinds of water in the world; rain water, Knox's coda water, holy water and brine. Water is used for a good many thirgs. Sallors used to go to see op, and Mr. Snowden uses it in the creek. Just yellow the couldn't fi at, and they would have to say ashore. Water is a good thing to fire at boys with a quirt, and to catch fishes in. My father caught a big one the other day, and when he poiled it out it was an eal Nobody c. u d be saved from drowning if there wasn's any water to poil them out of. Water is first tate to pat fires out with. I love to go to fires and see the men work at the engines. This is all I can thick of about water—except the fi.od.

The deceased member at one time loomed largely in the public eye, so largely indeed that he was looked upon by many as one who would take a leading position in the Councils of the British Empire. His early training however, acquired while following th eministerial profession, was not conductive to his success as a politician. He was a man of strong viewas and from ministerial habit, asserted those views in perhaps too dogmatic a tone to suit the arene into which be subsequently drifted.

Born in the parish of St. Andrew's Fifeshire, June 24, th 1831, he was edscated at Gedde's Institution, Culross, the High School at Edinburgh, and the Universities of St. Andrew's and Edinburgh. After a successful career through the universities, he entered the church as Parish Minister of Newton upon Ayr, 1857. In 1860 he became Minister of Trinity College Church, Edinburgh, and successively Examiner in Philosophy in the University St. Andrew's and Minister of Old Grey Friara, Edinburgh; he was given the degree of D.D. by the University of Glasgow, in 1869; and he became Proffemor of Church History in the University of Edinburgh, in 1872. Four years after this he left the olerical profession, becoming editor of the Scotsman. Resigning this position in 1880, he entered the legal profess ion, becoming a barrieter in 1883.

He entered with enthusiasm into the political arena, and was an ardent Home ruler at the time of the grea Home rule wave, guided by Mr. Gladstone. After the dissolution of 1886, he oppload Mr. Goschen for East Edinburgh, and was elected as a Gladstone Liberal by a large and popular majority. His entrance into the House of Commons was regarded as the commencement of a new flight in his hitherto brilliant career, and it was believed it would speedily be followed by his taking a high position in the Government. But the floor of the House of Commons has been remarkable as a place where men soon find their level, and of recent years very little, comparatively, has been heard of the man from whom so much at one time was expected. Home rule wave, guided by Mr. Glad-

Sunday racing is a matter of local opinion with the different district racing boards. Quebec is the only province in Canada where Sunday race mests are held. The races have been held there for years, and each year the Dominion racing board has been the Dominion racing board has been they busy suspending riders who competed. At this year's annual meeting the Quebec contingent of delegates demanded that the clause in the constitution which prohibited bounday bicycle racing be dropped. It was dropped, and the matter was left emirely in the hands of the local racing boards. If the local clubs demanded a anaction each tourd had the power to grant it if they saw fit. The association could not kill out funday racing in Quebec, so they took it under control and will endeavor to keep it within bounds. The decision of the Y, M. C. "That test demonstrates," mid he, "the danger that constantly confronts the public and proves that the live stock commissioners shall be livested with power to examine every herd in the State, whether private or not."

THE ROAD ROLLER.

Editor Morning Times Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—At the Council meeting on Monday night the question of what was to be done with the road roller, now that we have it, came up. Alderman present, stated that there was not a man in town who knew how to use the machine, or in fact, knew, anything at all about how to make roads. Mr. Pest admitted that our Town Engineer was not a road maker—knew nothing about the work. He was a railway man through and through. He advocated employing a road engineer—nume one who understood how to make macadam roads.

Now, Mr. Editor, I would like to know where we are at f riversly, it is not the intention of the Council to employ another high paid official? If unplaying the series of the work, let them go and get one that is. I hope, sir, you will take this matter up, and sentilate it through the columns of your wildly read journal, it is not a personal matter at all; the public interests require the services of an engineer who throughly understands roadmaking. Let the Council do its duty, in this regard.

THE CENTRAL PARK.

Editor Morning Times.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see by the Council proceedings that an effort is to be made to secure the Central Park as a site for, a new Collegiste Institute building.

Now, sir, let me sek the worthy Editor of the Times, why this Protestant burial ground should be given up to the use of the public, when the other end, which belongs to the Roman Catholice, is kept separate, and used only by themselves? Surely, Mr. Editor, this is not fair. I have no objection to the Oxidegiate Institute bring pland in Central Park, provided it is done by the purchase of the property for the owners—the Protestant ratepayers of the town. This is a matter sir, that should be looked into and this cussed. Let it be opened up.

That the company's investments are increasing rapidly will appear from the following statement covering ten years, from 1887 to 1897:—

Policy loans...... 67,346 907,605

Debentures purchased 139,534 923,449

Our assets, 1887, were $1,084,852.26, and in 1898, $4,137,120,48, and our interest income, which in 1837 was $51,262.07, reached in 1898 $183,766.28. If the same ratio of increase in our assets is maintained during the next ten years, they will then amount to over $10,000,000. The Insurance Department has a bill now before Parliament to give life companies largely increased investing powers, which will eaable this company to invest its funds in several unimpeachable remunerative securities from which we have been excluded in the past.

In conclusion, I hope in the rush there appears to be at the present time in life insurance circles, that this company "will adhere steadily to those traditions of insurance, which experience has shown to be essential to the true prosperity of a company, viz:

company, viz.:

"(1) Moderate expenditure: (2) highclass investment producing a higher rate of interest than that assumed in the valuations, and (3) careful selection of lives."

The report was carried unanimously.

VOTE OF THANKS.

In response to a hearty vote of thanks to the Directors tendered by the meeting on behalf off the policy-holders for their great care of and vigilant attention to the company's affairs during the past year, (the Hon. TECHNICAL EDUCATION

An Interesting Topic at the Board of Trude Meeting-Expressed Sympathy with the Receiting—Expressed Sympathy with the G.T.R. strikers.

A meeting of the Board of Trade was held last evening. The value of technical education was one of the topics discussed. Measts McKay and other members expressed themselves in favor of technical education as regards men who have tastes in technical lines, but elementary aducation should not embrace much instruction. Few children will benefit from such education and sengurated. When people reach an age at which a they are able to judge as to what they desire their life work to be then if they wish a technical education they should be able to obtain it, for unless they wish a technical education they should be able to obtain it, for unless they wish a technical education they should be able to obtain it, for unless they do our national resources will be of no benefit to us but will benefit those of other nationalities who, knowing more than we do will derive the advantages which should be ours.

Sympathy was expressed by the Board towards the G. T. R. strikers and the desire was expressed that the Grand Trunk erant their demands, which were reasonable and itself.

Altrevolution was nessed to the effect that the Grand the desire was expressed that the Grand Trunk erant their demands, which were reasonable and itself the sand their stricts of the stricts

Special Committee's Report.

A Special Committee's Report.

A Special Committee appointed at the last meeting of the Board to consider the advisibility of eatablishing a system of savings Buslos in connection with the Public Schools, beg leave to report, that the Committee have carefully investigated the matter including the evidence furnished by reports of the system to the property of the patern in other places where it has been adopted, and in many is which it has been enforced for a number of years.

This nuccess is represented by the formation of habits of theilt and saving at the impressionable period of child-life and influences in a most beneficial way the divisorable of the province. Instances are frequent in which the savings of the child or children have come to the resous of the family when the bread winner has been prostrated by illness or out of work. Under the system, properly administered there is no rivalry between children of the schools, because one has no means of knowing; the amount to the credit of another unless voluntarily disclosed, the importunities by children of parents for money for deponit is within the control of the parents themselves. The intention of the system is to provide a safe depository for the earnings of whildren and for the trifling aum often gives by parents to spend on childish luxuries; the encroachment on school time is extremely limited, being only ten or fifteen minutes each week, and the cost of operating the apystam is merely nominal, stationry being the chief item.

Your Committee would therefore recommend that the system of Saving Banks be introduced into the Public Schools on September 1st next, and that this committee the september also means of the trusteen speaking against the advisibility of the establishment of such harms. It was resolved to make the recessary arrangrements for giving their resommendation effect.

The report was considerably discussed, some of the trusteen speaking against the solution was adopted yesterday by the whereas, it has come to our knowledge that statements derogatory and insulting to the whole Methodist church were made by the Hon. J. Israel Tarta, a prominent member of the Dominion Cabinet, on the floor of the House of Commons, in certain false an is malicious charges which he preferred against a small and feebic company of members of that church living on the Island of Anticosti, and which charges appear on the pages of Hansard as uttend by him, we, all a conference, representing more than 120,001 members and adherents of the church, desire in the strongest and most emphalic terms to resist those unjust charges against our brethren, and the alureast on our whole denomination throughout the Dominion, and demand a full retraction of them in the place where they were made, and an ample apology for the grevious insult offered to us. And we call upon our brethren of the Methodist church in Parliament to insist on compliance withour demands on the floor of the whereas, it has come to our knowledge brethran of the Methodist church in Parliament to insist on compliance withour demands on the floor of the House of Commons, and would further suggest that the attention of the General Superintendent be called to this matter, and he be requested to take it up and, press the case till full satisfaction be given. THE BANK OF MONTREAL.

Quintr and Montreal Methodist Cather

Belleville, Jane 7.-The following re-

We publish in this issue a report of the eighty-first annual meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Montreal, which occurred at the head office of the bank in Montreal on the 5th inst. The profits for the year ending April 30th, 1899, were $1,350,582 65, to which is added the balance of prefit and loss account, $386,999 98, making a total of $2,152,210 o7. From this two half-yearly dividends of five per cent each, amounting to $1,200,000, was

Mr. Clouston the general manager, in his address, stated that the increase during the year in deposits had been large amounting to $5,800,000, or over one sixth of the entire increase in the deposits in all the banks of the country. He stated that the Bank had taken advantage of the high prices ruling for bonds in the United States and had real z ed about half the holdings of the insti tution, the proceeds being employed in short loans in London, New Yo k and foreign markets. As a consequence the Bank is able to meet large demands from foreign sources without restricting cr curtailing their advances in this country He called attention to the great competi tion in Banking, and stated that this added to the fact that the reserve has been carried at low rates, accounts for the profits of the Bank not exhibiting a greater increase for the year notwithstanding the amployment of so much more capital.

Mr. Clouston further stated that the only unfavorable feature visible is the excessive increase in call loans of $9,600. 000, which he believed to be due largely peculative to operations. This, however, will be thinks, correct itself, and the general prosperity will not be affected, the losses simply concerning individual speculators. He called attention to the increased prosperity of almost all lands as evidenced by the fact that on account of the demands of commerce manufactories in the United States and Europe, are being taxed to their utmost capacity. In the United States, a land which being so near has so large an influence upon us, is meeting with far greater prosperity that it has enjoyed for years. He sho referred to the discussions relative to the formation of a Canas an mint, which many people believe will infinitelier with the paper castency. This, however, is a mistake, as all that the coining of gold would affect are the large notes issued by the Convernment and at present held by the banks a sum a xounting to $14,000,000, and which if the government had to provide mads to retire would cost them about $400,000 per annum. The United States, with a gold currency of their own, show that banks have nothing to fear from

The Hon, George A. Drummond, Vict-President, testified, in his address, to the prosperity of the bank, and thought that he management deserved great credit for the success of the year just closed. His remarks relative to the favorable outleok in the various branches of industry are deserving of a careful reading.

The success of the Bank of Montreal is gratifying, and it shows that the people, have the utmost confidence in this great

And the fact is gratifying indeed that the shareholders' report shows the affairs of the heak to be in so emiagetly setisfactory acondition.

A Tip ar patch Error.

Bir James McClagait, and Mr. Consion, the chairman and secretary of the Ixuro pis-nic committee, called our attention to an error in the josters which had been issued from the Times Job ruoms. The error referred to was the amission of Mr. John Lang's name from the list of speakers on that occasion in justice to the committee. The fault was entirely with the printer. Mr. Lang, who is always popular with the people of Douro, with we know, accept this explanation.

A FINANCIAL CRISIS.

tees Slet Gas Heter.

And the slot meter, with its joshing clothes on, can turn some awfully emberrasing tricks. Now there is a young man living in a nice little flat not far from Park avenue, and he had one of the slot meters put in because he holds that it is better to pay for everything as you go and then you know where you stand. For a month past the young man has been running close to the wind financially and economy of the strictest sort has been his watchword. Also the young man's wife, being a woman of understanding, has cut expenses down to the minimum. Last Friday the young man expected to make raise down town during the day, but the man he expected to meet disappointed him, so he went home without a cent in the clothes, and, to make masters worm, there was no money in the house.

him, so he want home without a cent in his clothes, and, to make matters were, there was no money in the house.

Nothing of the financial crisis in this household appeared on the surface, however. The flat is handsomely furnished, and when some frierds to the number of half a dosen called friday evening everything looked prospected. The host and hostess were both milling as young folks will smile through adversity, and matters were drifting along right merriy until the gas went out.

At that instant the young man realized with horror that there wasn't a penny in the house and that the sum of $5 cents wherewith to propitiate the god of the gashouse was an impositive necessity. "My dear," he said remulously—"er—have you a quarter in change?" "Good gractous, Charlier: quaped the lady somewhat hysterically, but still with grash presence of mired. "There isn't a thing in the beause but a $10 bill."

"I've got some change," said one of the visitors, forking out a handful of sliver.
"All right," said the young man. "I'll skin out and get the $10 broken after serbile." The burrowd quarter west into the slot, the gas burned once more, and, in the hilarity that ensued, further reference to these quarter was studiously tahound.—Minnaspolis Journal. "The most difficult read to construct and, I believe, the most expensive w. a read in the United States is that commeting the mining towns of Eliverton and Cursy, in the San Juan mining districts of my state," said Mr. J. La McNeil, a prominent Denver railway and mining man, et the Conhean lase night. "One piece of this read is out into the side of a mountain of abid rook for a distance of aware miles, and to construct it four years of hard work were consumed. To begin with, there was absolutely no foothold from which a start could be made, but the only practical way of getting a read was by cutting through mountains. The point selected for the start was 500 or 600 feet below the top of the stone cliff, and men were let down in backets suspended by ropes, and from such shaket, a lades were set into the rook and filled them with charges of powder. After more than a mouth of bleating a ledge was set out into the real.

PIVE PER CENT. PER DAY IN. TEREST IN MONTREAL.

Ottawa, June 6 .- At a meeting of he Senate Committee on Banking and Commerce to-day the Canadian Life Assurance bill was passed without any amendments.

An act incorporating the Imperial Loan and investment Co., was also adopted, as was also an act respecting the Home Life Amociation on Senator Dandurand's bill respecting usary. Mr. Dandurand gave some instances where as high as 5 per cent. per day was changed and there were numerous instances of 60 per cent. per annum. In some cases men had their wages garnisheed for two years for small loans of $10, and $10 was still owing at the end of two years.

Sir Mackenzie Bowel gave similar netances of how the usurer operatad. There was a strong feeling at the committee in favor of the bill, the only difference of upinion being that the bill did not go far senough. It was referred to a. sub-committee to make it more stringent. .

Lawyer Who Made His Plea In a Every old timer in Tacoma, or, in fact, in the state of Washington, either remembers or had a personal acquaintance with Attorney Frient Clark. Clark has been dead some years, but during a conversation between attorneys his name came up, followed by the narrative of this incident in his career:

"Many years ago," said the lawyer talling the story, "Clark had as a client a man arrested on the charge of cutting timber on government land. The United States was represented by two federal astorneys, brought from a distance, either Portland or San Francisco, if I remember aright. When these lawyers came into court, there followed behind them a porter who unloaded upon the table fronting the judge's bench arinful after armful of books. Clark strode in with three volumes of law under his arm. The jury was composed entirely of loggers and ranchers. Opening the case, the imported lawyers delved deep into the tomes of law before them and cited decision after decision hearing on the case on trial. Then, using language one-half of the words of which were too axtensive for the jury's understanding, they launched into their argument.

"As the United States attorneys finished Clark arcse, ploked up one of his law books, and, without opening the volume.

"As the United States attorneys finished Clark arose, ploked up one of his law books, and, without opening the volume, threw it aside. The next book shared the same fate. The third was opened only to be cast aside. Clark then squared himself to the jury.

"Nesika tilliourus! he commenced, and then in a flow of Chinook jargon went on to plead his client's cause. There was not a man on the jury but what understood every sentiment Clark conveyed, whereas the high flown language of the imported attorneys had been utterly lost to them.

"In vivid Chinook Clark painted a word picture of the trials and tribulations of the settler tillihe wilds of a Washington forest; of the desperate effort necessary to maintain wife and bables. And because his client had hauled a wagon load of cordwood to the village store to trade for food he had been arrosted and his family deprived of his support.

"There was possibly not one in the jury box but who had at some time been in the position Clark pictured. Every sympathy in them was aroused. Tears trickled down their rugged cheeks as Clark's Chinook flowed on.

"The lawyers from afar were awake to the disadvantage they were bring placed under. An objection was entered to Clark's use of Chinook or any other language which the opposing counsel could not understand.

When you see a man grip a cigar between his teeth and hold it fast, careless of whether it burns or not, you can set him down as an aggressive, calculating and exacting individual.

If a man smokes a cigar deliberately, just enough to keep it lighted, and delights in taking it from his mouth and watching the blue smoke from it curl upward, he is likely to be an easy going man, good natured and honest.

There is another fellow who smokes intermittently, takes a puff and then rests and fumbles his cigar about. He is age to have little decision of character and to be easily affected by circumstances. A man may be nervous and fumble his cigar agood bit, and in this event he is a would be swell, vain and irivolous.

He invariably tilts his cigar upward, while a sensible, level headed fellow will hold it straight out from the meuth. When you see a man chewing upon an unlighted cigar and twisting it about, he is nervous, but of great tenacity.

A man who cannot keep his cigar alight has a whole souled disposition. He has a lively nature, is a half fellow well met, gilb of tongue and usually a good story teller.

E. S. CLOUSTON, General Manager,

Mr. Clouston and:—
Following my usual custom I will now proceed to furnish explanations of the important changes in our general statement, as compared with that of the same date last year. I may say that the Directors gave their careful consideration to the request made by one of our shareholders at our last Annual Meeting, that the Statement should be issued in parallel columns; but they came to the conclusion that it would serve no useful purpose unless accompanied by the explanations which I now propose to give. They pose threes accompanied by the explan-ations which I now propose to give. They have accordingly instructed me to pre-pare it in the form with which you have been so long fami inr, and which is in ac-cordance with the requirements of the Banking Act and our own bye-laws.

been so long fami iar, and which is in accordance with the requirements of the Banking Act and our own bye-laws.

The only impostant change in our Lia bilities is the large increase in deposits, amounting to about $5,500,000, which arises from no special deposits, but appears to be a general increase in all the banks for the same period amounts to $32,000,000, so we appear to have received our fair share of them. The disposition of this addition to our adventitious capital is shown in the increase to our regular business advances in Canada of $3,500,000, and in the increase in assets readily available held in other countries of $2,300,000. The Loans and Discounts of all the Banks have increased during the year $34,000,000, but of this amount $9,000,000. The Loans and Discounts of all the Banks have increased during the year $34,000,000, but of this amount $9,000,000. The Loans and Discounts of all the Banks have increased during the open one of the high prices of loan not made by this Bank. We have, as you will notice, during the last year takes advantage of the high prices ruling for Bonds in the United States and realized about halt our holdings, the preceded being at present employed in short loans in London, New York and foreign marhets. It is hardly occessary to point out that the S atement is a strong one, as we hold assets readily available of over $6 per cent, aganst our Liabilities to the public, and we can draw from foreign sources to meet any large demand with-out in any way restricting or curtailing our sdvances in Casada. This reserve carried at lew rates, tegether with the excessive roughtificion in Banking, will explain why our profess de not show a greater increase for the year, notwithstending the employment of so much more capital. I think, however, that even in that respect the shareholders must be satusfied with the results, which have been arrived at by very conservative estimate.

When benedoss is good, and the country proposes of the country proposes.

and I believe that with respect to the present condition of affairs in Canada there can scarcely be two opinions. There is a feeling of buoyancy and elation regarding it that appears to be thoroughly justified by actual facts. There is bardly a branch of trade that is not prospering. The farmers are receiving good prices for their products, the Government show increased revenues, the railways increased traffics, stocks of all sorts have appreciated in value, while sorts have appreciated in value, while the future wealth which our mining and forest industries are expected to realize for this country is beyond computati n. for this country is beyond computati n. The only vary unfortunate feature in sight is the excessive increase in call loans of $9,600,000, most of which I am afraid is occasioned largely by speculative operations, some of them of dubious value. This condition will probably correct itself, and may occasion innividual loness to apsculaters, but should not affect the general properity.

We are not singular in our present

we are not singular in our present fortwaste position, as there appears to be a universal wave of presperity sweeping over most of the countries of the world, and in England, the United States, and on the continent manufactories are taxed to the utmost capacity to meet the demands of commerce.

The condition of the United States, from its geographical position, must always have a cartain infilmose upon our own, and I am pleased to note that they are enjuying a state of property to which they have here excaptly to which they have here excaptly to the they have been excaptional, and not likely to have been exceptional, and not likely to be repeated, has still further increased. I doubt if the Hank Clearings and the Clearing floors thank deposits have ever before attained such figures. The sales of stocks and business on the New York Stock Exchangs have been without precedent, and the iron production, which is considered by many as the barometer of track, for on an unheard of sonis. To this favorable/condition may be added the freedom from financial disturbances, though I refered to my that their financial and currency system still leaves much to be desired.

in Canada. This reserve trates, tagether with the extition in Bandang, will enter preserve de not show a sin for the year, notwith-canadeyment of so much I thank, however, that respect the shareholders and with the results, which is supposition that it would interfer with their circulation. The Banhow vary lattle need be said,

The Chairman—Mr. Crawford knows very well that the Board goes out of existence to day, and if would be quite impossible to pledge their successors in regard to any particular policy. In addition to that, I may say the subject has not been considered, and you can obtain nothing but an individual opirion, which will be of no value. If I were to give my own per onal opin on, I would say, looking back over the number of years which you have attended the Bink meet ags and given the benefit of your opinion to and given the benefit of your opinion to the Board, I would say it is based on a onservative policy. MILK FROM A DISEASED COW.

A cow, owned by a farmer on the Keene road, has its head almost covered with repulsive looking acres. The milk of this cow is used from day to day by the owner's family, who seem to see no danger of contracting discase from using milk furnished by such an animal. There can be no doubt that tuberculouis and other discases are contracted from diseased milk and meat, and the greatest, care in the inspection of live stock and meats is required for the public safety. Some months ago the veterinary surgeons of Ottawa declared that there was scarcely a day that discused beef pork and poultry could not be found exhibited for sale on the markets of the Capital. Veterinarians elsewhere made similar statements regarding their own cities, and proved conclusively that proper care in the matter of meat inspection was not taken. It is true that the matter is an extremely difficult one to handle, and requires great care and vigilence on the part of the authorities, but in the interests of the public health the utmost precautions should be taken in order that the people will be protected against diseased meat. A great deal of diseased heef, park, etc., requires an avport to detect the disease, but, as in the case of the cow referred an alternative to the found without difficulty.

The Government not only on this, but on many other occasions, had fallen into the habit, of not relying on argument or the attentit of their cause, but on members, in Mr. Davin rose at a quarter to twalve and enlarged on they reasonableness of the stanfil of the Opposition, and the serious character of the Minister's obstinacy.

Mr. Rills was the next speaker, and after severely criticising the Minister's obstinacy.

Mr. Mills was the next speaker, and after severely criticising the Minister, discussed the shape of his cranium, and read from a work on phrasology, from which he gathered the bump tindicated inordinate ambition, desired of power, affluence anti-social position and other qualities that would account for his bringing on this deadlock.

Mr. Gillies vindicated the Opposition in criticising the measure before the House.

The arrangements made by the whips on both sides contemplate the possibility of the deadlock continuing till Saturday midnight.

Mr. Blair at half-past one stated he fully believed he had supplied all the information asked for, but he now proposed to give the details. Hetthen read over the figures the Opposition had been conteminal for, and the committee by agreement arous to sit again at three.

THE TARTE INSULT AND THE TEMPERANCE QUESTION

lake Two Lively Topics at the Bay of Quinte and Montreal Methodist Cather

Belleville, June 7.—The following resolution was adopted pasterday by the Bay of Quinte Conference— "That whereas, it has come to our knowledge that statements derogatory and insulting to the whole Methodist church were made by the Hon. J. Iarael Tarte, a prominent member of 'the Remainion Cabinet, our the floor of the House of Commons, in certain false and malicious charges which he preferred against a small and feeble company of members of that church living on the Island of Anticonti, and which charges appear on the pages of Eksnard as uttered by him, we, as a conference, frepresenting more than 120,000 members and atherents of the church, desire in the strongest and most emphable terms to resist those unjust charges against our brethren, and the saur cast on our whole denomination throughout the Dominion, and demand a full retraction of them in the place where they were made, and an ample apology for the grevious insult offered to use. And we call upon our brethren of the Methodist church in Parliament to insist on compliance withour demands our the floor of the House of Commons, and would further auggest that the attention of the General Superintendent be called to this matter, and he be requested to take it up and presented course if the General Superintendent be case till full satisfaction he given. Copies of this resolution to be sent to the Premier and to the Methodist church without the bounds of this conference. colution was adopted yesterday by the Brockville, June 7.—There was an exciting discussion at the conference here yesterday over the report of the Chammittee on Temperature, which censured the Brockville Methodists for not making prohibition an issue in the recent Domirion bye-election. GENTLEMAN JACK

A Short Story of a Mining Comp In Nevada.

They called him "Gentleman Jack."

He came to the mining camp at Virginia City one summer's day and asked the superintendent for work. The miner tooked at his questioner's white hands, frail figure and neat fitting clothes and smiled. But the man insisted, and finally the superintendent consented to allow tooked at his questioner's white hands, frail figure and neat fitting clothes and smiled. But the man insisted, and finally the superintendent consented to allow him to remain.

That night, when the miners returned to camp, the newcomer was introduced to them as Jack, the only name he gave. His companions smiled as the superintendent had smiled, and one, turning to his fellows, said, "Gentleman Jack."

Jack took his place in the mines and performed his share of the labor. His comrades gradually came to respect the man who, evidently unaccustomed to the life they led, yet adapted himself to the conditions as they knew them. Time and time again they sought to assist him, but he would not permit it. Neither did he talk of himself. Once they happened to hear him refer to Chicagor, and it was understood it was his former home.

Six months passed. The miners were one day using dynamite to remove the rock. After the explodon Jack was found lying on the ground, crushed by the weight of a huge bovider. Tenderly they here him to the hillside. They thought him dead. The blood cosed down his pallid face. His eyes were closed. As they stood about him the cyclids raised, and a smile spread over his features, followed quickly by a terrible look of pain life inp quivered, and, bending low, his comrades heard a murmur of words.

"Mother, I have not forgotten," was what he said, and then, in long drawn, suffering sounds followed the words. "One Father—which are in heaven—hallowed be thy name—thy will—be—done—on—earth—as"—And then, though the lips continued to move, no sound was audible. Those who watched knew, however, that the prayer was finished.

The eyes again closed, the stained, bruised lips smiled—Gentlemen Jack was dead. Who he was his conrades did not know But sounewhere a waiting nucher may understand as she reads.—Chicago Journal

TRICKS BY WHICH HOUDIN ASTOUND

One Instance When the Great Magi cian Extricated Himself From as Awkward Predicament by th

To witness Houdin's first performance in Algiers the neighboring tribes were invited. The theater was speedily filled with them and the French officials, who attended in all their pomp and glory. Interpreture were scattered through the house in order to repeat Houdin's remarks to the natives in their own language. With true oriental dignity and gravity, the Araba witnessed the first few tricks in stolid silence, but the taking of a huge cannon ball from a borrowed hat aroused great excitament.

Then came the great tricks of the evening, especially prepared to astonish the Araba.

"By a wonderful power which I posess," said Houdin, "I can deprive any man of his strength. I invite any one to prove my words."

On this being interpreted to the Araba, a tall, strong man stepped forward on the stage. Houdin held in his hand a little iron box, and, balancing it carsiessiy on his little finger, he asked the Arab:
"Are you strong?"
"Yes," replied the man carsiessiy.
"Are you sure of always remaining so?"
"Always."
"Lift that box."
The Arab did so and asked contemptucually, "Is that all?"
"Wait," said Houdin, making a solemn gesture. "Now you are weaker than a woman. Try to lift that box again."
The Arab select the handle and tugged again. He could not raise the box an inch from the floor. After many attempts he paused for a moment to brace himself for a final effort. He select the handle again, but shrieked aloud with pain, dropped on his knees, then, rising, threw his cloak round his face to conceal his shame and rushed from the theater, leaving his comparious stricken with fear. The trick was as simple as the result was startling. The box was placed on a powerful electro magnet, and the current being complete, no man on earth could have lifted it. An electric shock, sent at a signal by Houdin from behind the stage, was what caused the Arab to shrisk and hurriedly retreat. Before the excitement caused by this trick had subsided Houdin announced that he had a talisman which rendered him invulnerable, and he defied the best shot in Agiests to kill him. A marabout immediately sprang on the stage, exclaiming, "I want to kill you."

Wery well," said Houdin. "To make sure, put in a double charge of powder. Here's a wad. Take a bullet from the tray and mark it so you will know it again. Ram it into the pissol well."

"Very well," said Houdin, "you say the pistol is a good one, and you've loaded it well; se kill me."

"Yes," replied the marabout, "I will de that."

Houdin took a pear, stuck it on a knife and walked a

Houdin took a pear, stuck it on a knife and walked a few paose in front of the Arab, and told him to aim at his heart. He fired, end the marked bullet was seen on the pear. After the powder and wad were rammed home, and while the Arab was marking the bullet. Houdin slipped a little tube into the pistol. This tube was closed at the lower end, and into this the Arab dropped the bullet. As he thrust the wad down with the samrod, the tube fitted snugly on to it, and was withdrawn with it, being polished to resemble it. Houdin thus got possession of the marked ball, and all was then plain sailing.

On one occasion during his visit to Algiers Houdin was places" in a very awkard postion, from which he only artifected himself by his quick wittedness. He was the guest of an Arab chief, Abou Allem, and entertained his host and friends by a few tricks. One of the company was a markedout, who asserted that the spectators in Algiers had been mereby duped by a vision. Houdin, however, produced the marabout is and, on feeling his each, the marabout found there a 8 framo piece. Convinced by this and other feets that Houdin was really a sorouwer, he challenged him to repeat his performance in the theater and produced twe pistols. "You need not leaf," said the Arab, "cince you know how to ward off bullen." Without bestag his saif possession Houdin explained that his invulnerability lay in a telleman which was with his pessessions in Algiers. "Dy etc. Allowed to the and of the company was a discussion in Algiers." "Dy etc. hours' prayer, however, I oan de with-

The foot-ball match between Keems and Campbellford, played at the former place on thitunday leat, was the occasion of a painful accident to MacCauley, one of the Keems players. The game had been unprogress only about twenty misutes when Victor Connor of the home team, in a magniscent clarge upon hemely defence, was checked by MacCauley, who was playing full back, and in the endeavour to kick the ball, Connor's knew had been into foreible contact with MacCauley's leg, breaking it alove the ankle. That the affair was entirey an accident was clearly evident to all pshokiers, and as Mr. Comor's playing has always been of the mast sportemanlike nature, no blame can' me any way be stached to him in the matter. The socident terminated the game, for though the visiting team othered to per off a man to make the sides equal, the keens players refused to continue the matca, MacCauley being one of their hast players. The treatment accorded the Campbellford boys by the Keense people in general was, to say the least, not of the best, and they returned me not too favorably improving.

A Lawyer's Confession to a Judge

No ingenuity of barbarism—no devil-ish invention of the masters of torture during the time of the Spanish inquisi-tion ever de-vised an agony so intense, so vised an agony so intense, so persistent, so long enduring, so nerve - har, rowing as that which is suffered day after day by the women whose distinctly feminise organism is deranged from the enduring times in avery woman's life; 1st—when girlhood bloosoms into womanhood; ad—when sotherhood is achieved; 3d—when the capacity for motherhood is achieved; 3d—when the capacity for motherhood safe and painless by restoring to vigorous health the organs involved. It soothes, heals, nourishes. It gives Nature just the help it needs. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

Me-too -meticines are preparations without standing or success. They are the substitutes sold as "just as good." Flaving no record of their own, when Dr. Pierce's cures are referred to they cryme-too, me-too, like the cuckoo in a Swiss clock. Don't accept me-too medicines for "Pavorite Prescription."

The wife of a tenor singer says that of all the tributes paid to the beauty and pathes of her heshand's votos the one which touched her most had in it an element of humor despite its gravity.

She sat, at a concert, directly in front of two offl ladies, whose comments on the soprano who graced the eccasion were far from flattering.

"She can sing high," said one of the old ladies. "but some way I'm not moved by it, Sarah."

"I should think net," returned her friend decidedly. "The woman lacks seed."

Later, when the tenor sang, his wife lightened half anxiously to hear what the old isdies would say of him.

"Oh, Sarah," attriaimed the erre who had not been "morved" by the soprano—
"ch, Sarah," hat a sweet singer!"
"Yee, and what a voice for a funeral!"

in Colorado a number of years ago. I was in the lumber business at the time and had a sawmill in a valley at the foot of an enormous mountain spur, covered with pino. The place where the best time-ber was cut was perhape a mile away, and to save roundabout hanling we built what we called log shoots. They were simply V chaped troughs, as near straight as possible, running down the mountain side to the millyard.

"When a tree was feiled, it was trimmed up, dumped into the marrest shoot and went down like a 10 inch shell. In the toughs as amooth as glass and also drove them into the ground, so they were mostly flush with the surface. One winter day! was out inspecting, riding a tough mustaing pony, and concluded to visit a tract that had been worked over and abandon-sd. The ground was thickly covered with snow, and the pony was cautiously picking his way when suddenly be lurched forward and fell. I stuck in the saddla, and the next thing I knew were whisting through space like a rocket.

"You see, he had accidentally stepped into an abandoned log shoot, and as his legs were doubled under his body it was impossible for him to get out, but I discovered all that afterward. It happened so quickly I had no time to think, and all I remember of the ride is that swift swoop of perhaps five seconds and then a sail through the air. Some obstruction had joited me off, and I lit in a snow bank 10 feet away. The hores, poor brute, was carried on about a quarter of a mile to a break in the trough and dashed against a pile of bowlders dead as a doornail. I was comparastively unhurt, but so stunned and shaken up that it took me several hours to graw hack to the mill. The distance I actually traversed in the shoot was about 300 yards, and I am prepared to bet to was the fastest time ever made in the middle."

HE GOT A CHANGE OF VENUE But the Lawyer Lest His Client In the Hove.

the Heve.

A good story is told of a Kaness City lawyer. He is more of a corporation lawyer has anything else, but once in swhile he has been called upon to show his knewly close ago that he was in Okiahoma, and he undertook the defense of a negro who had killed a white man. The feeling against the negro was intenes, and it had been only through the most streamous efforts of the officers that he had been permitted to live for his trial. It was very evident that an unprejudiest fury sould not be obtained in the little place where the orime was committed, and is was the intention of the Kaness City man to sak for a change of venue. After he had worked on the ones for some time he accordance that the judge was going to deny anything like a change and that his man was to be tried and hange as soon as possible. The lawyer thought long and hard over the matter and finally hit upon a scheme whith he thought would be successful in influencing the court.

By the liberal use of money he successed.

the court. By the liberal use of money he succeeded in securing a doesn non-who, when the negro was brought into the courtream, were to ery: "Hang him! Hang him!" The lawyer thought that this would be evidence of the prejudice against his client that could not be everlooked by the court. The day for the trial arrived, and the defendant was brought into court. As nose as he made his appearance a doesn shouts went up:

toute went up:
"Hang him! Hang him! Hang the look secundrel!"

blook soundrel!"

The cry was taken up all ever the court-room, while the actorney smiled to himself as he saw let little achesse succeed; but, to his horror, the cries redoubled in fore, the crewd surged in an irresistible wave toward the prisoner, and before it could be prevented the nagro was taken out and hanged to a convenient true.

The young Kaness City atterney now confines himself entirely to corporation law and politics.

A Fulseme Compliment.

During Mr. Cleveland's tour of the south shortly after his marriage Mrs. Cleveland and he ware driving one day through the streets of one of the larger towns encerted by two of its citisens. Some one threw a bunch of violets to Mrs. Cleveland, and Mr. Cleveland bust forward to catch it, remarking as he presented it, "I wonder why no one gives me flowers?"

flowers?"
One of the gentlemen present gallantly replied, "We think you have won the fairest flower in all the land!"
"Ah, yes," returned the president, "but, you see, I can't keep her in water!"
"It is not necessary, since you keep her in such excellent spirits," was the reply. Here Mrs. Cleveland interpend, saying, "I am afraid you are guilty of flattery," whereupon came the reply:
"No, madam. Flattery is fulsome compliment, and in this instance no compliment and in this instance no compliment could be either too frank or too fulsome!" The cherm of this response lies in the last and fourth from the last words, Mrs. Claveland's maiden name being Frances Folsom.—Ledles' Home Jeurnal.

Once upon a time a begger interstand a lawyer for alms.

"Let me give you come advise," said the lawyer.

"I'd rather you said the advise and gave me the proceeds," ventured the begges, trying not to sum forward.

Taken unawares, the puscher made a bold attempt to escape. Steam was put full on and's dating effort made to get out to see and beyond the reach of the Vigilant. She fired a blank shot, but the trawler paid no attention. Another and then snother was fired, but as thei commander of the trawler saw that they were only blank he paid no attention to them. No fewer than six shots of this description were fired, but still the trawlet standed on.

Loaded With Ball.

Loaded Withi Pall. The Vigilant was determined that her prey should not escape, and, loading the aguns with ball. Captain MacDonald fired a shot across the low of the trawler. This as used to rowe the captain, for he redoubled his exertions to get off, but a shot a little nearer to the poscher revealed the determination of the crutier. It was only after a third shot was fired, and when the trawler as that the Vigilant was allowed to come alongside, the two boats being off Ailsa Craig.

The chase had lasted an hour, and by ten o'clock the following morning the trawler was loarded and taken charge of by the crew of the Vigilant. The poscher was found to be Kingfisher, LL 334, Captain herguson. She was taken into Campballtown harbor, where her trawl and other gear were taken out of the vessel, and the cargo, which consisted of thirty locus of fish, chief-ton.

E. G. Ames, who was present at newseral of the mestings of the Joint High Commission in Washington city, made an official statement on behalf of the lumberman. Like half a dozen o her leading mill operators who spoke, Mr. Ames unsisted on projection for American lumder, but agreed with Senator Foster, provided the tarbit on lumber was fixed permanently, as a treaty obligation that a reduction of 30 percent, would be acceptable and treferable to the ancertainty opinical influences and tariff tinkering by those unacquainted with the necessions and conditions of the trade. Mr. Ames, in conclusion, mild:

"I think I voice the rentment of the lumbermen o Wa hington, Oregon and California by suggesting that the reduction o 20 per cent on rough lumber be considered the actimatum of the American members of the Joint High Commission to their Canadian associates, and that no encession by made on dressed lumber or or anall lumber, each as asths, staves, clap-boards, pickets, shingles, etc.

All this was said to a running fire of Ministerial comment and matter, which had the effect of stiffening the dector's determination to pursue the investigation. About 11 o'clock Mr. N. F. A STORMY SCENE.

A STORMY SCENE.

When Oliver Cromwell Perempterily Discelved the Long Farliament.

Sir Peter Wentworth was the only man who dared to rise amid Cromwell's tempest of wrath, says Samuel Harden Church in The Atlantic. He mid that this was the first time he had ever heard such unbecoming language gives to the parliament and that it was the more horrid in that it came from their servant—their servant whom they had so highly trusted and obliged.

But when Wentworth had gone thus far, Cromwall olapped on his hat and interrupted him with, "Come, come, we have had enough of this!" He walked furfously up and down the foor. "I will put an end to your prating," he cried in a high votos. He stamped his feet upon the foor. No man had over seen the like of such rage in a parliament before. "It is not fit that you should sit here any longer. You are no parliament!" To an officer he cried, "Call them in!" And the grim companious of his battles entered with syes alers and guns reedy and waited his further orders.

"I say you are no parliament!" They are so their feet now, their faces blaxing with amasement. Sir Harry Vane gravely speaks: "This is not honest; yes, it is against morality and companen honesty." Cromwall is all passion. "Sir Harry Vane! Sir Harry Vane! Sir Harry Vane! Sir Harry Vane!" He glaves on Toen Challoner and eays, "Some of you are leved livers, living in open contemps of God's commandments!" His fashing gres pass from face to face, and he says: "Some of you are coverupt, unjust persons; scandalous to the profession of the gopel!" As the once great parliament stands cowering before him he thunders out their final doom, "Depart, I say!"

They began to go ext. There was no gainsaying the man. They understood these perhaps why he had never been defeated him become down he tarried. Harrison then took him by the hand end helped him down, and he vanished.

COFFEE DRINKING.

About once in so often the question of coffee drinking being injurious is agitated for awhile, then the agitation subsides and people go on drinking it. According to the best authorities, coffee taken in moderation is not only harmless, but highly beneficial. Its value as a stimulant has atways been recognized, and the fast that it is so highly prized as a beverage, if there were no other reason, would go far to prove that it has a powerful influence on the nervous system. The action imparted to the nervea, however, is natural and healthy, and habitual coffee drinkers generally enjoy god health and live ts a, good old age.

remedy for paroxysmal headsches, the peculiar headsche of Bright's disease, and that produced by defects in the sys. The fashionatic after-dinner coffee not only enables the etomach to perform its function with comparative ease, but relieves that some of oppression so often experienced after a hearty meal.

It is not generally known that coffee is often a valuable temporary remedy. In certain prostrating diseases it is also of great value. It sustains the system, and one doctor has said that a cup of good coffee contains as much nutriment as the same quantity, of soup. The nutritive properties of coffee have been the subject of considerable dispute, but it is now quite generally recognized that coffee contains essential properties of nutrition far exceeding its exhilarating properties. It enables those who use it to remain a long time without foot, as coldiers are often obliged to do in time of war. It also decreases the sensibility to physical discomforts.

THE GULF OF MAINE.

Is a Great Place for the Bereding of Torrific

Is a Great Place for the Errecting of Terrific Rea Sterms.

The Gulf of Maine is a geographical division not marked on average maps, for it is chiefly referred to in scientific treatises on the general subject of the tides. It is formed by the great curve of the American coast from Cape Race, the eastern extremity of Newfoundland, westward and southward to Cape Cod and Nantucket. Into this curve during normal conditions of sea and a r a current sets perpetually from the Far North known as the Labrador current. It makes its way southward inside the Gulf stream and cools the water, even in summer, as ar as Nantucket sound. In the winter months, when notherly winds prvail, a terrific sea is hurled against those rockoound shores, and when rocks are wanting the sands are torn up and shifted forming islands and new bars here and there, involving the shifting of myriads of tons in a single day, that may mean destruction to the newary or even to the mist war, of navigators.

Newfound and and Nova Scotia reach well out into the track of these gales and these treats.

destruction to the mwary or even to the most war, of maygators.

Newfound and and Nova Scotia reach well out into the track of these gales and theoretically it would seem that their oid headtands might form something of a lee along the shores of Maine, and down perhaps atmost as far as Nahant. But in point of fact they seem to have very little effect. Poss bly the wind is drawn out of its general direction somewhat by the conformation of the shores, but at any rate when a northeaster is blowing there is very little shelter to be found, except in the landlocked harbors or behind the islands that are fortunately of frequent occurrence in the exposed region.

The government observers of ocean phenomena is their forecasts of No:th Alantic weather for the winter months habitually predicts gales of greater or less severity at intervals of about seven or eight days covering all this zone and extending southward as far as the list stras, or perhaps even till they melt away intitude gaule trade winds of the tropics. But not even the hydrographic office veatures as yet to predict very far ahead the approach of phenomenal storms such as visited this coast at the end of November.

I. could and did give warning several hours before the storm began to make itself that the Virginia Capes at dalong pite I greey shore. Hurricane signals were prompity se at every station away up the coast as far as the purisdiction of the United States extend, and if the coastwise authorities of the British possessions had only been willing to accept the warning of American washer prophets, they, too, might have shown langer signals for the benefit of their sealaring population.

A gend approach of here benefit of their sealaring population.

A Brish Rusiness.

The O. P. Ri in dising a brisk business this week, both as regards passenger and freight trains. The reason unifoutisedly is, that large mumbers of the people are in sympathy with the G. T. R. striking trackman and will not patronize the Grand Trunk if they can possibly avoid it. Is mang place merchants refuse to accept goods brought from wholesale houses if sets over the G. T. R., and they will not travel by that road if their routs is covered by the Canadian Pacific.

Yesterday morning a gang of six men including a foreman, arrived in the city from Montreal, sent hare by the G.T.R. to take the place of the striking trainmen on this division. They came in on their train from Bellsville and were accompanied by two datactives. (All were French-Canadians with the exception of one man, John Gilmore, who stated to the strikers that he had come here thinking that the strike was over. He had been promised $1.25 per day from which the sum of $2 per week was to be deducted, for board furnished by the compinity. He gave up the job when he learned from the strikers how thinks stood. He has since accured work on the Trant Valley Canal. The other men are at work on the rativary.

Reports About the Conference are to be

The Hague, June 10 .- The drafting committee was in session for three ours yesterday, although not sizingle conclusion was reached, with the exeption of the acceptance of the British scheme as the basis upon which to disarbitration

After the session most/ of the mem bers of the committee telegraphed to their respective governments, indicating ahat the discussion showed the essity of having their instructions amplified.

It is understood that neveral of the delegates of the smaller powers ex-pressed a wish that a permanence of the tribunal might be made more effective, and even moved amindments in this sense. The great powers, however, think it impossible. It is understood to go forgood Sir Julian Pauncafote's proposels. Nevertheless a determine tert is being made to secure the institution of a permanent gribunal. The United States and Russian process have not been abandoned, Sir Julian Paincetote's will merely be taken as the basis of discussion.

TO STOP YELLOWISM.

The Hague, June 10.—The ch.ef. delegates to the peace conference met to-day to friesus German complaints against the secrecy imposed upon the delegates and the consequence(of misleading reports published, and Count Munster, head of the German delegation, was instructed to propose that the protocols for the plenary sittings of the committees by published immediately after they are drawn up.

Blate-era Taik.

United States delegates tell the representatives of the Associated Pressitat they are still chaffelent of the adoption of some of their object preparation. But the preliminary discussion yesterday indicates the impossibility of maintaining them all. For instance, it is impossible to carry the proposal that the judges of the arbitration tribunal be elected by the highest court of justice of each country, as some of the European countries do not present a judicial organization permitting such procedure. It is expected that the likises outcome will be free tofethnee the manner of nominating its own judges. The Americans propose to insist upon a parmanear tribunal. If this is impossible, they hope to obtain at any rate the institution of a permanea commission. They will also insist on other points. Statesers Talk.

LOCOMOTION OF THE FUTURE.

What will be the most popular form of hecometion is the future may be left an open question, but it may be left an open question, but it may be left an open question, but it may be fatten for granted that it will not be a long thing before the natomobile pacomests familiar object, both in the streatspand roads. Automobile racing and record-breaking trips have recoulty attracted much attention to the possibilities of this method of locomotion. The 'trip made recently by automobile, from Cleveland to New York, showed that an individual or small party could make such a trip at less that by considerable than by rail, and, at not very much merition of time. A parcel delivery system with automobiles is no question that the machine has got beyond the toy stage and is destined to play a leading part is commerce. Undoubtedly when automobiles come more into men traveling in this way will become patch popular. It is by no means improbable that the automobile will cut late the profits of railresds and of the trolley these ultimately, though it will take some years to bring this about.

people in the arctio regions one converse after the contragent test of the automobile contragent frames shows a marvelous development since the first public test of five years ago. A speed of 28 infles an hour, mustained for nearly 12 hours by an independent vehicle runsing on the public highway in a setable achievement. Ten years ago the average time of railroad expression traine flowered the cities of Paris and Hordeaux, the route of the automobile test, was not faute. The high speed lattained by these self-propolled vehicles has a suppelled the government, a distance of anatomy and divisor of the histological latent of the public hours are cally read.

For purpose of indentification each whitele must have a number and the name of the war in a conspicuous place. Dr. ver a such vehicles must obtain a government carificate and iteense, just as a ginears of steam craft are required to de in United States we'ers. On the open highway the speed limit is restricted to 18 1-2 miles an hour. It must be reduced to 12 1-2 miles in passing houses, and to a walking passe in acrowded the rughfares. Permits for racing must be obtained from local authorities, when the speed limit is withdrawn, but no racing is permitted past dwelling houses. Warning signs are to be given by frumpet and by carrying two damps one red and the other greens. It is an assured fact that the automobile partiags is soon to become the most popular way of travelling in France, and perhaps in several other European countries where first-class highways are maintained. In our own country, a speed of Stimies, or even is miles perhous, on the average public food would mean the wreek of their way, but the "good roads" movement will intaine destroy the objection, and that movement will intended in automobile locamotion.

"A few days ago I was making up a little party to visit! the ornicar New Orleans. (We were to take an early lunch at my home and any from there to the house. Among others I invited a young man who had bean introduced to me as a member of a hireminent family in Virginis and a friend of asveral old acquaintances in this city. He was a visitor, and I wanted to show him a little courtesy, so you may imagine my chagrin when I learned next day that he was a fraud and skinned out owing a big hotel bill.

"I wanted to show him a little courtesy, so you may imagine my chagrin when I learned next day that he was a fraud and skinned out owing a big hotel bill.

"I wan so angry that? I mide it my business to ascertain how he cause to have such good indorsement, and, after much questioning I developed the whole story. It is worth telling as an example. ("About three weeks ago the young man, then a total etranger, called at the office of a gentleman interested in sugar and salout plantations and es forth, at the same time remarking: that he was a anahow of far. Blank, a prominent there were an anahow of Mr. Blank, a prominent there were an anahow of Mr. Blank, a prominent there were an anahow of Mr. Blank, a prominent that he was a majow of Mr. Blank, a prominent that he knew pareonally that thereupon introduced him to a friend, saying—'This is lift. Soamdao, a nephew of fift. Blank, of Richmonad,' Supposing that he knew personally that such was the case, the friend repeated the introduction right and left, and each time it got is little stronger, as each things will. By the end, of the week the young chap knew, a lot of the hest people in gows, and it was taken for granted that his standing and family connections were familiar to a number of his apospore, 'The people who introduced me know all about him, would be the answer when any questions were asked. The result was that he got the entre to one or two clubs and was sailing along swimmingly when he happened by mere accident to be refogulated as a professional heat. His alleged Virginia relatives have since disclaimed all knowledge of him, and, as I said before, he lut out between two days. The whole thing was the result of one thoughtless introduction. The English are reproached for being very cold-blooded and distant in such matters, but their system is based on hard, common sense."

FIRED ON BY A GUNDOAT.

The Vigilant was determined that her vrey should not escape, and, loading the grows with ball. Captain Machonial fired a shot across the bow of the trawler; This seemed to rouse the captain, for he redoubled his exertions to set off, but a shot a little nearer to the poscher revealed the determination of the cruster. It was only after a whird shot was fired, and when the trawler saw that secape was impossible, that the Vigilant was allowed, to come alonewide, the two boats being off Alisa Orag.

The chose had lasted an hour, and by ten o'clock the following morning the trawler was boarded and taken charge of by the crew of the Vigilant. The poscher was found to be Kingflant. The poscher was found to the Kingflant of the vessel, and the careo, which consisted of thirty horse of fish, chiefly turbot and sole, were taken possession of by $17. THE GULF OF MAINE.

The Gulf of Maine is a geographical division not marked on average maps, for it is chiefly inferred to in scientific treatises on the general subject of the tides. It is formed by the great curve of the American cases from the Reas, the eastern extremity of Newfoundland, westward and southward to Cape Ced and Nantucket. Into this curve during normal conditions of sen and a r a current sett perpetually from the Far North known as the Labrador current. It makes its way southward issue the Gulf stream and coals the water, even in summer, as tar as Nantucket sound. In the winter months, when notherly winds preal, a terrific sea is luried against those such though the sands are torn up and shifted forming intends and new bars here and there, involving the shifting of myriads of tens in a single day, that may mean destruction to the unwary or even to the most wary of averageors.

Newfoundland and Nova Scotig reach well out into the track of these gales and theoretically it would seem that their bold headlands might form something of a lee along the shores of Maine, and down perhaps almost as far as Nahant. But in point of fact they seem to have very little effect. Possibly the wind is drawn, out of its general direction somewhat by the conformation of the shores, but at any rate when a northeaster is blowing there is very little shelter to be found, accept in the landlocked harbors or behind the islands that are fortunately of frequent occurrence in the exposed region.

The government observers of ocean phenomena in their forecasts of North Allantic weather for the winter months habitually predicts gales of greater or less neverity at intervals of about neven or eight days covering all this zone and extending southward as far as the Hatteras, or perhaps even till they melt away into the gentle trade winds of the tropics. But not even, the hydrographic office ventures as yet to predict very far ahead the app. each of phenomenal storms such as vis ted this coast at the end of November.

as vis ted this coast at the end of November.

It could and did give warning several hours before the storm began to make itself feit at the Virginia Capes and along p the Jersey shore. Hurricane signals were promptly se, at every station away up the coast as far as the jurisdiction of the United States extened, and if the coastwise authorities of the British possessions had only been willing to accept the warning of American weather proph ts, they, too, might have shown danger signals for the benefit of their seataring population.

braathlessly a few seconds later, as she rushed into that lady's door, "wow't you please let me have some rice?"

"Why, child, what do you wint of ricer You are not having a wedding at your house, are you?"

"Yes, ma'am, and pieses hurry or it will be too late, "

"But who is it for?".

"But who is it for?".

"Yor asser Sen," shouted Pauline, who was in too much of a burry to stop for elaborate explanations, and raced back to meet Polly, who had had the good luck to find a bag of the stuff which the grocer left on the kitches table.

"Well, haven't they kept that pretty quaet," inquired Mrs. Harrick of her caller, Mrs. Smith, as some pucked up her knitting, and both ladies diew their chairs to the windown on the acie next to feters' house to watch the course of events more closely.

"There goes f'armon Hildrech," endiamed Mrs. Smith, and, sure enough, that reverend gentleman was seen coming down the stops faxt door, having made a call upon the twins' father.

"I thought that would be a match acome time; but what are those children doing now?"

I'm line and Polly, in their stocking feet, were tying white hair-ribbons to the horses' foretops, and two' pairs of small shoes were seen daugiling under the carriage. There had been no time to hunt up cast-off symbols of good luck, so the, twins had heatily deversed themselves of theur own footgear, and only mourned that, they weren't centipedes when they viewed the smallness of the odlection.

"The little girls had barely finished tying the last knot and extipped into the barn after their hags of rice when Mr. Bingham came out to get his team. "I know it," said Pauline, excitedity, "and we haves't a minute to lose.
You run right agt to the bound and get all the rice you can, and I'll borrow some of the neighbors."

"Oh, Ers. Herrick," she panted auspect from her dress, though, that ahe was a bride, and that is probably what she intended."

"Thank you ever so much, Mirs. Smith, said Dodge; "meeting you has saved me lots of trouble,"

Back he hurried to the office with gratification so plainly depleted upon his countenance that the idlers in the square, as the business past of the town was called, wondered what "Hustler" Dodge had got anto, now to make him look so happy, and several old farmers who had girlven down to the village to do some trading decided to wait until after the paper was out before going home; "the , momen-tolks would luke to read the news," they thought i "Now, girls, waketup," asid the edifore going home; "the "wann-jolks would luke to read the news," they thought in "Now, girls, waketup," asid the editor, as he biew into the office, and ast this copy as fast as you can; we have only tast minutes to spare, and it won't do't to mise the malle, people are too anxious! to get the Clipper, ight he first take," he called, after a moment or two of violent scribbling; the type tegan to rattle juto he sticks with business-like rapidity. In due time the article was set up, the proof takes, read and corrected, and, by four o'clock in the afternoon the Clipper—was awaiting its eager redders in the boxes of the posterior.

Aft. Peters was among the first to get the paper, but without stopping to fook at little contests he wended his way home and tomed the sheet into his swife's lags.

"Here, mother, is the filuminator," his favorite name for the Clipper.

"Whave are the twhes?" "that they might realine how analyty they were this afternoon, tout of what is this—like they are and with wide-distended eyes—horror, indignation and amaxement in her whole attitude, ahe, tegan to read the news while it was news and decidedly fresh.

"A very postite between wardings took."

At the intercession off their sister the term of imprisonment, was shortened for the twins, and they emaryed from their temporary confinement in a si ate of subdued joyouaness that found expression in a general from Polly to the affect that they would play nothing but funeral after thin.

The occremony was finally performed securding to the directions hald down in the Clipper, sucept as to the bridges dress, a chenge in that particular tesing strennously insisted upon by the kride's mother, and "the prospective young people" ware able to receive the congustulations of "fleri, hust of friends" with a placid smile.

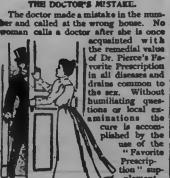

But Editor Dodge never really understood why Mr. Singham subscribed for the Clipper and hald down 10 years in advance, with the remark that he liked to encourage genius, or why Mr. Paters at the same hime atopped his subscription and for a whole year to exist by borrowing his neightors papers.

use of the "Favorite Prescription" supplemented by free medical advice if needed. This medicine is harmless in any condition of the system and can be taken without the slightest fear of bad consequences. It contains no whisky or alcohol. There is not an iota of anything narcotic in it. The relief it gives is permanent. In this it differs from many preparations which give temporary relief only by deadening the sense of feeling with narcotics, and the dangerous stimulants they contain create an appetite for strong drink. When a dealer offers a substitute for Dr. Pierce's Paworite Prescription, remember these facts.

When their diseases are deep-seated and of long standing, women will find it to their interest to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., who has had wonderful success in curing diseases of women. He gives advice from and invites all to write him. Prompt, careful and personal attention is paid to each letter, and the fullest advice is always given.

A mather Embarrassing Mistal e made by an Ashbarraham Bearder.

A) popular foreman on the Trent Valley Canai, whom we will calf Mac, and, subo boards with a private family in Concassion street, Asbbarraham, is a frequent visitor of a certain young lady at whose home he is generally to be found almost every evening fill about midwight or a little later. Nw one has any fault to find with that, but on one occasion on his arrival home he made a somewhat embarrassing mistale. It seems that the place next to his boarding house is exactly the same; as his, both in side and appearance, and on the occasion; alluded to be happened to enter the wrong house and was making his way up stairs when a strange voice; met his car and he immediately explaimed, "It is me." "Well. what of it?" was the rapit, and like at once mw 'that a mistake had been made. Explanations followed, which proved satisfactory, and files started for mart door and reached his bed without further mishap. The best part of it is that Mac thinks no one knows anything about the mistake but himself and the people sext door, but a reporter's business is to secure the news and strangeposition as the twich he recently? experienced.

But not then again floto such an embarrasing gostition as that which he recently? experienced.

ment Defeated, There Reing a Large Vote Against the Ministry.

Paris, June 12.-The Cabinet has re-

Tiled to-day and there was considerable med excotement when M., Vaillant, Socialist, interpellated the government on yesterday's l'police out-rages' at the Pavillon d'Armen ville, and demanded to know the instruction the Government gave the police in regard to the Socialist, who, he said, defended the Repuplic against the re-actionaries applause. The Premier, M Dopuy, replied saying he realized year terday was a fele flay for all Republi-cams. He added there had been iew in-cidents and the only instructions to cidenth and the only instructions to the police were to maintain order. The Government, he continued, had ordered an inquiry into the responsibility for the affairs at the Pavilion d'Armenoville and the Rue Montmartre. At the anne time, the Promier pointed out, the Government acknowledged the services of the police adding that the maintenance of the Government was impossible without public order. (Appleuse from the Centre and protests from the Leftists). The Chember adopted, by a vote of 231 to 178, the order of the day proposed by M. Rueu, Radical, which the Premier refused to accept. The Ministers for thwith left the House amid immense excitement.

The text of M. Runu's motion was as follows—"The chamber is determined to support only a Government resolved to flefand vigorously Republican institutions, and to accure public order and passes fo the order of the day." After the grote was announced the socialists shouted: "Vive h. Republique." The Minister left the House and the chambers adjourned.

STRIKERS ARE CONFIDENT.

rento. June 18 .- An encouraging elegram was this morning received by the local strikers, which to them portends an early settlement of the difficulty; The message was from Chairman Pale, and read as follows— "Stand: firm, Don't accept any. of-fers. Have received reliable news. Will wire result latter." "reliable It is thought that the news' spoken' of is in some way conmental with the arrival of Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, who will, the strikers move thelison, not leave everything in the hands of Manager Hays, but will resort to arbitration or some other meaner's switting the difficulty after hearing the executive's side of the story. He will intercode, if a mo other

Supt. MrGuigan passed through the city surly this morning on his way to the Worthern, where he will endeavor to adjust matters.

A striker from Newmarket reports that no men are at work on the tracks there.

R is stuted on excellent authority that not only is the passenger business falling off, but that the freight shipments was also greatly, decreased as result of the strike. Among the local firms that have withdrawn their patronage from the road till such those is the strike is settled is a large brewing firm, which exjoys a big outside trade. The C. P. BEAVERTON MURDER CASE. lew Trial Asked for-Lawyer Claims In-

Toronto. June 13.-The Divisional Court this morning reserved judg-ment on an application for a new tence to be hanged for the murder of William Murray, at Beaverton, on Nov. 12th last. The beach was occupied by the Chancellor, Sir John Boyd, and Justices Meredith and Robertson.

Mr. T. E. Gudson, of Beaverton, appears is for the prisoner. Reciting from the evidence taken at the trial, he represented to the court that Edward Elliott, the prisoner, a toy between 15 and 16 years of age, was arreased by Constable Smith and Reeve McMillan. They placed the as custody, and, after advising him that any statement he might make would be used against him, they proceeded to interrest to him. Hefore any question was asked the prisoner asid—"It did not kill Hill Murray." He was then anked by the constables what! he had done with the key of Murray's house, and he told them he had hid it under the sidewalk.

A Plea for Prizonera. Mr. T. E. Godson, of Beaverton,

A Plea for Prisoners. A Plea for Prisonera.

These statements had been admittel as evidence in the trial before Judge MacMaban, and Mr. Godson automittels to the court that the prisoner had not been sufficiently cautioned, and had been examined in custody. He argued that the time had now arrived for the court to hand down a ruling to protect prisoners from being examined by constables and detectives, who, from the excess of their seat in pursuit of crime did not deal justily or fairly with those whom whey took into custody.

Justice Meredith—I don't know what a detective in for if it is not to ask questions.

what a detective is for if it is not to ask questions.

Mr Godson-Once the examination goes to the jury as evidence the harm indone.

Justice Meredith-You call it harm. I would call it by another term.

Continuing Mr. Godson drew the attention of the Court to the fact that the prisoner had made no confession through remorse or repentance. He was a young toy and did not thoroughly appreciate the position he was in.

Prisoners Well Protected.

Chanceltor Boyd did not see the necessity for the court ruling against the admission of statements made at examination; conducted by constables and detectives, as evidence in trials. The prisoner is supposed to be into the state any statement he makes that a contradiction contradiction who made the fact several times to witness, who advised him to get some to do his business for him. He contradiction provailed, the was acquitted, and the jury held an at home at her house."

With regard to the widence conserving the keyes, the Chancellor would admit it as it was a fact. In reply, Mr. Godson showed that the prisoner had said the keys were to be found in a certain place, and they were not found there.

"Welt," said the Chancellor, "the jury would weight that point."

Another injustice done the prisoner, counsipheld, was that the constables

DAME OF PRANCE.

Alcoholism in Franco has been some-mt at a puzzle since outbacks sta-tim showed that the people, who irty or firty years ag were among a sobowest unations in Burope, are the sobsessit unitions in Buropa, are tow the hardest drinkers. The head of a Paris mission dealing with the subject says this week that, putting noids the when and bear that are con-nmed, the chief cause of the increase tity of absinthe and similar alcoholic drinks now universally used; for no nly do the masses in the industrial entres drink to excess, but in every part of the country, in the villages nd hamlets far away from the mair routes, the passion is developed. Last summer in a beautiful valley in the savoie he found the same and state of alcohol. Dr. Legrain, the chief doo-of things, map and women the slaves of alcohol. Dr. Legrain, the chief doctor of the grat- saylum at Ville-Evrard, has taken up the subject with great energy, friven to it by what daily comes under his observation among the insane, 70 per cent. of whom, he mays, are directly or indirectly there through drink.

Throughout Normandy the people drink—men, women and children. The babies get braindy in the cradle, it is put into the buttle, and the soup is made with brandy, cays Dr. Brunon—"You should see the people coming away from the drinking shops on a Monday evening Father, mother, children, frients, holding each other up and resling' slong together."

The universal eustom has been greatly caveloped by the fact that since 4882 there is practically no obstacle to the sale of sloohol in France. Any one can retail it, and thus grocers, call selectors throughout France, and dry goods shops all sell it freely. There is said to be a drinking shop for every twenty-one electors throughout France, or bue for every, seventy of the whole population. In some parts, as in Normandy, every other house sells drink, and in Lille, in a certain quarter, in every house it dan be purchased: It is beyond question that, once the Dreyfun disease is eradicated, the question of sloohol will be found the first problem in France. M. Dupuy, in his semi-retirement after the resignations of President Casimir-Perier, devoted many months to the question of his plan.

Dear Sir.—The mini-tera, whose meeting it virtually was, whose meeting it virtually was, whose addressing the strikers of Saturday night, were quite consistent in enjoining the strikers of Saturday night, were quite consistent in enjoining the strikers to put their trust in God. "Brother" Kear, who was called upon by, kwo of his brothem to air himself, had the bud tasts to introduce political into the mesting, but which, wisely, no one noticed. He gave unatinate praise to and was proud of the stand taken by his great. Literal leader, Sir Witfred Laurier. For what? Because he refused to mast the miti-clien labor law, which he could have easily done with his brute majority ready to do his bidding. But he chose the better part and played isto the hands of his master, the railway. Hidd be done so, we would not have been treated to the spectacle of the importation of amone from the United States to take the place of the strikers. If the favority 100 in Canada in sympathy with the strikers, it is guaring strange that the country is powerless to see justice done the strikers. I thelieve, as irricipally Great on Friday expressed it in Torosto, that "if d poor laborar is not entitled to justice, is there not consthing totten in our state of Denmack." dustry. It is not a crime to make a gold brick. The crime only comes in when the spunious article is sold. The value of the sandard "brick" would be about $650 if composed of pure gold. The cost to the gurchaser when the article is prepared for the magnet varies from $10 to $76 a brick, according to the value of the material used. The purchaser from the factory makes his terms with his viotima. "You want to know of the very bast brick we turn out?" said a maker. "Well, the brick most likely to deceive is made from a copper and sine mixture. It is not the most argendre, but it will stand knocking around for five years without losing tint or tone, and, I tell you, it's pretty near the real thing. Half a dollar's worth of gold is more than enough to de the job. Our science is known as water gilding because the last touch we give the brick is to chill it in load water. We buy our gold in leaves from the beater. These leaves we place in a crucible, with mercury, seven parts of mercury to one of gold. The mercury is first heated, and under the action of a furnace the mixture is made reduct. Then it is allowed in cool down. We equesse the amalgam through chamois leather for the purpose of ejecting the superfluous mercury, and the gold, with twice its weight of mercury, remains behind. It is shen a yellowish mean of the consistence of butter, and with this the metal is coated with a broah. This is then in fine form, but far from perfect. There will be little tracellarities, and these are removed with a delicate brase brush. After the broshing a lank of true goldan tone is apparent, but we have an easy remody for this. We coat the brick over with gilding wax, which is a preparation of red ocher, verdigris, alum and borar. Then the brick is again expected to the action of fire till the wax is entirely burned away. It's real gold then, but we are bound to make it a few carate finer, so our customers can have no possible ground for questioning the quality of their treasure. We do this by oovering it with a saline compositi

It is understood that neveral of the delegates of the ameller powers expressed a wish that a permanence of the tribunal might be made more effective, and even moved amindments in this sense.

The wreat powers, however, think it impossible. It is understood to go keyond Sir Julian Paunesfor's proposis. Nevertheless a determined effort is being made to secure the institution of a permanent tribunal. The United States and Russian projects have not been shandoned. Sir Julian Painesfote's will merely be taken as the basis of discussion.

Bitaters Talk.

United States delegates tell the representatives of the Associated Presenthat they are etill confident of the adoption of some of their chief projects for arbitration. But the preliminary discussion yesterday indicates the impossibility of maintainine them all. For instance, it is impossible to carry the proposal that the induces of the arbitration tribunal be elected by the highest court of lustice of each country, as some of the European countries do not present a indical or-panization permitting such procedure. It is expected that the likes outer one will be free to chose the manner of nominating its own indees.

The American propose to inviet unon a permanent tribunal. If this is impossible, they hope to obtain at any rate the institution of a permanent commission. They will also insist on other points.

There is more than one way of getting rid of some article you don't want and getting hold of something you really need, or think you need, which is the same thing If a man owns a dog and hankars for a watch, he doesn't have to sell the animal and them use the money in purchasing the timepiece. That was the way it was done years ago, but the "For sale or exchange" column in the Sunday newspaper has changed the method of operation. Planes are exchanged for scalakins and jewelry. Books are taken in wade for aliverware for the table and harmesses. Sign painting goes for clothes and scenegraphy for bicycles. One young woman advertises, "First class tender, with best of references, will give stage or society danning lessons for dry goods, shose er anything useful." Another person says, "Opals or amethysis for aliverware, typewriter or hardwars." A laundress who wants to learn to 'play the piano may, "Wanted—Plano lessons in exchange for illundry work, or what have you?"

Apparently many of these traders are willing to take nearly anything of value and, of course, such one expects to get the bester of the bargain. There must often he heart burnings and many and thoughts when the man who has traded an Angora cast for dental work finds that his teeth have been filled with plumber's solder, or the woman who has exchanged a Persian rug for an alarm clock theoryes that the timepicor runs only on Thursday afternoops and these strikes nothing but $1.

One enterprising individual advertiess, "Best French conversation in exchange for each or solid goods." It may be said that there are many persons who would also like to trade large beinches of "best English conversation" forghesses and withes or an eld pair of panes.

A family with lots of board, but a houseful of lesky pipes, wants to "exchange good board for plumbing; walking distance," while a man with a large wardroba, but nothing to hunt with, wants "up to date gun for winers suit, No. 48."

A CURIOUS MYSTERY.

MEN OF SCIENCE.

Finish its Deadly Work and Against Which There is No Home-

"I venture to say that no poisons knows to attend the world over can compare in their effects with the deadly mixtures used by the conjuriers, or medicine men, of the Cree and Salteaux tribes of Indians away up in the northwest region of British Columbia." says Dr. James Melden of Manifolia

"These sribes," he said, "live in their wast, wild region from 700 to 1,000 miles north of Winnipag, just on the border of Enkimo land. They are the lest tribes to be met with bafore the Eskimos are reached, and they get along very amioshly with them, as hunting ground demarkations are mutually understood and respected. No doubt the extreme rigor of the olimate accounts for it, but they are conspicuously peaceful for redskins and perform almost incredible feats of endurance. I have known 'tracks' of these tribes to run absed of a dog aled as guides for over 100 miles. But, for all they have such amiable dispesitions, just let one of these get his angew or spirit of revenge aroused through jealousy or envy, and the victim of his wratements a death more hearille shan the tertures of the inquisition by the use of them sunysterious, befiling poisons. The modus operandi is simple enough. He takes his case to one of the conjurers of the tribefor the same custom provails among both the Crees and the Belteaux—who undertakes the job of resmoving the objectionable bunk. The conjurer then starts off into the dense forest alone and gathers a collection of barks and herbs unknown by botanists. With these he returns to his wiggram and brews the destructive mixture that does the business.

"Now for the peculiar way in which is works," the doctor continued. "I want to say, by way of parenthesis, that these tribes never go on the warpath. They make no use of somahawh or scalping hilfs. They never resort to the popular redskin method of removing an ensury by ahooting him down from ambush. Potesa is their sole recipe for settling scoves. Fortified, than, with his potent drug, the man who is out for vengence manages in have its administered to his doomed for in the right of the proper set of the potent drug hands. Potent drug hands, and in their single store the potent for good and to the potent the score of the more intensity by the appearance of a month or under the potent was super by places. But these to the series to the seri compound, but the poison turned around and laughed us out of court, securing a double revenge. Nothing we administered could stop the slow but deadly work of the Indian mixture. The giant buck, went through all the stages I have described, until the most excruciating death put an end to his mission. All our science was bound hand and foot, utterly helpless in the presents of this curious, intal brew of an Indian conjurer.

"We know nothing and can learn nothing," he went en to say, "of the herbethet enter into this mixture. This poison mystery has long been kept a secret among the conjurers of those two strike. They are always few in number and exercise the greatest caution in transmitting is to those who come after them. They require a long and severe training en the part of any buck who leads inspired to enter the conjurers' mystic strain. So severe is the prelimitary training that few are able to pass through it successfully. As the brewing of these deadly mixtures is the conjurer of whise deeplastion they form a sort of college of potson.

But, "Dr. Meiden continued, "there's still another branch of this Indian mystery quite as baffling as the one I've told. These tribus have wonderful powers of ending qualities. In this there is the forcest professional rivalry—worse than anything among the theater folks—and whom a certain back in conjurer for a modified form of revenge. He doesn't care to kill his rival. It will satisfy him to have him orippled and placed out of the race. The conjurer is ready for business on that makes short work of the objectionably rapid buck. Sometimes these drags will so stiffen its hims that he previously hobbins about en a pair of wooden leas. Altogether is in the most curious poison mystery in the Work.

BORR AND DEVICE.

The Hoers seem within as ace of a war which their courage and endurance will prolong until half of them are deaff. They will be benten, though they do not know it now, and half will hardly live to know. And what will

Great Britain nd longer rules white people by force. The Hoers may be thrashed, but after that Britain will simply relinquish government again tof the people of the Transvaal-only m, every man in the Transvael, Boer and other than floor, will have a vote, instead of Buers only. There will be no hem liberty for the Buers. There will be more liberty and more respon sibility for every one else, that is all.

A war between a big nation and a little one is not often a row of this hining. Generally it is the little one rho fights for freedom. Mr. Gladstone's intellect ran away from itself on the last war between Bour and Brit-on. Mr. Gladstone thought the Boor was the mans who was fighting for freedom; hip. Gladatone accordingly called off the British troops. But it was the Briton who was on the side of freedom; it was the Boor who with node courage and devotion but mistale ably was struggling to maintain opthe Boer gained his point and has been playing oppressor ever sisce.

In Gladatone had let the British roops fro abrid, the Hoer would have been conquer i, and their would have link all his terri ory and rights as a free man retu: and to him-in common with other white people in the country! l'enhaps a 6 : l-looking mobleman ould have been sent out to act as figure-head over a Boer premier, but not more harm would have been done tof the Boers. There wouldn't have been; British troops or British orders around. There have been no British troops nor British orders in the Orange Free State, which is under the Britick flag. The people run their own show.

If there is a war now, the big em pire, will be the one which fights for justice and freedom, the little republio which fights for injustice and tyis which figure for injuncies and ty-ranny. The floor will have the respect and admiration of all for the daunt-less courage and the military man-head behind, his obstinacy, and in-talisotmal prajudice, but up one will be able to rightly sympathine with him on the ground that he comes out to die for treaters.

WICKED WICHITA.

A Story of the Days When it was the Wildest Town in the West. I haven't been in Wichita before since it was "the end of the track," and the wildest and wickedest towain the west, writes William E. Curtis in the Chicago Record. It gear the centre of the cattle, trade in theme dyas, the shipping point for the Texas herds; the end of the trail, where thousands of steers which had been driven across the ranges, of Indian territory were loaded, on the cars every week to be bilipped to the eastern marbets. Everything swas wide open then with a vengeance, and the cowboys were kings.

One night I attended an entertainment in the Palace Opera House, or a place with some such name, kept by "Rawis foe," a famous character who had formerly been known as Joseph Lawe, of La Saile, Ill. He was a bestman before he came to this country, and had wen an envisible reputation as "the toughest man in Kansas." Mr. Love, hept a drinking place, a gambiling den and a dance house combined; and Bins. Lowe, who was better known as "Rowdy Kate," was his cashier and first lieutenant. Together they made a powerful team, and the attractions of their place of business were well advertised between the Missouri river and the Rocky mountains. There was nothing to beat it then, and there has been authing to beat it then, and there has been authing to beat it then, and there has been authing to beat it then, and there has been apthing to beat it the country and in the spring of 74-1 attended a vaudeville enetrainment at this famous place, and the great attraction was a "serio-comic artise" of the femine per massion, whose pictures were plastered on all the dent walls in town. At the close-96 hen first number, while walting for the applauss to subside, she learned against the ande of one of the stage boxes which was occupied by a gigantic driver and a party of friends. With his long arms he reached over the rail, grabbed her around the walse, lifted her into his box and placed her calmiy upon his homest in less time than it takes to tell it.

The audisnoe was furious at he familiarities taken with its favorts,

Birw I got out of the place I never was able to decide, but "Rowdy Joe's" pelaces" was a heap of ashes two hours afterward, and there were rumors of numerous lost lives.

"Rowdy, Coe" "passed in his chebks" at Januar only a few weekst ago. This towa, gor too tame for him and he reached the age of 70, he decided to settler down and lead a peaceful life. Juring the last blizzard he drove into towa and left his horses hitched in the street without blankets. A policeman of humane instincts took them to a stable, and Joe expressed his views of that interference and of policemes in general in a saloon where he had taken refuse from the cold. policemen in general in a salom where he had taken refuge from the cold. An ex-member of the Denver police re-sented the criticisms. "Rowdy Joe" is in the cometery and the ex-policemen is in juit awaiting trial for murder.

AFFAIRS IN FRANCE.

Paris, June 12.-The Cabinet has re

Thed to-day and there was considerable suppressed exectement when M. Vaillant, Equialist, interpellated the government on yesterday's l'police outarment on yesterday's l'police out-regen' et the Pavision d'Armenveille, and demanded to know the instruc-tion the Government gave the police in regard to the Socialist, who, he said, defended the Repuplic against, the re-potionaries' applanse. The Premier, M Depuy, replied saying he realized yes-terday was a feto flay for all Republi-cams. He added there had been few in-sidents and the only instructions for sidents and the only instructions to the police were to maintain order. The Government, he continued, and ordered an inquiry into the responsi-bility for the alfairs at the Pavillon d'Armenoville and the Rue Montmartre. At the same time, the Pre-mier pointed out, the Government semier pointed out, the Government schowledged the leavines of the police adding that the maintenance of the Government was impossible without public order. (Appleuse from the Leftital)
The, Chamber adopted, by a vote of 21 to 173, the order of the day proposed by M. Rusu, Radical, which the Premier refused to accept. The Ministers forthwith left the House amid immense excitement.

The taxt of M. Rusu's motion was as follows—"The chamber is determined to support only a Government resolved to support only a Republican institutions, and to secure jurbic order and passes to the order of the day." After the growth was annousced the socialists shouted: "Vive in Republique." The Minister left the House and the chamber adjourned.

Danger of Pinne Practice.

Dr. Wasteold, says Le Journal d'Hygiene, thinks that the chloroses and nouveresse from which so many young ginks offer may be largely astributed to the abuse of the plane. It is necessary, says the author, to abandon the dendly habit of compelling young girls to hammer on the keyboard before they are 15 or 16 years of age. Even at this age the carecise should be permitted only to those who are really talented and are possessed of a robust temperament.

Dr. Waetzold shows that out of 1,000 young girls studying the plane before the age of 18 years 000 were affilied with nervous troubles later on, while the number having affections of this kind was only $00 for those who commenced the study of the plane at a later age, and only 100 were affected among those who had never touched, this instrument. The study of the violin produces even more dieastrous results than those attributed to the plane.

Ba Made a Handsome One When He Dissevered His Error.

During the early sixties, relates J. E. Bogers in the New York Times, I cooupted rooms, or, to be strictly truthful, a room, in she old Studio building, on Tenth street. It swarmed with avises of good fellows never got together under the same roof. There was not a single discordant element, and the gatherings held from time to time in the different studios will remain with me among the most valued memories of a somewhat eventful life. On these consistons people from the outside world frequently dropped in; other artists, literary men of the Bohemian sort, with perhaps an actor or two on the off nights, all men whose presence save an additional flavor to the mixture, until it came to be like the old "Century club punch," a joy to be remembered, and too subtle to be amalyzed.

like the old "Century club punch," a joy to be remembered, and too subtle to be analyzed.

One evening Edwin Booth was present and, finding the company congenial, made himself so agreeable that I was very corry when an engagement took me away at a comparatively early hour. The next evening I dropped into the Century club for a little goastp and found Mr. Booth thera. He was the center of a group of men with whom I was on such terms of intimesy that I did not hesitate to join them. The saual greetings were passed until I came to Booth, when I received a look that went through me like cold steel. Supreme contempt was never so expressed before or since. Just one look, and then, without further notice, he turned his back on me and began to talk to the other members of the group. Of course there was nothing to be said, and I got away as soon as possible. Presently, however, I began to be angry. This is not simply a cut, thought I, but a premeditated insuit. I became furious and was ready for an explosion then and there, but just at that time Launt Thompson came up and took me site ities. "How in the name of common sense."

"How in the name of common sease," said he, "did you come to play a practical joke on Booth?" Now, of all disagresable creatures, I detest most heartily the practical joke, a seasture to be kicked out of any respectable community. I resented even the implication and refused to stoop so far as to deny that I had been guilty of such a thing, supressing in good ast terms my opinion of those who balleved it. It seemed, as it came out afterward, that during the previous evening's entertainment, which took place in Thompson's study, a man about town who had been dining heavily, thinking to get a joke on both of us, took the opportunity offered by my departure to play a shabby trick on Booth and throw the blasse on ine.

The upshot of the matter was that in a day or two came a note from Booth asking me to accept his box at the Winter Garden for a certain night and meet him in his dressing room between the third and fourth acts of "Hamlet." Of course I accepted the invitation, and in due time appeared at the door of the little dressing room on the left of the stage at the Winter Garden theater. On entering I found, to my surprise, all the members of the group that had witnessed the soone at the club, Booth, who had just come off the stage and was in full costume, made an apology so bandsoms that I blushed as I received it and went away full of admiration for the man who knew so well what was due to himself and when the necessity came sould make an apology so ample that it left the recipient in his debt.

The Pygusies.

The Pygmales.

I lived two years near one of the pygmy sestilements near the town of Dombi, in the remote Upper Kasal country. Their characteristics are clearly marked. They subsist solely by the chase. They never outivize the soil at all. Those near me sold their game for farinaceous food to the dominant tribes. They may that they never did dig for food.

Before the big people came they got their food from game and various roots, yams and note in the bush. They lived in the country before the big people (Bantu) came and destroyed most of their forefathers. Some of them were taken aptive by the Bantu and kept to hunt for them; others took refuge in the great forests. They are of very small stature, a man with a family being no larger than a 10-year-old boy.

I know one ones where a girl's age, by inconsestable record, was nearly 80, and I have her photograph, and she was positively not more than three five in height. They have a distinct language, which is the same for all the entire country between Tanganylia and the west const. It is a very guttural tongue, and the other natives marely mask it.—Stoctator.

BEAVERTON MURDER CASE.

New Trial Asked for -Lawyer Claims In

Toronto. June 13.-The Divisions Court this morning reserved judg ment on an application for a trial for Edward Elliott, under sontence to be kanged for the murder o William Murray, at Beaverton, Nov. 12th last. The bench was occupied by the Chancellor, Sir John Boyd, and by the Chancellor, Sir John Boyd, and Justices Meredith and Robertson.

Mr. T. E. Codann, of Beaverton, appeared for the prisoner. Reciting from the evidence taken at the trial, he' represented to the court that Edward Elliott, the prisoner, a boy between 15 and 16 years of age, was arrested by Constable Smith and Reeve McMillan. They placed the me custody, and, after advising him that any statement he might make would be used against him, they proceeded to interregate him. Before any squestion was asked the prisoner and—"D did not kill Bill Murray." He was then asked by the constables what he had done with the key of Murray's house, and he told them be had hid it under the sidewalk.

A Plea for Prisoners.

A Plea for Prisoners.
These statements had been admitted as swidence in the trial before Judge BlackBabon, and Mr. Godson submitted to the court that the prisoner had not been sufficiently cautioned, and had been examined in custody. He argued that the time had down a ruling to protect prisoners from being examined by constables and detectives, who, from the excess of their seat in pursuit of crime, did not deal justity or fairly with those whom whey took into custody.

Justice Meredith—I don't know what a detective in for if it is not to ask questions.

But Godson—Once the examination goes to the jury as swidence the harm is those.

Justice Merodith—You call it harm.
I would call it by another term.
Tontinuing Mr. Godmon drew the attention of the Court to the fact that the prisoner had made no confession through remorae or repentance. He was a young by and did not thoroughly appreciate the position he was in.

Prisoners Well Protected.

Primmers Well Producted.

Chancellor Boyd did not see the necessity for the court ralling against the admission of statements made at examination conducted by constables and detectives, as evidence in trials. The primmer is supposed to be informed that any statement he makes may be used against him, and, fluids, there is the privilege of contradiction, under oath contradiction even of consmions. Eaid the Chancellor—"There is the case of Clara Ford, who made confessions rulors and contradiction prevailed. She was acquitted, and the jury held an at home at her house."

With regard to the evidence concerning the buyes, the Chancellor would admit it as it was a fact.

If reply, Mr. Godson showed that the primers had said the tweet was corning the myen, the Commonitor would admit it as it was a fact.

In reply, Mr. Godson showed that the prisoner had said the keys were to be found his a cartain place, and they were not found there.

"Well," said the Chancellor "the jury would weight that point."

Another injustice done the prisoner, counselpheld, was that the constables would not allow him to see his solicitor made application to see the prisoner and was refused admission to him on two days.

Justice Meredith—Why was a habeau corpus not application for There is always a remedy for these things.

Mr. Godson—Tea, and I see applying for the remedy now, My Lord.

Denuty Attorney-Gueeral Cartwright; maintained that evidence takes at these examinations was always a dimitted, except in isolated cases by judgen in the Single Court, but the Court of Queen's Bench always admitted the evidence.

THE LAKES OF KILLARNEY

After Bring Open to the Public, now Likely to be Loried up in Private Stands. to be locked up in Private, now thinky to be locked up in Private Rinds.

As there may be men with millions about who hold that to die rich is to die Ringrased, it may interest them to know that the beautiful and songhunored Calena of Killarzay are in puril of becoming the private property of the unfeeling Philistine, and that Ireland would gladly sea them henceforth free for all who came to see. A patriotic Queen's counsel writes from Dublis to the Times on the subject. He says that the beautiful district known as the labes of Killarzey consiste, as most people know, of a chain known as the labse of Killarney con-siste, as most people know, of a cheir of labtes in a most pirturesque setting of woods and meadows, high hills and amiling valleys. Practically the whole district belongs to two proprietors, the Earl of Kommare and Mr. Herbert, of Bfucktrons. The estates of both had for generations been open to the pub-lic, but of late tolls have been charged for, admission.

Happily the connection of the Herroric author with their historic actatic is about to cause; the agricultural land has been sold to the tenants, and in a few weeks the massion house and demands will be offered for sale. The new purchaser could do as he pleased with the Lakes of Killarney. The public have no rights of way or otherwise on the bunks of the lakes, and gnossibly a right to smbark, and disembark at flows quay; it is more than doubtful that they have any rights on the water. The new, owner of Mucharom, could, if he so pleased, shut out the public from Muckrom Abbay, the Tore waterfall. Plaint Lakes, the call down the woods, probably close the middle him, in a word, wipe out the Killarney Lakes as one of the world's great playgrounds. The Lakes of Killarney are, to put them at their lowest; a most valuable anest of the kingdom of Ireland. They attract many thousands of whiters a warr of matter of national importance. All their fate is therefore a matter of national importance. All thinks of that advantage ought to be spon to all. Who is to undertake this work? Outsides the Greinston family where me in Ireland no public-depirted millionates who would present the untion with a noble said. There is not public body with either funds or powers sufficient for the task. The matter has its publical importance, for no man can doubt that if there arised in ireland any Parliament or similar body it would never allow this opportunity pure of securing for the public the chipyment of the fairnet made in all the intend. It is bulleved that the price toward that the price toward the recty metals.

...A SECRET...

When' Duris married I arranged to allow her a coughs of bundred a year, on possition that she suspt it a searct, I am blessed with a number of other naices to whom I have no desire to allow maything. They're all nice girls my their way, and I've no particular rault, to find with them but they aren't floris. She was always my favorite, from the time abe began to talk, No doubt it was artful of her mother to teach her to my, "Nice unnels" before she could todels; but also did, and that settled the question of favoritism.

Liptiw is a rodiantic young person, with a weakness for writing poetry and all that sort of thing, and she had some excuples about keeping a secret from her husband; but I is assetd.

"Of course, if Harry should ever be hard up, you'll have to tell him and gu shares," I said. "But I' he has fault."

"He ham't," she assured me.

"Well, at he had, it wourd be a tendency to extravagable. It is much batter that he should underrate the resources of the establishment." So at last she consented, I always had a good, the of influence over her. DENATURALIZATION.

"Denaturalization" is a term which is now applied to that process which remoters certain substances unfit for fluxum consumption. The process has become a necessity in modern times in order to promote fairness in commercial competition and to cheapen certain commodities when used exclusively in industrial, operations. Thus a, few years ago the imanufacture of caffeine was almost monopolized by Germany on broount of the fact that test intended for human consumption in this country was too expensive to extract. Owing, however to the representations of English scientific manufacturers, a revised resident of the representations of English scientific manufacturers, a revised that it was "denatured" and rendered wholly unfit for human consumption by trasting with lime and associde.

Ten. Areated in this why is now used profitably for the manufacture of enfleins and English has become the chief seat of the manufacture. And he completely turned the fables upon her competitors, for now the alkaloid is experted from this country to Germany and America. A similar example, we believe because in the case of damaged or usclaimed tobacco which previously was destroyed in the "Queen's pipe" at the docks. Instead of this wasterolog on, such tobacco is now harpely used for the nreparation of microline washes for killing vermin. Ac. Without "denaturalization" alcohol for the purpose of the arts and industries would be so excensive as to be prohibitive, because it would be drinkable. But 'recourse his been made to adding a substance to the spirit which make it undrinkstole, but which at the evil tendency of human nature, the vile mixture became a cheo and fammable, while the method obtaining at the properties for certain manufacturing purposed, but even this has been found to be an interfacturily without on the result anded in the proportion of one-tenth to washed for any time and the proportion of content in a said to

Last in Their Hands.

There was a crowd around the counter of a down town jewelry store where watches are received for repairs. A woman who was evidently in a hurry made her way to the place where the man with the magnifying glass stood and handed a little watch to him.

"Will you please tell me what alls this watch?" she asked.

The watch doctor opened the case deliberately, perred into the works and said. "It needs cleaning."

"My, that seems etrange?" said the woman. "You cleaned is only a few months ago."

"It that so?" seked the man and opened the case once more and made another ex-

"In that of I must be mistaken; but how do you know when it was eleaned last?"

The man explained that it was no trick of messory, but simply the result of a system. "Whenever a watch is brought to m," he said, "to be cleaned, regulated, repaired or "ined my was put a tag on it, which is mudhered to correspond with a number in our workhook. In the book we reserd the style and make of the watch, the owner, what repairs are to be made and the aments disarged for the work, and when the workman finishes the job he puts the amen amber in miscassopic figures on the edge of the inner one. A latter or sign also shows what has been done to the watch. So, you see, when a watch dones here we look for a mark of that kind, and when we find it we rufur to the book, and there you are."

The woman left the watch with the man of system, and when she had gone he said: "That happens many times every day. We have the mest fun with the people whe my. You gearmited it, and here it is out of order again." The glass menally reveals the fact that the watch are placed with them for repairs, but no two lave have the same ayetem. Hones of the workman and a record number after it, some mark the watch with them for repairs, but no two have the same ayetem. THE ALIEN LAW.

the New Atlin Law, so as to Allow Amer-teams to be Fineer Biners.

The Vancouver World says—C. W. Sawers, harrister of this city, will leave for Atlin by the Cutch to-night, armed with probably a larger number of powers-be-attorney than were ever carried by another man. They number aways up in the thousands, and Mr. Sawers idea is to break the alien law of Atlin. He will not break the law in the usual same of the word, but will attempt an avasion by perfectly legal measus, ab as to let Americans enjoy the privileges of the country. Mr. Sawers says that he has worlind out af way by which aliens could legally acquire and hold claims in the Province, and that the exclusion clause of the placer mining set would be a dead letter. As soon as he had drawn upon effect of his planes he submitted them to the leading attorneys in this city for an opinion and their replice attention him that he had made no mistakes. Your correspondent was teams to be Pincer Miners.

and the draft documents submitted careful consideration and are of the spinion that the plan proposed by you inafessible and only be legally and extinsfactorily carried out. We return herewith the several draft documents. We do not frake any changes in them, as we think thay embody all that is required, to carry out the object proposed."

posed."

N. F. Hagel, Q. C., writes as follows—"B have cobaidered the matters you have submitted to me and am of the opinion that the purposes that you have in view mey lawfully be accomplished by the plan you have adopted. There does not seem any valid legal objection under the late Placer Eliniag act to your making the arrangements you propose." with such opinions to back him up Sfr. Sawors is estisfied that there will be pienty of scope for Americans and people of other nationalities to work in the Atlin district. These powers of attorney particularly authorize Mr. Sawers to take up and arrange for the development and working of claims in that district. He carries with him an open letter from Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, late Minister of Justice for Canada, who is one of the many prominent Canadians opposed to the exclusion act.

UNITED STATES' TROOPS HAVE A SEVERE ENGAGEMENT

iwashington, June 18.—The following cablegram, has been received from Otle-Marila, Cune 18.—Adjutant General, Washington—Lawton's troops had severe engligement to-day with enemy in strong entremchments at crossing Sespote river, near Bacolor, Cavite province; has drivent enemy with beavy loss; our assustines some thirty. Insurgents in this southern section not molested; until threatened attack is atrong force on Manila; now scattered and in retreat; doubtful if they make further stand. Signed, OTIS.

J STORY OF AN ASSASSINATION.
Manila, June 13.—3.25 p. m.—Information believed to be reliable has remead, here of the assassination of General Luna and his aide-de-camp, Lieut. Pauso Ramon, on June 8, by Aguicaldo's guard at the beadquarters of Aguicaldo. Luma and Ramon, it happears, want to the Filipino headquarters to confer with Aguinaldo, got into an altercation with the captain of the guard and one of them drew a revolver. The guards then killed Luna and Ramon with their bayonets.

WICKED WICHITA

I haven't been in Wichita before since it was "the end of the track," and the wildest and wirhedest townin the west, writes William E. Curtis in the Chicago Reford. It was the centre of the cat-tle, 2rade in those dyes, the shipping point for the Texas berds; the end of the trail, where thousands of steers which had been driven across the ranges of Indian territory were load-ed on the cars every week to be bhipwhich had been driven across the ranges of Indian territory were loaded on the cars every week to be bhippedy to the eastern markets. Everything was wide open then with a vengence, and the cowboys were kings.

One night I attended an entertainment is the Palace Opera House, or a place with some such asme, kept by "Rowdy foe," a famous character who had formerly been known as Joseph Lowe, of La Salle, Ill. He was a boatman, before he came to this country, and had won an envisible reputation as "the toughest man in Kanma." Mr. Lowe heet a dinne house combined and Mrs. Lowe, who was batter known as "Rowdy Kate," was his cashier and first liestensat. Together they made a powerful team, and the attractione of their place of business were well advertised between the Missouri river and the Rocky moustains. There was stothing to beat it then, and there has been nothing to beat it then, and there has been nothing to beat it then, and there has been nothing to beat it mose.

On the swealing of my arrival—it was in the spring of "7—I attended a vaudeville constrainment at this famous place, and the great attraction was a "surlo-comic artiss" of the femium persualion, whose pictures were plastered on all the dead walls in town. At the close of her first trumber, while whiting for the appiases to subside, she leaned against the side of one of the atage boxes which was occupied by a gigantic drover and a party of friends. With his long arms he reached over the rail, grabbed her around the walst, lifted her into his box and placed her calmiy upon his lensed in less time than it takes to tell it.

The audience was furious at the familiarities taken with its favorits, and therefiers a fush for the stage. The big drover dropped the girl, and, drawing his revolver, hald the crowd at hay. Then bedlam broke loose, and pratty soon mearly everybody began for more isench to another, struck a big karoasne lamp with his head and and ent it flying into the midst of the

The udor at this time is bad enough, but when the chain begins to come in it becomes almost unbearable. Some of the harbors in the tropics, indeed nost of them, are fithy, and there are brought up from their bottoms all sorts of disagreeable convenirs of your visit. When I was first before the mast, on more than one occasion I almost succumbed to the frightful odor, and I have known finicky young tars who actually had to leave the ahip because they could not perform this part of their duties without fainting.

"But of the real danger. Each link has to be carefully placed in its proper position as the chain comes slowly in, for otherwise when it came to dropping anchor again the whole side of the ship might be torn out. Sometimes through the carelesment of the men on deck the windlass is allowed to slip, and the chain begins to run out at a great rate. Then a fellow has to be quick, or he will be dragged up through the shoot and his life crushed out. He is warned of the danger by the metallic rattle and the smoke arising from the friction as the fast moving chain comes in content with the shoot, and he presses as far bank as he can from the iron mass, for he knows too well that a terrible death awaits him if his clothing should become entangled in the chain as such a moment. Only a few voyages since on my ahip a man was eaught in this way. The mate, who was by his side, managed to rescue him, but it doing so was himself carried along with the chain as such a moment. Only a few its doing so was himself carried along with the chain as such a moment of the light was extinguished. Of course I could not stop in my work to let those above know what had happened, for the misplacing of a single link, as I have said, might result to be and the proper of a sudden I heard a sound that filled me with terror—the rattle of the chain as it began to swiftly pay out. A FINANCIAL CRISIS

The Climax Was Forced by a Relent-less Slot Gas Meter.

The Climan Was Ferred by a Relenties Blot Gas Meter.

And the slot meter, with its joshing clothes on, can turn some awfully embarrassing tricks. Now there is a young man living in a nice little flat not far from Park avenue, and he had one of the slot meters put in because he holds that it is better to pay for everything as you go and then you know where you stand. For a month past the young man has been runaing close to the wind financially and concemy of the strictest sort has been his watchword. Also the young man's wife, being a woman of inderstanding, has cut arpsaces down to the minimum. Last Friday the young man expected to make a raise down town during the day, but the man he expected to meet disappointed him, so he went home without a cent in his clothes, and, to make matters werea, there was no money in the house.

Nothing of the financial crisis in this household appeared on the surface, however. The flat is handsomely furnished, and when some friends to the number of half a dozan called Friday evening everything looked prosperous. The host and hostess were both untiling as young folks will smile through adventy, and matters were drifting along right merrily until the gas went out.

At that instant the young man realised with horror that there wasn's a penny in the house and that the sum of $5 cents wherewith to proprints the god of the gashouse was an impartive necessity.

"My dear," he said "remulously." 'er—hare you a quarter in change."

"Good gracious, Charlie!" esped the lady somewhat hysterically, but still with great presence of mind. "There isn's a thing in the house but a $10 bril."

"I've got some change," and one of the visitors, forking out a handful of silver.

The Settip Islands.

The Sellly Islands.

A letter written by a New York artist who is painting there gives an enthusiastic description of the Sellly islands, which have so far been comparatively unknown to American tourists. Even the English have been slow in realizing the charm of the islands so man their own shores, but it essents that this spring many artists have seen to "daffedth land," and the winter exhibitions will prebably be flooded with pictures of the islands. Daffedils have always grown in great prefusion in the Sollly islands. February and March are the height of their blossoming times, and in quote the artist's letter:

"The whole land in a blasting on of brilliant yellow daffedils surging, up upon gray rocks and falling back in fount bursts of white narcians. Even the tellp fields in Holland don't give such gorgoon effects of color. You should stand on one of the little hills here and look arrows the sunlit fields if you want to see the lovellest things in the world. Yet sometimes I think the flower drifted land is mere beautiful under moonlight them in the daylight, and daytime or nighttime the air is secreted as though it blew stunight from Araby the blest." A MODERN CRUSOE

The Jitte island is the Pacific Ocean mid to have been mained by Japan and which, the United States was very desirous of sequiring is generally known he harrous islaned, but it is also known as Marquis, or Marcus, of Weaks, and more contented assumption is that it may have at one time been the property, or the resistence of a nother man of this mane. However this may be it was uninhabited for a long time, says the New York Herald, and it might be uninhabited even now if a wide-wake American ektiper had collected to apy it one fine morning a few years ago as he was cruising in the Pacific.

The name of the akipper is Captain Foster, and he is the commander of a selling vessel which piles between the Orient and San Francisco Hie was making one of his usual course. True he found the island uninhabited and harves, but then he was shrewd enough to see that it might prove of considerable value in the future, and consequently, as there was no evidence that early one owned ft, he determined to take it under him own protection.

Having arrived at this decision, he returned to his cabin and wrote a politic better to Jumes G. Hazine, who was then Secretary of State, informing him of his new acquisition and requesting permission to hoigh the United States Flag thereon. No American ever appreciated an advanturous deed more than Mr. Blaims, and it did not take him long to send word to the modern Robinson Cranen that he was at full liberty to hoist the United States flag from the modern Robinson Cranen that he was at fall liberty to hoist the United States flag from the most occapionous peak of his new domain. This is not surprising, for until recently (no one except Captain Foster sessing to have thought the island of any value. It is only five miles long and densely covered with trees and shrubbery. When a subinspector was hearing a class of London Irish boys repeat Macaulay's "Horatiua," he inquired whether three soldiers would be likely nowadays to hold a bridge against a whole army.

"Would three Englishmen, for example?" he said.

"Would three Scotchmen?"

They again dissented.

"Would three Irishmen?"

DOWN A MOUNTAIN SHOOT.

The Fas.est Time That Was Ever Made In the Saddie.

"I once took an involuntary hair raising ride," said a western man. "It was in Colorado a number of years ago. I was in the lumber business at the time and had a s.wmill in a valley at the foot of an enormous mountain spur, covered with pina. The place where the best timber was cut was perhaps a mile away, and to save roundabout hauling we built what we called log shoots. They were simply V shaped troughs, as near straight as possible, running down the mountain side to the millipard.

"When a tree was felled, it was trimmed up, dumped by the marest aboot and went down like a 10 inch shell. In the course of time the friction wore all the troughs as smooth as glass and also drove them into the ground, so they were mostly finah with the surface. One winter day I was out inspecting, riding a tough mutang pony, and concluded to visit a tract that had been worked over and shandoned. The ground was thickly covered with smow, and the pony was cautiously picking his way when suddenly he lurched forward and fell. I stuck in the saddle, and the next thing I knew we were whisting through space like a rockes.

"You see, he had accidentally stepped into an abandoned log shoot, and as his legs were doubled under his body it was impossible for him to got out, but I discovered all that afterward. It happened so quickly I had no time to think, and all I resember of the ride is that swift swoop of parhaps five asconds and then a sail through the air. Some obstruction had lotted me off, and I lit in a snow bank 90 feet away. The horse, poor brute, was carried on about a quarter of a mile to a break in the trough, and dashed against a pile of bowlders dead as a doornall. I was comparatively unhurt, but so summed and shaken up that it took me several hours to crawl back to the mill. The distance I actually traversed in the shoot was about 300 garda, and I am prepared to belt was the fastest time ever made in the studie."

the Hawyer Leat lits Citest in the Chest in the Meyer.

A good story is told of a Kanasa City lawyer. He is more of a corporation lawyer than anything clee, but once in awhile he has been called upon to show his knewledge of criminal law. It was not so verying ago that he was in Oklahoma, and he undertook the defense of a negro who had killed a white man. The feeling against the negro was intense, and it had been colly through the most streamous efforts of the officers that he had been permitted to live for his trial. It was very evident that an unprejudiced jury could not be obtained in the little place where the erime was committed, and it was the intention of the Kanasa City man to sak for a change of venue. After he had worked on the case for some time he assortained that the judge was going to deny anything like a change and that his man was to be tried and hanged as soon as possible. The lawyer thought long and hard over the matter and finally hit upon a scheme which he thought would be successful in influencing the court.

By the liberal use of money he successful thought would be successful in influencing the court.

By the liberal use of money he succeeded in securing a dozen men who, when the negro was brought into the courtroom, were to cry: "Hang him! Hang him!"
The lawyer thought that this would be evidence of the prajudice against his client that could not be overlooked by the court. The day for the trial arrived, and the defendant was brought into court. As soon as he made his appearance a dozen shouts went up:

"Hang him! Hang him! Hang the Ellack scoundre!"
The cry was taken up all over the court-thack soundrel!"

The cry was taken up all over the coursroom, while the attorney smiled to himself as he asw his little scheme; snoosed; but, to his horror, the crice redoubled in force, the crowd-surged in an irresistible wave toward the prisoner, and before it could be prevented the negro was taken out and hanged to a convenient tree.
The young Kansas City attorney now confines himself entirely to corporation law and politics.

"Ah, yes," returned the president, "but, you see, I can't keep her in water!"
"It is not necessary, since you keep her in such excellent spirits," was the reply.
Here Mra. Cleveland interposed, saying, "I am afraid you are guilty of flattery," whereupon came the reply:

LATEST ABOUT THE ACCIDENT.

Yesterday morning upon the arriwhy of the C. P. R. express at 4.42 clock, the station authorities were notified that parts of a human hody were lying along the track near the namal bridge. Upon investigation Lt wast found that a tramp, who its compamy with other hoboss, had struck by a train at Ashburnham, be tween the diamond and the diamond house, and was hadly mutilated, head being almost severed from the body. The arms, hody and neck were badly Engeviriently caught him at the left dries of the necks and gone across his right shoulder. He lay across truck, his feet being inside the north rail and the shoulder resting upon the south raid. He was about 35 years of age. It was learned that he was known aw "Liverpool Shorty," but nothing further regarding him could then tified, and he had the body removed to Comstock's undertaking establishment An inquest was not discused necessary and it was decided to inter him at once at the expense of Ashburnham.

Last evening a representative of the Times visited the scene of the accident and met two tramps, stated that they had known " buol Shorty" for nearly two weeks, and that although they do not member having ever heard him tell his name, yet he told them that five years ago he was a hard-working mechanic, a moulder, in Boston, and took to the road because he lost his position and was unable to procure other. They stated that they had been drinking heavily last night and hald got separated, and knew nothing about the accident until they heard of it' yesterday! afternoon.

questing permission to hoist the United States Flag thereon. No American ever appreciated an advanturous deed more than Mr. Blains, and it did not take him long to east word to the modern Robinson Crusos that he was at full liberty to hoist the United States flag from the most conspicuous peak of his new domain. This was welcome news to Captain Foster, and a faw hours after it reached him the Stars and Stripes were raised on the island, and there they have waved ever since, not a single great power uttering a word of protest, but all, on the contrary, tanitly if not openly, resognizing Captain Foster's ownership and the sumerainty of the United States.

This is not surprising, for until recently two one arrough Captain Foster seems to have thought the island of any value. It is only five miles long and density covered with trees and shrubbery. A white, candy beach surpounds it, and near its centre is a knoil rising shout two hundred feet above the sea. It is in 24.4 degrees north and 154.2 degrees cant, and is near the track of vessels plying between Honolulu and Yokohama, using being 2,700 miles distant from Honolulu, and one the direct route to Manilia.

The story told by the Cleveland man is a little different, but it shows the same quickness of reportee. It is the history of a comrade who served is Cuba. He was ordered to bring some wood for the camp fire. He was wood for the camp fire. He was a alow-paced tellow and took a good deal of time in executing the order. After a white he was seen returning with a small log. The officer who had given the order saw him coming. Him auger rose at the man's dilatory movements.

"Here, you," he cried, across the camp ground, "double quick, there!"

The soldier looked up, sainted and ploutied along.

The soldier luoted up, satuted and ploutied along.
When the neared the officer the latter was in a white heat.

"What do you mean by not obeying orders?" he roared.

"What orders, air?"

"Dian't you hear the order to double quick?"

"I, heard you say double quick."

"Well, why in biue blases didn't you double-quick?"

The soldier put his heals together and matted. Then he drawled—

"Because, sir, I didn't hear the command march."

And the officer hadn't another word to say.

Lawyer Who Made His Pica in a rengue the Jury Could Understand.

Every old timer in Tacoms, or, in fact, in the state of Washington, either remembers or had a personal acquaintance with storage Frank Clark. Clark has been lead some years, but during a conversion between attorneys his name came up, ollowed by the narrative of this incident in his carrer?

"Many years ago," said the lawyer telling the story, "Clark had as a client's man arrested on the charge of cutting timber on government land. The United States was represented by two federal attorneys, brought from a distance, either Portland or San Francisco, if I remember arighs. When these lawyers came into court, there followed behind them a porter who unloaded upon the table fronting the fudge's bench armful after armful of tooks. Clark stood in with three volumes of law under his arm. The jury was composed untirely of loggers and ranchers. Opening the case, the imported lawyers delved deep into the tomes of law before them and cited decision after decision bearing on the case on trial. Then, using language one-half of the words of which were too extensive for the jury's understanding, they launched into their argument.
"As the United States attorners finish."

"As the United States attorneys finished Clark arose, pleked up one of his law books, and, without opening the volume, threw it aside. The next book shared the same fate. The third was opened only to be cast aside. Clark then squared himself to the form.

aume fate. The third was opened only to be cast aside. Clark then squared himself to the jury.

"'Nesika tillicums!' he commenced, and then in a flow of Chinook jargon went on to plead his client's cause. There was not a man on the jury but what understood every sentiment Clark conveyed, whereas the high flown language of the imported attorneys had been utterly lost to them. "In vivid Cfilnook Clark painted a word ploture of the trials and tribulations of the sottler in the wilds of a Washington forest; of the desperate effort necessary to maintain wife and bables. And because his elient had hauled a wagon load of cordwood to the village store to trade for food he had been arrested and his family deprived of his support.

"There was possibly not one in the jury box but who had at some time been in the position Clark pictured. Every sympathy in them was aroused. Tears trickled down their rugged cheaks as Clark's Chinook flowed on.

"The lawyers from afar were awake to the disadvantage they were being placed under. An objection was astered to Clark's use of Chinook or any other language which the opposing counsel could not understand.

"Your homor," answered Clark, 'the which the opposing counsel could not understand.

"'Your honor,' answered Clark, 'the jury here is to decide this case. The eminent gentlemen for the prosecution have used language so grandiloquent that not one of the jury has understood its purport. I am speaking to them in the simple talk of the western frontiersman, understood alike by both Indian and white man who traverse and have been instrumental in the development of this northwest. My language, call it jargon if you wish, explains to the jury, and if I mistake not, also, your bonor, the situation. I have but a few words more to say, and, with the court's permission, will continue in Chinook."

"The permission was granted and Clark's olient acquitted without the jury leaving their seats."

The Cigar Smoker.

The Cigar Smelter.

When you see a man grip a cigar between his teeth and hold it fast, careless of whether it burns or not, you can set him down see an aggressive, calculating and exacting individual.

If a man smokes a cigar deliberately, just enough to keep it lighted, and delights in taking it from his mouth and watching the blue smoke from it ourl upward, he is likely to be an easy going man, good natured and honest.

There is another follow who smokes intermittently, takes a pull and then rests and fumbles his cigar about. He is age to have little decision of character and to be easily affected by circumstances. A man may be nervens and frusble his cigar a good bit, and in this event he is a would be swell, vain and frivolous.

He invariably tilts his cigar upward, while a semable, level honded fellow will hold it straight out from the mouth. When you see a man chewing upon an unlighted cigar and twisting it about, he is nervon, but of great tenacity.

A man who canpot keep his cigar alight has a whole souled disposition. He has a lively nature, is a hall fellow well met, eith of tengue and usually a good story teller.

HUMOR IN THE SMALL "ADS."

Franky Things Found in the Exchange Columns in Chicage.

There is more than one way of getting rid of some article you ion's want and getting hold of somewhat you really need, or think you need, which is the same thing. If a man owns a dog and hankers for a watch, he doean's have to sell the animal and then use the money in purchasing the timepisca. That was the way it was done years ago, but the "For sale or exchange" column in the Sunday newspaper has changed the method of operation. Planes are exchanged for sealskine and jewelry. Books are taken in trade for silverware for the table and harnesses. Sign painting goes for clothes and stenography for bleycles. One young woman advertises, "First class teacher, with best of references, will give stage or society dancing lessons for dry goods, shoes or anything useful." Another person says. "Opals or amethysts for silverware, typewriter or hardware." A laundress whe wants to learn to play the piano says. "Wanted—Plano lessons in exchange for laundry work, or what have you!" Apparently many of these traders are willing to take nearly snything of value and, of course, each one expects to get the better of the bargain. There must often be heart burnings and many and thoughts when the man who has traded an Angora cat for dental work finds that his teeth have been filled with plumber's soider, or the woman who has exchanged a Persian rug for an alarm clock discovers that the timeplece runs only on Thursday afternoons and then strikes nothing but $1.

One enterprising individual advertises, "Best French conversation in exchange for each or solid goods." It may be said that there are many persons who would also like to trade large bunches of "bast English conversation" for cheese sandwiches or an old pair of pants.

A family with lots of board, but a houseful of leaky types, wants to "exchange good board for plumbing; walking distance," and a man with a large wardrobe, but nothing to hunt with, wants "up to date gun for winter suit, No. 49." A hottel mas will "give inter

PALM VARIETIES OF CUBA.

There Are Twenty-siz Different Kinds on the Island.

Not only is the climate of Cuba favorable to the planting of crops whenever the farmer chooses to plant them and the lands so rich that no fertilization is ever required, but nature seems to have, with a beneficent hand, reared many strange trees and plants to supply the wants of man without the necessity of his planting them himself. First among these are the palms, some 30 varieties of which adorate fields of Cuba, giving shade, food and life. At the head of these stands the royal paim.

the haids of Cuns, giving snace, rout aim life. At the head of these sands the royal paim.

The royal paim consists of a tail, straight trunk of a very fibrous nature and supports a cluster of pinnated leaves like a bunch of piumes on a long stick. The leaves are large and leathery. These leaves continue to grow from the centur to a great length. When the leaves cannot grow any more, they drop to the ground from the bottom of the cluster, thus making room for the new ones which are always coming out of the centur. It also yields in the proper season yallow flowers. The fruit cannot be esten.

The stem of the long leaves is peculiar. It is semicircular and embraces the trunk of the true and holds the leaf in place uptil it withers and drops to the ground. The rembles a thin board and is often of great size, and it has a number of uses. The trunk of the true is without any bark, and its center is very porous, increasing in density toward the outer surface. From the hard outer shell of the trunk center of uses and the hard outer shell of the trunk center aptron which the leaves grow, consists of a tender substance buried deep down within the cluster of the green leaves and forms a very palatable food either in the raw state or cooked as a vegetable. It is also made into a preserve with sugars.

The royal palm is one of the meet common of all the trees in Oute. It is meet with everywhers, and in the center of the broad pasture lands it often stands alone. Bordering the cultivated fields of rich planters, it forms sheds avenues which lead to the dwellings.—Scientific Chromisle.

CHINOOK JARGON WON

A Lawyer Who Made His Plea In Tengne the Jury Coulé Understand.

Every old timer in Tacoma, or, in fact, in the state of Washington, either remembers or had a personal acquaintance with Attorney Frank Clark. Clark has been added some years, but during a conversation between attorneys his name came up, followed by the narrative of this inoident in his carver:

followed by the narrative of this incident in his career:
"Many years ago," said the lawyer telling the story, "Clark had as a client a man arrested on the charge of cutting timber on government land. The United States was represented by two federal atterneys, brought from a distance, either Portland or San Francisco, if I remember aright. When these lawyers came into court, there followed behind them a porter who unloaded upon the table fronting the judge's bench armful after armful of books. Clark stode in with three volumes of law under his arm. The jury was composed sattrely of loggers and ranchers. Opening the case, the imported lawyers delved deep into the tomes of law before them and crited decision after decision bearing on the case on trial. Then, using language one-half of the words of which were too arisensive for the jury's understanding, they launched into their argument.
"As the United States attentions finish."

"As the United States attorneys finished Clark arose, picked up one of his law books, and, without opening the volume, threw it aside. The next book shared the same fate. The third was opened only to be cast aside. Clark then squared himself to the jury.

same fate. The third was opened only to be cast aside. Clark then aquared himself to the jury.

"'Nasika tillicums!' he commenced, and then in a flow of Chinook jargon went on to plead his client's cause. There was not a man on the jury but what understood every sentiment Clark conveyed, whereas the high flown language of the imported attorneys had been utterly lost to them.

"In vivid Chinook Clark painted a word picture of the trials and tribulations of the sattler in the wilds of a Washington forest; of the desperate effort necessary to maintain wife and bables. And because his client had hanled a wagon losd of cordwood to the village store to trade for food he had been arrested and his family deprived of his support.

"There was possibly not one in the jury box but who had at some time been in the position Clark pictured. Every sympathy in them was aroused. Tears trickled down their rugged checks as Clark's Chinook flowed on.

"The lawyers from afar were awake to the diandvantage they were being placed under. An objection was erbered to Clark's use of Chinook or any other language which the opposing counsel could not understand.

"Your hence," answered Clark, 'the

The Cigar Smeker.

When you see a man grip a eigar between his teeth and hold it fast, careless of whether it burns or not, you can set him down as an aggressive, estoulating and exacting individual.

If a man smokes a cigar deliberately, just escough to keep it lighted, and delights in taking it from his mouth and watching the blue smoke from it euri upward, he is likely to be an easy going man, good natured and honest.

There is another follow who smokes intermitteently, takes a puff and then reste and fumbles his cigar about. He is apt to have little deciden of character and to be easily affected by circumstances. A man may be nervous and framble his cigar a good bit, and in this event he is a would be swall, vain and frivolous.

He invariably tilts his cigar upward, while a sensible, level headed fellow will hold it straight out from the mouth when you see a man shewing upon an unlighted cigar and twisting it about, he is nervons, but of great tenacity.

A man who cannot keep his cigar alight has a whole souled disposition. He has a lively nature, is a hall fellow well met, gill of tongue and usually a good story teller.

The sounce at the mouthy of the tet where the bodies are being brought up are heart-rending in the extreme; wives, muthers, einters, brothers and friends; are there, some frantic with grief, others tearful and anxious. It appears that a slight explosion occurred, stout: $30 c'clock this morning. Ellanger Brown and Underground Manager Hrown and Underground Manager Thomas Johnston want down to investigate, and about an hour later, a terrifiq explosion followed Johnston; was smong the killed and fruwn was brought up unconscious. Anti his life is in a precarious condition. Thus far only one of the bodies recovered showed much deligurement, death being caused sotely; by the overpowering fire damp. Some, of the bodies were found in a stooping or sitting position; and one or two were standing upright leaning against, the wall.

Thei mine had the most modern machinery of any colliery in Amurica and the explosion is a complete mystery. Furturately the mines had a slope as well fur the shaft, otherwise all must have persished. Those that escaped did not by the slope.

as day. John Johnston, assistant general manager, and Danial Merlin, underground manager, of the huge collisty, are leading the fight against the flames. The fire is in the west deep. It is thought the fire will be untien complete control in three or four hours. The explosion set fire to the timier, e great deal of which as is well known, is used in mines. The can has not taken fire yet and probably, judging from present reports, will sok.

REDICING THE RATES. Winnipeg, June 16.—Major Swinford, general agent of the Northern Pacific Railway in Manitoba made announcement last evening that the Northern Pacific will reduce local passenger rates in Manitoba from four

BRITIAN'S SCHEME OF ARBITRA-TION IS NOT AS SWEEPING AS WAS EXPECTED.

Anything tempelsor.

Any Ruch, June 16.—The correspondent of the Heratd at The Higue gives the following outline of the English arbitration proposal. It provides for the organization of a personnent tribusal of international arbitration, which shall be accessible at all times, and shall be governed by a code of arbitration to be provided for by the peacet conference; in that purpose. As permanent central office shall be satisfied with a parmanent secretary and archivist and a suitable staff, to serve as a melium of comminication for the assembling of the tribusal.

then signatory power is to appoint two jurists or publishes of high learning indi integrity, to act as judges on the tribunal.

Anyrof the signatory powers desirting to have recourse to the tribunal fout the peaceful settlement of differences shall give notice of its desire to the secretary at the central office and afterward shall select from the list of members of the tribunal the aumber of arbitrators stipulated for in the arbitrators artipulated for in the arbitrators artipulated for in the arbitratory agreement with permission to adjoin to them anyo'her person. The Utiganta themselves will fix the date for the assembling of the tribunal.

This outline shows that the English proposation the principle of arbitration and not making it compulsory in any way. Germany would probably profes the English scheme, but it is believed the conference—not wishing to be triffed with doing useless, work, as already wired, will agree upon a community of much more precise and enfount matter binding the American and Russian schemes.

The menfalar stipulate that all who have been suspended must be reinstated. This includes a station anaster and an operator who were suspended recently for giving information to the strikers. These two men, the sectionmen say, must be given their positions back. It is not expected that any settlement will be reached. Mr. Hayes must sign certais papers which will be forwarded to the strikers in the various districts before they will return to work. They say they wast no misuaderstanding this time.

Apostding to the Grand Trunk officials the mass will not gain such as overwhelming victory as would appear by the figureal desputches.

"You, can wager," said an official this morning, "that if the men re urn to work they will do en at the same wages they were receiving when the strike started.

POINCARE FAILS.

Did you ever notice the man in the switching-tower? Does it ever occur to you that the lives of every living person on a train frequently depend on the promptness and intelligence with which he moves the switch levers under his control? If men could only realize how small a thing may act at the critical instart to switch them from a dangerous track on the one of perfect safety, the yearly deaths from lung diseases would be less by many thousands.

I had a resular communities count of which.

The report of receipts during the year was as follows-

Yestpriary afterneous a Times' regreshmative has an interesting interview, with a clergyman of a rather peculiar religious sect. The gentleman was Elder W. E. Wheeler, at the Seventh Lay Advantists, of Boston, and he was seen in the C.P.R. station, the headquarters of the denomination.

Mr. Wheeler stated that the Seventh Day Adventists believe that the Christian Church had no right to change the Sabbuth from Saturday to Sanday. Both hallowed the seventh day, and that day, instead of the first day as is now observed, should, he thinks, be still observed by Christian people. It is because of this view that the denomination, has received the first part of their name, and the word Adventist is due to their belief that the second advent of Christ is not far distant. Mr. Wheeler says that the denomination also believes in the unconscious state of the dwid and is the annihilation of the wicked. He holds that the spirit cannot exist apart from the body, and not until the Day of Juligment will the dead be conscious. Then this earth will be made a perfect dwelling place, death shall be abolished, and those who have served for the will be their everlasting bome. The wirked, this seet believes, shall be annihilation fraternines with the other resistance of the transport of the man they are agreed.

EDWIN BOOTH'S APOLOGY.

Discovered His Errer.

During the early sixties, relates J. H. Bogses in the New York Times, I compled rooms, or, to be strictly truthful, a room, in the old Studio building, on Tenth street. It swarmed with artise of all descriptions, and a more delightful set of good fallows never got together under the same ruof. There was not a single discordant element, and the gatherings held from time to time in the different studios will remain with me among the most valued memories of a somewhat eventful life. On these obcasions people from the outside world frequently dropped in; other artists, literary men of the Bohemian sort, with perhaps an actor or two on the off nights, all men whose presence gave an additional flavor to the mixture, until it came to be like the old "Century club punch," a joy to be remembered, and too subtle to be analyzed.

flavor to the mixture, until it came to be like the old "Cantury club punch," a joy to be remembered, and too subtle to be analyzed.

One evening Edwin Booth was present and, finding the company congenial, made himself so agreeable that I was very corry when an engagement took me away at a comparatively early hour. The next evening I dropped into the Century club for a little gossip and found Mr. Booth there. He was the center of a group of men with whom I was on such terms of intimacy that I did not hestitate to join them. The usual greetings were passed until I came to Booth, when I received a look that want through me like cold steel. Supreme contempt was never so expressed before or since. Just one look, and then, without further notice, he turned his back on me and began to talk to the other members of the group. Of course there was nothing to be said, and I got away as soon as possible. Presently, however, I began to be angry. This is not simply a cut, thought I, but a premeditated insult. I became furious and was ready for an explosion then and there, but just at that time Launt Thompson came up and took me ene side. "How in the name of common sense," furious and was ready for an expression then and there, but just at that time Launt Thompson came up and took me one side.

"How in the name of common sense," said he, "did you come to play a practical joke on Booth?" Now, of all disagresshle creatures, I detect most heartily the practical joker, a creature to be kicked out of any respectable community. I resented even the implication and refused to stoop so far as to deny that I had been guilty of such a thing, expressing in good set terms my opinion of those who believed it. It seemed, as it came out afterward, that during the previous evening's entertainment, which took place in Thompson's studio, a man about town who had been dining heavily, thinking to get a joke on both of us, took the opportunity offered by my departure to play a shabby trick on Booth and throw the blame on me.

The upshot of the matter was that in a day or two came a note from Booth asking me to accept his box at the Winter Garden for a certain night and meet him in his dressing room between the third and fourth acts of "Hamilet." Of source I accepted the invitation, and in due time appeared at the door of the little drewing room on the left of the stage at the Winter Garden theater. On entering I found, to my surprise, all the members of the group that had witnessed the scene as the club. Booth, who had just come off the stage and was in full consume, made an apology so handsome that I blushed as I received it and went away full of admiration for the man who knew so well what was due to himself and when the necessity came could make an apology so ample that its left the recipient in his d-bt.

The Frygmise.

The Pygmies.

I lived two years man one of the pygmy settlements man the town of Dombi, in the remote Upper Kanai country. Their sharmoteristics are clearly marked. They subsist solely by the chass. They never sultivate the soil at all. Those near me sold their game for farinoscous food to the dominant tribus. They say that they never did dig for food.

Before the big people came they get their food from game and various roots, yams and nuts in the bush. They lived in the country before the big people (Bantu) came and destroyed most of their tordathers. Some of them were taken appive by the Bastu and kept to hunt for them; others took rufuge in the great forests. They are of very small stature, a man with a family being no larger than a 10-year-old bay.

HONEY FOR CHILDREN.

Botter Than Butter and Nature's Cure For the Candy Habit.

It would be greatly for the health of the present generation if honey could at least be partially restored to its former place as a common article of diet, says What to

Est.

In many cases it may be a matter of real seconomy to lessen the butter bill by letting honey in part take its place. A pound of honey will go about as far as a pound of butter, but if both articles he of the best quality honey will cost the less of the two. Often a prime article of extraobationey (squal to comb honey in every respect except appearance) can be obtained for half the price of butter or less.

We all know how children long for candy. This longing volves a need and is another evidence of the necessity of sugar in our dist.

Children abould have all the boney at each mealtime that they will eat. It is mader and will largely do away with the inordinate longing for eandy and other inordinate longing for eardy and other sweets.

At the present day honey is placed on the market in two forms—in the comb and attracted. "Strained" honey, obtained by mashing or molting combs containing bees, pollen and honey, has rightly gone out of us. Extracted honey is simply honey thrown out of the comb in a machine called a honey astractor.

The stilly stories seen from time to time in the papers about artificial combs being filled with glucous and deftly suched over with a hot iron have not the slightest foundation in fact. For years there has been a standing offer by one whose financial standing is unquestioned of $1,000 for a single pound of comb honey made without the intervention of the best. The offer remains untaken and will probably always remain so, for the highest art of man can never compass such delicate workmanship as the skill of the bee accomplishes.

Hare Hunting.

Hare hunting is undoubselly a more antique sport than the chase of the fuz. Xenophon pursued it with delight in ancient Greece, and in Britain the hare was for centuries looked upon as a far more worshy quarry than the for, which, until the time of Queen Elizabeth and even later, was regarded as mere versuin. Nicholas Coz, author of "The Gentleman's Recreation," a work on sport, published in 1677, writes thus enthusiastically: "As of all chases the hare makes the greatest pastime, so it is a great delight and estimation to see the craft of this little poor beast in her own self preservation." And it is to be admitted that in those shifts and expedients which afford to lovers of hounds the true delights of hunting the timid hare is at least as fertile as any known heast of chase in any part of the world.

An Answer and a Comment.

The inquisitorial magisterial inquiries have elicited some humorous answers. An eld sniler of 78, who reminded the magistrate that be had helped to work the ship that took fit George Gray and Bishop Salwyn to England, was asked had he ever been in prison.

"Not to my knowledge," was the reply of the ancient mariner.

The court smiled again when in answer to the query whether he had ever deserted his wife the ancient mariner indignantly retorted, "I never had no occasion to."

"Some do it without any occasion," dryly observed the magistrate.—London Chroniola.

"Does it say that, Emerson?"
"Well, mother, not in so many words.
The headlines read 'The Husky Bloke Put His Pard's Lamps on the Oute With a Brace of Doped Mitts,' but I infer that it means the came."

The Quick Irish Led.
When a subinspector was hearing a size of Loudon Irish boys repeat Macaulay's "Horatius," he inquired whether three addies would be likely nowadays to hold a bridge against a whole army.
"Would three Englishmen, iss enample?" he said.
"No, sir!" said the class.
"Would three Scotchmen?"
They again dissented.
"Would three Irishmen?"

Please, sir," shouted an excitable lis-tile fallow, "one Irishman would do it?"— Cornhill Masswine.

ATTEMPTO OF ASTOR

Our esteemed contemporary, the Ottawn Citizen, is kicking because the Ottawa Citises, is kicking because the Government buildings at the capital pay ac civic tax, although they represent one-half of Ottawa's wealth. Petertorough will gladly accommodate the Government with exemption if Ottawa is tired of the job. Sir Wilfred would, then have his Times every morning before breakfast, a reason almost sufficient to intuos a change. most sufficient to inition a change.

The Winnipag Free Press states that Mr. Ira Taylor, a former pupil of the Nprwood High School, at the recent examination, in connector with the filenitohm University headed the class in mathematics and carried off the libister prize—a gold medal and $10 libes.

"How shall we govern our colonises" asks the Chicago Record, and replies "First, the basis of their inutitations shall be similar in character and in quality to that of the United States." Which is a mighty poor outlook for the colored people who constitute the vast majority in the new colonies.

In introducing a Northwest game preservation bid in Parliament day before, yesterday, Bon. Mr. Sifton state-that the buffalo in the Northwest are immeasing in number. This is welcomer news the general idea being that there were no buffalo left to increase.

HUMOR IN THE SMALL "ADS."

Funny Things Found In the Eychange Columns In Chicage.

There is more than one way of getting rid of some article you don't want and getting hold of somehing you really need, or think you need, which is the same thing. If a man owns a dog and hankers for a watch, he doesn't have to sell the animal and then use the money in purchasing the timepleon. That was the way it was done years ago, but the "For sale or exchange" column in the Sunday newspaper has changed the method of operation. Planos are exchanged for sasiskins and jewelry. Books are taken in trade for silverware for the table and harnesses. Sign painting goes for clothes and senography for bicycles. One young woman advertises, "First class teacher, with bast of references, will give stage or society dancing lessons for dry goods, abose er anything useful." Another person says, "Opals or amethysis for silverware, typewriter or hardware." A laundress who wants to learn to play the piano says. "Wanted—Piano lessons in exchange for laundry work, or what have you?"

Apparently many of these traders are willing to take nearly anything of value and, of course, each one expects to get the better of the bargain. There must often he heart burnings and many sad thoughts when the man who has traded an Angora at for dental work finds that his test have been filled with plumber's solder, or the woman who has exchanged a Persian rug for an alarm clock discovers that the timeplece runs only on Thursday afternoons and then strikes nothing but $3.

One enterprising individual advertiess, "Best French conversation in exchange for each or solid goods." It may be said that there are many persons who would also like to trade large bunches of "best English conversation" for cheese sandwiches or an old pair of pants.

A family with lots of board, but a houseful of lesky pipes, wants to "exchange good board for plumbing; walking distance," and a man with a large wardrobe, but nothing to hunt with, wants "up to date gun for winter suit, No. 48."

A hotel man will "give interest

PALM VARIETIES OF CUBA.

Not only is the climate of Cuba favorable to the planting of crops whenever the farmer chooses to plant them and the lands so rich that no fartilization is ever required, but nature seems to have, with a benedicent hand, reserved many strange trees and plants to supply the wants of man without the necessity of his planting them himself. First among these are the plants, some 36 varieties of which adorathe fields of Cuba, giving shade, food and life. At the head of these stands the royal palm.

Many a woman gets old looking through worrying about the best way to conceal her age. —Philadelphia Record. Every mother thinks there is no baby on earth like her own, and every other mother is glad of it Tender hearted lagtes continue to attend meetings of the Audubon society wearing birds on their bonnets.—Philadelphia Bul-latin.

A girl whe hestians is marry broause marriage is a lottery will nevertheless ask a man to buy a 50 cent chance on a 10 cent dolly at a church fair.

A woman receives lots of comfort when she gets her husband's life insurance, but after she has lost it by foolish investments she seems to miss him and mourn for him more than ever.

who are looking forward to the coming of a new and preclous baby into the world first feel, is that they may not themselves be able to go safely through the trying ordeal, and secondly comes the fear that the darling little baby's life or health or general well-being may somehow be sacrificed.

But there is no real need of apprehension in either direction. If any woman who is expecting to become a mother will follow the example of Mrs. Orrin Stiles, of Downing, Dunn Co., Wis., the most perfect confidence may be felt in the happy outcome of this critical period, both for the mother and the child.

"I have been integding to write to you ever

"I have been intending to write to you ever since my baby was born," says Mrs. Billes in an interesting letter to Dr. B. V. Pierce of Budfalo. N. V.. "In regard to what your "Favorite Prescription" has done for me. I cannot praise it enough, for I have not heen as well for five years as I now am. In July last I had a baby boy, weight in Ro. I was sick only a short time, and since I got up. I have not had only womb trouble since I got up. I was not only surprised myself but all of my friends here are surprised to see me to well."

The proposeties of this serum! "Pres.

I was not only surprised myself but all of my friends here are surprised to see me to well."

The properties of this grand "Prescription" and what it has accomplished for thousands of women, are more fully described in one chapter of the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser by R. V. Pierce, M. D., a splendid thousand-page illustrated volume. It will be sent free paper-bound for 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only; or, cloth-bound for 30 stamps.

pretends) to be a non-combatant. And there is no way of proving that he is not telling the truth, because the whole country if filled with men of his race, some of whom are fighting and some of whom are peaceful, but all of whom are simplessible to isolate the inaurgents and administer crushing definats.

It is four months since the first fight, after which the American power hoped for speedy and quick supremacy, yet the Americane have come into effective possession of but a small part of the Philippines. Thathers to their apponents blows, the little Tagatos seemed to be glued to each other and to their leaders. They must have good stuff in them, and it is a pity they have to be hammered, but if the Americans had not gone after them the chances are things would have become a heap worse than they are now or can be. The most humans course is evidently to increase the American force to saffleient proportions to crush the opposition speedily, after which the Filipines will have a guarantee of peace, gafety, confort and justice they would never get within sight of by their own leave.

the offender punishment ranging in scale according to the enormity of the offense. Thus a man may consider himself fortunate if for his peccedilloss he is subjected to no greater physical inconvenience than having the nails of his fingers and toes torn out by the roots, suffering the loss of an eye, tongue, nose or, in more aggravabed instances, probably his hands and feet. A punishment which is reserved for extraordinary cases is the building up of the victim in plaster of paris, one of the most diabeliost and inhuman tortures that the mind can conceive.

A large hole is dug in the ground of sufficient length and depth to hold the hody of the intended victim, and into this hole he is placed, with his hands and feet security tied. Liquid plaster of paris is poured in over the body, incessing it in a modd. On settling it hardens and contracts, gradually squeezing the victim to death in an adamantine mold and cauring the most conventating torture. The body is allowed to remain in this state for weeks and months after death ne a warning to other offenders.

Himitar aboriginal methods are likewise observed in the trial of those accused of erims. This is more true outside of Hangholt, for in the latter city civilization has had some appreciable influence in lessuring these abuses. In Siam in general, however, the practice of trial by ordeal is still common. The commonest method is to give the accused and he is immediately punished. Should there be no trace he is given his freedom.

Ambject at the Presbyterian Assembly new being held in Hamilton.

Hamilton, June 16.—At the Pro-bytarian General Amemply in Hamilton yesterday, Rev. 1r. Warden presented the report of the commit ce on the century fund and moved its adoption. Whilst there was a diversity of view as to details, the general op nion was favorable to some step being taken for the purpose of giving a lift to the general work of the thurch in connection with the opening of the new century. A resolution would be submitted asking the thempty to approve of the principle. () /
Last evening the meeting was devoted to home missions.

The financial statement in connection with the Home Mission Fund showed that the receipts, including a ballence of $8.754 on April 1st. 1898. had been $82.066 and the disturements $81.448, leaving a belance of $613 on hond en April 1st best. The total unburst rebed for missions was $113.—017, of which the sum of $14.437 was raised by congregations for the sumport of their own missions over and above what is send to the General Assembly's own mission fund.

In a long address Dr. Warden announced that last year the revenus for home mission work was the largest in the bistory of the church. The Fancest Time That Was Even Hade in the saddle.

"I once took an involuntary hair rating ride," said a western man. "It was in Colorado a number of years ago. I was in the lumber husiness at the time and had a new multi he valley at the foot of an enormous mountain spur, covered with pina. The place where the best timber was cut was perhaps a mile away, and to save roundshous hanling we built what we called log shoot. They were simply V shaped troughe, as near straight as possible, running down the mountain side to the millyard.

"When a tree was felled, it was trimmed up, dumped into the marrest shoot and went down like a 10 inch shell. In the source of time the friction were all the troughs as smooth as glass and also drove them into the ground, so they were mostly flush with the surface. One winter day I was out inspecting, riding a tough musking pomy, and concluded to visit a tract that had been worked over and abandoned. The ground was thickly covered with snow, and the pony was cautiously picking his way when suddenly he lurched forward and fall. I stuck in the saddle, and the next thing I knew we were whisting his way when suddentally stepped into an abandoned log shoot, and as his legs were doubled under his hody it was impossible for him to get out, but I discovered all that afterward. It happend so quickly I had no time to think, and all I remember of the ride is that with sweep of perhaps five seconds and then a sail through the air. Some obstruction had joited me off, and I lit in a snow hank 20 feet away. The horse, poor brute, was carried on about a quarter of a mile to a broak in the trough and dashed against a gile of bowlders dead as a doornali. I was comparatively unhurt, but so stunned and shaken up that it took me sween hours about 200 yards, and I am prepared to be it was the fastest time ever made in the meddle."

HE GOT A CHANGE OF VENUE.

the Neve.

A good story is told of a Kansa City Lwyer He is more of a corporation lawyer than anything else, but once in swhile he has been called upon to show his knewladge of criminal law. It was not so very long ago that he was in Oklahoma, and he undertook the defense of a negro who had killed a white man The foeling against the negro was intense, and it had been only through the most strenuous efforts of the officers that he had been permitted to live for his trial. It was very evident that an unprejudiced jury could not be obtained in the little place where the erime was committed, and it was the intention of the Kansas City man to ask for a change of venus. After he had worked on the case for some time he ascertained that the judge was going to deny anything like a change and that his man was to be tried and hanged as soon as possible. The lawyer thought long and hard ever the matter and finally hit upon a scheme which he thought would be successful in influencing the court.

By the liberal use of money he succeeded in securing a dosen men who, when the negro was brought into the courtoom, were to cry: "Hang him! Hang him!" The lawyer thought that this would be evidence of the prajudice against his client that could not be overlooked by the court. The day for the trial arrived, and the defendant was brought into our. As soon as he made his appearance a dosen shouts went up:

soon as he made his appearance a dosen shouts went up:
"Hang him! Hang him! Hang the black scoundral!"
The cry was taken up all over the courtroom, while the attorney smiled to himself as he saw his little scheme success; but, to his horror, the ories redoubted in force, the arowd surged in an irresistible wave toward the prisoner, and before it could be prevented the negro was taken out and hanged to a souvenient tree.
The young Kansas City attorney now confines himself entirely to corporation law and politics.

to science the world over can compare in their effects with the deadly mixtures used by the conjurers, or medicine men, of the Croe and Salteaux tribes of Indians away up in the northwest region of British Co-lumbia." says Dr. James Melden of Mani-tche.

"These iribes," he said, "live in their vast, wild region from 700 to 1,000 miles north of Winnipeg, just on the border of Eskimo land. They are the last tribes to be mast with before the Eskimos are reach, ed, and they get along very amioshly with them, as hunting ground demarctions are nutually understood and respected. No doubt the autreme rigor of the climate accounts for it, but they are conspicuously peaceful for redshins and perform almost incredible feate of endurance. I have known bucks' of these tribes to run shead of a dog aled as guides for over 100 miles. But, for all they have such amishle dispositions, just let one of them get his anger or spirit of revenge aroused through jeal-ousy or eavy, and the viotim of his wrathmests a death more horrible than the totures of the inquisition by the use of these mysterious, buffling potsons. The modus operandi le simple enough. He takes his case to one of the conjurers of the tribecase to one of the conjurer then starts off into the dense forests alone and gathers a collection of barks and berbs unknown to botanists with these her returns to his wigwam and browns the destructive mirture that does the business.

"Now for the peculiar way in which it works," the doctor continued. "I want to may, by way of parenthesia, that these tribes never go on the warpath. They make so use of tornahawk or scalping knifa. They never resort to the popular rudskin method of removing an enemy by shooting him down fasm ambush. Poison is their sole recipe for settling soores. Fortified, then, with his potent drug, the man who is out for vangeance manages to have it administered to his doomed for in the course of a few months more fully and the set of the po makes short work of the objectionably rapid buck. Sometimes these drugs will paralyze the legs of the victim and have no other effect whatever. At other times they will so stiffen his limbs that he practically hobbles about on a pair of wooden legs. Altogether it is the most curious poison systemy in the world, more than ever ourious among tribes that know nothing at all of intoxicating beverages and never brew any sort of intoxicating stimulant."

In many cases it may be a matter of real sconnenty to bessen the butter bill by letting honey in part take its plane. A pound of honey will go about as far as a pound of butter, but if both articles ted the best quality honey will cost the less of the two. Often a prime article of extracted honey (equal to comb honey in every respect except appearance) can be obtained for half the price of butter or less.

We all know how children long for candy. This longing volves a need and is another evidence of the necessity of sugar in our diet.

inordinate longing for eardy and other sweets.

As the present day honey is placed on the market in two forms—in the comb and attracted. "Etrained" honey, obtained by mashing or melting combs containing bees, pollen and honey, has rightly gone out of usa. Extracted honey is simply honey thrown out of the comb in a machine called a honey extractor.

The silly stories seen from time to time in the papers about artificial combs being filled with glucose and defly sealed over with a hot iron have not the slightest foundation in fact. For years there has been a standing offer by one whose financial standing is unquestioned of $1,000 for a single pound of comb honey made without the intervention of the bees. The offer remains untaken and will probably always remain so, for the highest art of man can never compass such delicate workmanship as the skill of the bee accomplishes.

Hare funting:

Hare hunting is undoubtedly a more antique sport than the chase of the fox Xenophon pursued it with delight in ancient Greece, and in Britain the hare was for constructe looked typon as a far more worthy quarry than the fox, which, until the time of Queen Elizabeth and even later, was regarded as mere vernin. Nicholas Cox, author of "The Gentleman's Recreation," a work on sport, published in 1677, writes thus enthusiastically: "As of all chases the hare makes the greatest pastime, so it is a great delight and extension to see the craft of this little poor beast in her own self preservation." And it is to be admitted that in those shifts and expedients which afford to lovers of bounds the true delights of hunting the simid hare is at least as fertile as any known beast of chase in any part of the

An Answer and a Comment.

The inquisitorial magisterial inquiries have elicited some humorous answers. An eld sallor of 78, who reminded the magistrate that he had helped to work the ship that took fiir George Grey and Bishop Salwyn to England, was asked had he ever been in prison.

"Not to my knowledge," was the reply of the ancient mariner.

The court smiled again when in answer to the query whether he had ever descreed his wife the ancient mariner indignantly astoried, "I never had no occasion to."

"Some do it without any occasion, dryly observed the magistrate.—London Chronicle.

There is a Great Difference.
"You said this wasn's poetry," said the irste subscriber to the query editor, holding up a rhyme that some one had asked about. "I want you to understand, sir, that it was written by one of the greatest poets that ever lived."
"Evidently you did not grasp the import of my answer," was the conclinatory reply. "I did not say it was not written by a poet. I merely said it was not poetry."—Chicago Poet.

RESOLUTION PASSED.

Meeting at Fencion Falls Express Sympo-thy for the Trackmen.

Attended Strine Service.

Courts Lakefield and Chemiung, I. O.F., attended divine service in the Lakefield English Church, yesterday moraling, when Rav. Mr. Warrets officiated, and delivered a very impressive discourse from Ephesians 2; 16-2h. He couplessed the benefits of cu-speration and eaid that the I.O.F. is not only almodely but a porporation. The great object of Christianity is to bind all meet together in a greet brotherhood, and to this purpose the I.O.F. is working. Reference was made to the gathering of the powers at The Hague, and the hope expressed that the efforts to form a universal peace tribunal would result ancessfully. And not only should we be at peace, one with another, working for our brother's interests, but we should work hand is head with God. deing His will and weeking out His purposes. thy for the Trackmen.

A monater meeting was held at Femalon Falls on Wholepedry aight to discuss the attention re the G.T.

R. trackmen's strike, and the following resolution was passed—
Resolved, that we express our sympathies with the ment who are asking for their homest living, and nothing more, believing that the strike is the only means by which they can obtain recognition of their just claimst and we believe that the Grand Truck management can amply afford to, and should immediately come to fair terms of settlement with their men; and that the meeting strongly consures the company for-risking life and property by continuing to run their trains after proper supervision of the tracks has coangl, and, hopes that the Government will, in the interests of the public, immediately inferred.

The men were Mechael Daly, Victor Ediar and M. Provest. They was from Providence, R.I., Woomsocket, R.I., and Rockton, Mass., respectively. Their budies were discovered 17 miles from the mouth of Old Sinn's Creek; they having lost the trail and bucome bewildpred: Having left Dahl River with obly three wealsh food, but which was amply sufficient for the 150 miles to Jimkown, they were soon reduced to starration.

Daly's body was found, partly eaten, on the stove in the fent just as it was left when death overtook the others. Some scraps of mose hide and mocranic were found, of which they were andeaviring to make a atew. Daly's body was identified by the clothes. The other two men were found dead live miles away from the tent. The fact of the tent flaps being shut down when found ream to preclude the possibility of Daly's body having been enten by suinzale. The other men, doubtless, were driven by honger to the awful extremity of cannibalism, Oders That Sieken and Fames That. Stifle the Sailors.

"There are dangers to scamen about which landsmen never think," said the suptain of one of the Baltimore fast engaged in the Rio coffee trada. "You wouldn't consider the apparently simple process of weighing anchor a risky one, yet there is a part of the job so disagreeable, not to say dangerous that the men always draw lots to see who shall perform the duty. In the ship's bow there is a compartment hardly big enough to hold two persons comfortably, and here the anchor chain is stowed. The scaman who is to do the stowing and the underofficer who is to oversee the work reach the place down a little laider through an aperture scarcely large enough for a fellow to squeeze himself. It is so dark there that you can't see your hand before your face, and a lantern has to be taken along. The color at this time is had enough, but when the chain begins to come in it becomes almost unbearable. Some of the harbors in the titopics, indeed most of them, are flithy, and there are brought up from their bottoms all sorts of disagreesable souvenirs of your visit. When I was first before the mast, on more than one occasion I almost succumbed to the frightful oder, and I have known finicky young tars who actually had to leave the ship because they could not perform this part of their duties without fainting.
"But of the real danger. Each link has to be carefully placed in its proper position as the chain comes slowly in, for otherwise when it came to dropping anchor again the whole side of the ship might be torn out. Sometimes through the carelessness of the men on deck the windlass is allow-the Peterborough frustees to establish wills Mun receiptly said: "Peterboroush has decided to have esvines banks for ring the question. Belleville coemleen on the subject.

With reference to this comment the the ideas contained in the following from the Breckville Times to the Public schools of Toronto echool authorities and it is ereditable to the modernme of some of the trust teen that they protested strongly so paint it. The whome will never teach children economy; it may teach term imony and hearding, and would prehably lead to mischievous rivalry and heartburnings among the children Children at school do not earn money and their contributions to the ines banks would have to be given by poorer parents, and the children of the poorer parents would suffer by comparison. The children will learn only two soon in life how bitter is that commarison without having it forced upon them at school."

On Saturday aftermoon a lady residing on George street, who had never before been called upon by any of the tramp frateralty, had a hebo make his appearance at her back door, requesting something to eat. She permitted him to enter the house, where she provided for him a fairly good mast! "Fasterday she had four other hobous at different times put in an appearance with a similar request; and with the acceptions of the last all got a good mast. Upon the appearance of the fourth hobo, however, she thought that things had gone too far and the refused to give him any of the fratamity or we wither leads the lady to think that the first tramp who called must have made some mark which was seen by the others and which polified them that the place was one at which they would do walt to call.

The New Astronomy.

An agent is emissivaring to introduce a somewhat strange out of a buck into this locality. It is a work attempting to show that the generally-specified views on astronomy are grouseous and to prove that the earth is a hollow tail and that we'are living upon the inside of it. The sun is stated to buy a ball of fly only 4000 miles from any part of the earth's auriane, and the starw are all mid; to be in the intermediate games. It is mid that the wood has been introduced into various localities in Ontario, and has had as effect in changing, the views of sownal people. A paper, known as "The Flaming Sword," and published in Chicago, is the organ of the people propagating these anovely views. true.

This is not a question of parties, for, as Prof. Goldwin Smith has said, such corruption will result eventually in the ruinst on of the country.

From the Ibia It is only possible all present to tol et data from the duration of lives of birds in captivity; evidence o.berwise must be very unreliable, and it purely a matter of theory as to whether she natural comible life is greater than that under the unnatural condition of capativity. There are records of a nightignale having lived tours, of thrush 17, a blackbird that was suit alive at 201-2, agoudinch 23, akyaras ot 24 and 20. Ravens, owis and cockatoos are popularly supposed to live to a very great age, and the following geoords appear tobe authuntics-Haven, 50; gray parrot, .50 and 40, blue comeaw, 64; eagle owls, 53, and one still slive at 68. Some aquatio birds appear to live to a rips old age, for we have of a feeton of 60, gross 80, mule swan 70. It is doubtless whether apy of the foregoing ages are any true guide as 'to the domgavity of the actual tamilies the birds repre age o lone family exceeds that of another, but the records are interesting investigation of this most, difficult qquestion. The color of a bird in perfect health and the texture of its feathers are exactly the same at 50 me at 5, and these signs that are popul larly put down to age, such as bleach ed and faded plumage and miskspen claws or beaks, are attributable to un natural conditions of some kind. hTe great tempetty of the some birds pos ness when deprived of food is marvellous, and the following instances are

It would be greatly for the health of the present generation if honey could at least be partially restored to its former place as a common article of diet, says. What to

In many cases it may be a matter of real sconomy to lessen the butter bill by lotting honey in part take its place. A pound of honey will go about as far as a pound of butter, but if both articles be of the best quality honey will cost the less of the two. Often a prime article of extracted honey (equal to comb honey in every respect except appearance) can be obtained for half the price of butter or less.

We all know how childron long for eandy. This longing voices a need and is another evidence of the necessity of sugar in our dict.

Children should have all the honey at each mealtime that they will cat. It is marer and will largely do away with the inordinate longing for candy and other inordinate longing for eardy and other sweets.

At the present day honey is placed on the market in two forms—in the comb and axtracted. "Ftrained" honey, obtained by mashing or melting combs containing bees, pollen and honey, has rightly gone out of use. Extracted honey is simply honey thrown out of the comb in a machine called a honey extractor.

The silly stories seen from time to time in the papers about artificial combs being filled with glucose and deftly scaled over with a hot iron have not the alightest foundation in fact. For years there has been a standing offer by one whose financial standing is unquestioned of $1,000 for a single pound of comb honey made without the intervention of the beas. The offer remains untaken and will probably always remain so, for the highest art of man can never compast such delicate workmanship as the skill of the bee accomplishes.

Hare Hunting.

Hare Hunting:

Hare hunting is undoubtedly a more antique sport than the chase of the for. Xenophon pursued it with delight in ancient Greece, and in Britain the hare was for centuries looked upon as a far more worthy quarry than the for, which, until the time of Queen Elizabeth and even later, was regarded as mere vermin. Nicholas Cox, author of "The Gentleman's Recreation," a work on sport, published in 1677, writes thus enthusiastically: "As of all chases the hare makes the greatest pastime, so it is a great delight and satisfaction to see the craft of this little poor beast in her own self preservation." And it is to be admitted that in those shifts and expedients which afford to lovers of hounds the true delights of hunting the timid here is at least as fartile as any known beast of chase in any part of the world.

It reems that W. G. Raymond, who was elected Mayor in Januiry last, is a Liberal, and as a member of their political organization, received his new ward several weeks ago in the shane of the postmastership of that city. Upwer the notification of this accominment of office Mr Raymond decided to resignation to the City Council requesting that his veryices be discensed with after 1 p.m. the next day. The Council nocepted the resignation, but subsequently Mr. Raymond was asked to chance the date to the last of July. This Mr. Raymond refused to do, and a recolution was passed accepting the resignation, it to take effect upon that day. The Council is said to have a Conservative majority, and the intention was to appoint one of their number Mayor for the balance of the year, in accordance with the terms of the amendment to the Municipal Act which R. J. Fleming had slipped in to enable him to secure the support of John Shaw for the Assessment Commissionership of Toronto. The section referred to leaves it optional with the Council whicher it shall appoint a successor if the Mayor resigns July lat or after. In this case the City Clerk, Mr. H. F. Leonard, was notified by the Council that if he issued a warrant for a new election be would be sued personally. The Clerk therefore sefused to accept the resignation. (1)

The Henkeys of Halacca.

Do you care for monkeys? Personally I know two kinds caly in Malacca and detect them hoth—the brok and the kra. The brok is a big, brown, fatuous baboon of the familiar low comedy pattern, forever sorstching himself and sputtering and fliggeting with hands and feet and making faces. Should you desire to please him you will squat (just beyond the length of his chain) in front of him and similarly scratch your person, make faces and sputter. Then in high good humor he will amble round his post in as big a circle as his chain permits, clutching as your hair with an adroit high kick as he passes. Such are his, low delights. The kra is a small gray person of passonate appearance, with close set, flery eyes. The states of this little flend are still more primitive—namely, to fly straight at you with his tall sticking out and his creat sticking up and bite you again and again.—Hischwood's.

One enterprising individual advertises, "Best French conversation in exchange for each or solid goods." It may be said that there are many persons who would also like to trade large bunches of "best English conversation" for cheese candwickes or an eld pair of pants.

A family with lots of board, but a houseful of leaky pipes, wants to "exchange good board for plumbing; walking distance," and a man with a large ward-robe, but nothing to hunt with, wants "up to date gun for winter suit, No. 43."

A hotsi man will "give interest in the business for use of furniture for 18 rooms," while a man on the South Side would like to exchange dentistry for housework.

PALM VARIETIES OF CUBA

Are Twenty-six Differ Not only is the climate of Cubs favor-able to the planting of crops whenever the farmer chooses to plant thom and the lands so rish that no fertilisation is ever re-quited, but nature seems to have, with a beneficent hand, reared many strange trees and plants to supply the wants of man without the necessity of his planting them himself. First among these are the palms, some 26 varieties of which aders the fields of Cubs, giving sheds, freed and Ms. At the head of them stands the royal

With reference to the above letter, there are a few facts which require presentations in order that the matter pumpitained of he fully understood. Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., received the information which led him to take the action he did, from sources which canabit but he considered as farmining overwhalming evidence that the depletion of fish in Stoney Lake was due to the wholemie fishing of the Hedians in those weture. The resolution of the Cottagers' Association was to that effect, and further inquiry revealed the fact that about 500 pounds of fish each west were sold and delivered by parties who secured them fish from the Indians.

Other evidence also comes from Stray Lake that the Indians built "fishing sharties" and stayes for wester at a time, sail that the fish was tramposed by sleigh loads.

Confusion Caused by Different Bonds Hav-ing Different Rules-Matters Should be Ottaws, June 21.-It is understood in legislation this session providing rubning rules for railways, so that all roads may take advantage of them, instead of every road having its own rules, which causes confusion in the case of companies that have running rights over other roads.

The Government bill, when introduced, will be referred to the Railway Committee so that its details may be thoroughly threshed out. Some time ago the Grand Trunk adopted the American rules because a good portion of its system is in the United States There was some dissatisfaction about the change among the employes, and the trouble is said upt; to be entirely disposed of. THE PROPERTY OF THE BOSTON AND TEXAS COPPER COMPANY.

ITS ROMANTIC HISTORY AND DISCOVERY.

In 1863, during the late civil was between the states, when almost every the ages of fifteen and fifty years country, was in the Confederate Ard my, and the Comanche, Klowa and ays into what is now the most pros perous and populous section of Taxas, Col. J. B. Barry, is command of a battalion of Texas rangers, pursued these predatory savages into what is how Archer Co.; then a beautiful picturesque terra incognita of gentle undillating hill and dale, covered with wild flowers and attritious grasses, spin which were fattened thousands of wild deer, antelope and buffalo, making it a favorite hunting ground of the nomadic, primeval red man. A severe battle was fought, after losing in with the Indians, in which through greater prowess and equipment, the Taxang were, as usual viotorious. When about to break camp, copper one of the richest quality was found stattered all over an area of twenty-five to thirty square miles, on the surface of the ground and imbedded in the surface clay, and extending several feet below, ranging in size from a pas to a goole ogg. Also in solid veine running from the aidea of the hills, and where the soft alluvial soli had been washed away by rains, the one veine, protruding from the hillade without suggest would hreak off and roil to the foot of the hill in chunks from two to five hundred pounds in weight each, and a netimes as large as a mean's body; untit as hills and whare the soft allbrank off and roil to the foot of the hill in chunks from two to five hundred pounds in weight each, and a netimes as large as a mean's body; un-Salter to climate a Lange as a mails body part of the control of t til at the tune of the discovery, it ras estimated that there had thus

The Federal Government at Washington, having learned of the existence of this copper ore, the Secretary of the Interior aent an apploring commission unifer charge of Prof. Rossiler, a most competent, expierenced pfficer, who made as complete as investigation as the hostile Intians would then permit. His report was exceedingly interesting, and fully sustained the positions taken by Profs. De Ryee and Culmmins. It can be found in extense in the geological reports of the U. S. Government.

Bis for G. Nelson Smith, late paymaster-general in the U. S. Army, and for a number of years a Sanator from Philadelphia, in the legislature of Frencylvania, visited the property several times, hauled hundreds of tons of copper ore from the surface of the ground a distance of several hundred miles by wagon to the then nearest railroad, and then shipped it by rall about 2,500 miles to the copper smelters at Bultimore and Phoenixville, where it was pronounced the finest copper in existence, and sold for from $250 to $400 per ton.

17.6. T. A. Genth, ther coraulting and analytical chemiat of the University of Prencylvania, and atterwards the president, aneayed about 62 per cent. pure copper.

The tand to alow raising. The soil consists of a dark, chocolate-golored iosin, remarkably tertile and producing vast crops of cora, cotton; sorghum, outs, wheat and other careais, potatoes, fruits of gvery variety, and grapes equal to the best in California or itally The climate is almost perfection, being a happy medium between the long, bleak winders of the north, and the almost perpetual summer of the extreme mouth. The elevation above the sea is about 1,200 feet, assembled or postration never having been heard of.

The property was profitably worked for several years after the discovery of copper, and large amounts of the profitable of all and pays millions of dollars per year in dividends.

This great property for the control of which a million deliars was duce refeared, has been held by the owners for a favorable market and awaiting the development of a proper method for treating the mineral contents economically on a large scale. The Beaton and Taxas Copper Company has secured the property and a system for treating the orea and clays successfully emoloved at Manefield, Germany, for hundres of years on aiminate depends and will operate it for all there is in it.

The deeds of the property call for 12.24 acres as patented by the State, but it is believed it will survey marriy 20,000 acres. It is some $1.5 miles wide and 10 to 12 miles long, and the equivalent of merly 1,000 ordinary mines or mining slaims. The highest expert and segmenting authorities pronounce it one of the greatest copper preparties in the work, and it is believed it will prove equal to the Calumet and Hecla, which has paid over $60,000,000 in dividends, and returned $500 for every dollar paid in on the etack.

Copper mining is an uniformly succeeded.

THE OSTABLO BANK

We publish in this issue a repor of the forty-mound annual meetings of the Ontario Bank, which took place on Tuesday last, the 14th inst., at the Shaking house, Toronto.

The not profits, after deducting charges of management, interest accrued upon deposits, and making pro-vision for all bad and doubtful debta amounted to $105,117.00. Adding the amount brought forward from profit and loss account last year, $22,-243.49, there is a total of $125,360.56. From this there were paid two half-yearly dividends of 21-2 per cent., amounting to $50,000, $25,000 added to the Rest Account, $5000 reserved for officers guarantee fund, and $5000 written off tank premises. The balance carried forward amounts to $40,360.58, am increase over last year of $18,117,-09, the balance which was then carried forward being $22,243.49. Rest Account has been increased to

The above figures well show the pros state of this long-antablished bank, and testify in the best manner possible to the great shility of Mr. O. M. McGill, the general manager. Under his able management the inatitution has made mapid strides, since it is gratifying indeed, both to the sharehpiders and the friends of the bank, that the business of the year just closed bus been so matisfactory Citizens of Patarborough must feel gratified that the ability, axhibited by Mir. McGill, when consected with the heal brok has been so eminently displayed in his larger field as geneminently eral memager. The local breach, with Mr. W. D. Parker to manager, sesisted by Mr. C. Last is rapidly increasing that business which was so largely built up under Mr. McGill's mauagement, and to which is due to a great extent, the constence of the people In the instituti a. (

A MASTER OF MAGIC.

Quiekness of His Wit.

To witness Houdin's first performance in Algiers the neighboring tribes were invited. The theater was speedily filled with them and the French officials, who attended in all their pomp and glory. Interpretors were scattered through the house in order to repeat Houdin's remarks to the natives in their own language. With true oriental dignity and gravity, the Arabs witnessed the first few tricks is stolid silence, but the taking of a huge cannon ball from a borrowed hat around great encitement.

cannon ball from a borrowed hat aroused great encitement.

Then came the great tricks of the evening, especially prepared to astonish the Araba.

"By a wonderful power which I possess," said Houdin, "I can deprive any man of his strength I invite any one to prove my words."

On this being interpreted to the Araba, atall, strong man stepped forward on the stage. Houdin held in his hand a little iron box, and, balancing it carelessly on his little finger, he asked the Arab:

"Are you strong?"

"Are you sure of always remaining so?"

"Always."

"Lift that box."

The Arab did so and saked contempts—ously, "Is that all?"

"Wait," said Houdin, making a solemn gestura. "Now you see weaker than a woman. Try to lift that box again."

The Arab seized the handle and tugged ligain. He could not raise the box an inch from the floor. After many attempts he paused for a mement to broug himself for a final effort. He esteed the handle again, but shricked aloud with pain, dropped on his kness, then, rising, threw his cloak round his/floo to conceal his shame and rushed from the theater, leaving his compatriots stricken with fear. The trick was as simple as the result was startling. The box was placed on a powerful electro magnet, and the ourrent being complete, no man on earth could have, lifted it. An electric shock, sent at a signal by Hoosfill from behind the stage, was what caused

Hefore the excitement caused by this trick had subsided Houdin announced that he Bad a taliaman which rendered him invaluerable, and he defied the best shot in Algiers to kill inim. A marabout immediately sprang on the stage, exclaiming, "I want to kill you."

"Very well," said Houdin. "To make sure, put in a donble charge of powder.
Here's a wad. Take a bullet from this tray and mark it so you will know it again. Ram it into the placet well."

"Yes," replied the marabout. "I will de that."

Hoedin took a pear, stuck it es a knife and walked a few paces in front of the

Hosdin took a puar, stuck it en a knife and walked a few paces in freet of the Arab, and told him to aim at his heart. He fired, and the faraked bullet was seen on the pear. After the powder and wad were rammed home, and while the Arab was marking the bullet Houdin slipped a little tube into the pistol. This tube was closed at the lower end, and into this the Arab dropped the bullet. Houdin slipped a little tube into the pistol. This tube was closed at the lower end, and into this the Arab dropped the bullet. As he thrust the wad down with the married, the tube fitted entigy on to it, and was withdrawn with it, being palished to resemble it. Houdin thus got possession of the marked ball, and all was then plain sailing.

On one coonsion during his visit to Algiers Houdin was place? In a very awkward position, from which he only extri-ceted himself by his quick wittedness. He was the guest of an Arab chief, Abou Allem, and entertained his host and friends by a few tricks. One of the company was a merubout, who asserted that the apactators in Algiers had been merely duped by a vision. Houdin, howevel, preduced two pistola. "For need not really a sorcerer, he challenged him to repass his performance in the theater and produced two pistola. "You need not fear," and the Arab, "since you know how to ward off builten." Without loning his self possession Houdin explained that his invulnerability lay in a talksman which was with his possessions in Algiers. "By six houstry prayer, however, I can do without that talksman, and as 8 e'clook tomorpow morains was can fire as a me."

was with his possessions in Algiers. "By six hours' prayer, however, I can do without that talisman, and as 8 e'elouk temorrow morning you can fire at me."
At the appointed time there was a large concourse of Araba, which the news had attracted. The pistole were ,brought and enrefully examined. The marabout dropped in the powder, Houdin handed him a bullet from the tray, and he rammed it down. Houdin then loaded his own pistol and, walking about 15 paose away, turned and faced the marabout. The shot was fired, and the Franchman opened his mouth and,showed the bullet between his testh. "You could not kill me," he mid,
"and now you shall see what my chote one do." He fired at the marabout, and immedianely a red splash was seen on the whitewashed wall before which he was tranding. The Arab was unforcebed.
Evepping up to the wall, he dipped his finger in the red splash, tasted 16 and, realizing that it was bleed, collegend in massements.

Judge J. M. Hurt tells a story on a souple of members of the Dallas legal profession which goes in this wise:

They were on a hunting and flaking expedition to Wynne's lake. On the day of their arrival one of the heroes of the story, who was at that time a district judge, found a canos that had been buried in the mid. He excevated it and found it to be in pretty good shape. He washed off all the mid and calked a few holes in the bottom, and it was a good boat. It was a long, narrow affair and was evidently never intended to be built for two.

However, when the judge started out to fish in his canos, his lawyer friend instatting in the and toward the lake, where the water was about six inches deep and the mid about four fest.

"New, keep out of this boat," arolaimed the judge. "You will turn it over, sure, if you try to get in it."

"That's all right," said the lawyer. "I am an old boatman and have fished in a dugout. With that he stepped into the canos, and it captized instantly. The lawyer envel himself by a quick spring for the bank, but the judge, whe was about 16 feet off shore, was thrown in the shallow water and much. He enswied out like an wide he reached the hank he delivered his winders.

medicine that will help you no matter what ails you. This is true because it works directly at the roots of all disease—the digestive system, the blood, the nerves. Keep these in healthy condition and you cannot be sick.

Many of the cures of the "Golden Medical Discovery" seem almost miraculous. Its effect is almost immediate. It takes hold at once. It tones up the stomach, invigorates the liver, regulates the bowels.

It gets right into the blood and carries strength and comfort to every fiber of the body. It nourishes and invigorates the weakened, irritated nerves and puts the entire system in perfect tune.

It is a safe medicine. Safe for adults—safe for children. It contains no sugar, syrup, whisky, alcohol or dangerous opiates. Therefore, it does not create a cr_ving for stimulants. It is distinctly a temperance medicine.

If a medicine dealer tries to substitute some other preparation when you ask for "Golden Medical Discovery"—look out for him. He is either ignorant or dishonest and you can't trust him.

Oxford, Eng., June 21.—The hon, orary degree of dector of civil law was conferred twilay upon General Lord Kitchener, or Khurtoum, Mr. Cecil Rhodes, resident director in South African Company and the Earl of Egin, the former victory of India, and others. The greatest interest was taken in the event owing to the opposition of a number of the dons to conferring a degree upon Mr. Rhodes, on account of the prominent manner in which his name was mentioned in corporation with the Jamieson raid into the Transvaal. The opposition was generally regarded as partians and as a political movement. The Duke and Duchess of York were among those present in the Shaldonian theatre, where the degrees were conferred.

Ane report is highly gratifying both to the friers is and stockholders of this institution, which, for so many years has had the confidence of oblic, and it shows that that confisee has by no means been misplaced This exceptionally good showing of the bank is due, in no small degree, to the D. R. Wilkin, General Manager. His prestures in the disposition and emphysical of the bank's resources and his ability exhibited in all the affairs of the institution, unquestionably fur-nish the reason that this great mone-tery institution is in so prosperous a condition. In striking contrast are its affairs with those of the Marchineta' Benk of Canada.

THE MEMCHANTS' BANK.

The seekholders of the Merchants' Bank of Canada hold the annual meeth ing of the institution on the Rist inst., ing of the institution on the rate inst, in Montreal. The anemal statement own by no means actifactory, and there was considerable criticism of the joint management. There was a heavy reduction is assets and the rate of divideed was reduced to 7 per cent. The strictures of Mr. B. A. Boss, the helder of 100 shares, was severe, but apparently justified by the condition of the institution. The Merchants' is the only bank in the Dominion to make a poor showing and he felt justified in criticizing the mangement for a state of things so unentisfactorys . Consure upon the management was made by others, no-tably Mr. E. J. Borbesu, Assistant Reeiver-Ghneral and , a large share-gives an example of one mode of using currency:

In west Africa there was an illustrione king, Kamrasi by name, of the Wanyoro tribe. He seet off an expedition provided with 600 majembe, a kind of iron spade mosey. The expenditure of 8 majembe per diem would provide for the expedition. With them was carried a magic hern. which proteoned them from danger.

East central Africa furnishes another form of spade or hos memory made of ham mered iron. This is made and used by the Bari tribe, who trude with people from the interior. This hos is of no practical mas, except as a portable form of currency in the shape of a flat cruciform ingot of copper, 9% inches in length.

But in 1796 arose the medical David who was to smite this Goliath. From that time till the present smallpox has been aborn of all its terrors. Very resently, in Jenper's own country, attempts have been made to show that vaccination was useless, that it draws out of the system one vile disorder by introducing another, that it disseminated instead of preventing disease. Were we to grant all that is falsely alleged as to the introduction of tuberculous and syphilia, even them the benefits it has in even then the benefits it has conferred would outnumber the evils ten thousand fold. But, as a matter of fact, the cases in which evil events have followed are few and far between, and by the use of animal by the proper anticaptic care in vaccination, which is really a minor cargical operation, all of there ill effects can be avoided.

Discovered His Errer.

During the early sixties, relates J. H. Rogers in the New York Times, I compiled rooms, or, to be strictly truthful, a room, in the old Studio building, on Tunth street. It swarmed with artists of all descriptions, and a more delightful set of good follows never got together under the same roof. There was not a single dissortiant element, and the gatherings held from time to time in the different studies will remain with me among the most valued memories of a somewhat eventful life. On these occasions people from the outside world frequently dropped in; other artists, literary men of the Bohemian sort, with perhaps an actor or two on the off nights, all men whose presence gave an additional flavor to the mixture, until it came to be like the old "Century club punch," a joy, to be remembered, and too subtle to be analyzed.

to be remembered, and too subtle to be analysed.

One evening Edwin Booth was present and, finding the company congenial, made himself so agreeable that I was very corry when an engagement took me away at a comparatively early hour. The next evening I dropped into the Century club for a little goestp and found Mr. Booth there. He was the centur of a group of mes with whom I was on such terms of intimacy that I did not heattate to join them. The asual greetings were passed until I came to Booth, when I received a look that went through me like cold steal. Supreme contempt was never so expressed before or since. Just one look, and then, without further notice, he turned his back on me and began to talk to the other members of the group. Of course there was nothing to be said, and I got away as soon as possible. Presently, however, I began to be angry. This is not simply a cut, thought I, but a premeditated insult. I became furious and was ready for an explosion then and there, but just at that time Launt Thompson came up and took me one side.

"How in the name of common sense,"

Lutu ? Thompson came up and took me the man dhere, but just at this time lame of the man of there, but just at this time lame file. "Idd you come to play a practical creature, I dense most fact if the present of the man of the man

THE HORRIBLE CODE OF JUSTICE IN THAT QUEER LAND.

by the Wendaman Are Pawinstie and Bretal In the Entreme.

The traveler in that strange country, Suan, will still find many relice of barbarism. Among the most curious practices still in vogue are those for the punishment of oriminals.

Men are often subjected to severe punishments for very trivial offenses. It is not an uncommon thing for the king to sentence two men to be chained together, who are then compelled to go about yoked in this manner perhaps for years, as no one dare release them without the king's permission, and the king often forgets to give it. An instance of this kind was brought out recently when one of the prisoners died and the other unfortunate wretch was seen dragging the body of his late companion about beside him, unable to escape from his horrible yoke. The European consuls endeavored to obtain his release, but during the delay occasioned by the absence of the king the poor victim became insane and soon afterward died.

Executions are of frequent occurrence, and the method of execution is interesting, although revolting in detail. The locality mostly used for this purpose is situated in a valley a short distance from Bangkok. Morning is the time generally selected, when crowds of natives may be seen moving toward the spot, arrayed in their gayest colors, and one would imagine that some pleasant and enjoyable fete was about to be held. The assembled thousands, arrived at the scene of action, chant merrily and bet among themselves as to whether the executioner will out his man's head off at one blow.

The waccutioner is dressed in red rage and armed with a large "dah," or sword. The condemsed man is then led up by an escort drawn by lot from his own station.

Similar aboriginal methods are likewise observed in the trial of those accused of crime. This is more true outside of Bangkok, for in the lature city civilination has had some appreciable influence in lessening these abuses. In Slam in general, however, the punctice of trial by ordesi is still common. The commonest method is to give the accused a handful of rice to chew, and when the rice is masticated it is placed upon a small sheet of cloth. If traces of blood are found, the guilt of the accused is assured, and he is immediately punished. Should there he no trace he is given his treedom.

The hifest of Dampmens.
People feel their coins ache and their bones recumatic when rainy weather is at hand because of the dampness of the asmosphers, which affects its pressure upon the body and causes a temporary disturbance of the system. All general disturbances of the body manifest themselves in those parts which are in a morbid state, as in a corn, a rheumstle bone or a damped tooth.

A Large Attendance.

The garden party held last night on the lawn at St. John's church, under the joint apprices of the 57th Butt. bund and the ladies of St. John's, was well patronized. Tents had been erected upon the grounds, and here the refreehments were dispensed. Chinse lanterns hanging from the trees, and incandescent lights with colored globes, gave the lawn a very pretty appearance. The music was of a varled character and every selection was characteristic of this hand. The gathering broke up about 10.30 o'clock, the hand playing the national anthem Yesteriay morning five tramps were charged with vagrancy at the police court. They had been arrested at a very late hour on the previous night. Cairo, Egypt, June 22.-It is assoisced that the Khalifa has been defeated, with heavy loss, by the natives friendly to the British. It is added that he has fled to the woods with a few followers and that his capture is imminent. If the above desputch is to be relied upon the statement from the Congo Free State wired from Brussels that Abshilah had recruited 30,000 mum, erussel the White Nile below Khartoum and captured Allah Jahud, 160 miles above Khartoum, is inaccurate. If is extremely improbable that the Mahdi's successor could raise so large as army and that he would venture so mean the British handquerters. So that the probabilities are in favor of the last despatch. ed that the Khalifa has been defeated.

As the drought and times can make it, still we got it in the neck With them dag-blamed catterpillers dumpin's use by the peck.

They are limitin' round for trouble—brought their appetitus by freight, for the average catterpiller eats a dozen times his weight;

Eatin' right along, sit, stiddy, for the pecky critter heaves

All his cargo when he's loaded so's to get his time all in—

Cleans the deck for further action and begins to eat ag'in.

Durn a ratterpiller i I've been wheelin' seed potatoes down across the orchard lot And it's fairly made me crasy, for I've set and set and set That air barrow down and bellered. I was so allfired mad;
When a feller's braids are busy there is nothin' quite set had As to have a catterpiller or a worm get on his clothes, Or them floatin' fluw stringers go to ticklin' of his ubse.
But when I've drouped the handles and have started in to swear
I've caught a catterpiller in the gullet, fair and equare.
For they're scinnin' drawn' by bushels off'n every branch and twig. Durn a ratterpiller i off'n every branch and twig.

And the air id jest a quiver with the tackle that they rig.
And though, if they're obliged to, the elemnon earth will do.
A delivor catterpillar really ruther'd ight on you.

It's just at the time and meason when a feller likes to set.

And do a little courin' in a hammer, nine you be!

When a cirl is makin' passes and helawin' at her dress;

And how the thund'rin' dickens is a feller to propose.

I'd give a hundred dollers jest to the old Cap'n Kidd.

With a giff for aliasin' language way that wicked critter did—Jest ability to mention how I wally feel, with case;

FOUR BEITISH HEROES.

mant After Assault Bepaleed-Fighting Lasted all day.

London: June 23 .- Advices from the Nigers contain particulars of an affair, which ought to be written in lettern of gold on the pages of English military appalet The Emir of Wame, a cross-bred Fu lah, had for a long time teen renown-al as a turbulent individual, siways creating disturbances. Finally, becoming bolder and bolder, he ordered the chief of the town of Amar te cease trading with the Niger Company. The Chief of Amar refused, whereup-om the Serikim-Duchi politely informed him that he might siready consider himself wiped out, as he soon would Captain McNaughton happened to be at that time in the Bautshi country, pecraiting for the Imperial force. The Barty were on their return journey, and had arrived out the banks of the Mabokko River, which the raise had very much swolling. Four midders suddenly a soldier gas seized by the leg by an alligator, draggal from his horse, and drownes! Atter this his horse, and drowned! Atter this untoward event the remainder of MrNs ughton's party certinal to cross, and McNs ughton thought it bruient to take a lami route back, telling the men who man already crossed to proceed to Amer. The mine men four soldiers and four carriers thereupen proceeded to Amer. Hardly had they entired the town, when the long-dayacted attack by the Scrikin-Duch took place.

Fought Against Miny.

The King of Amer and most of, his people promptly builted, but the lour soldiers quietly remained where they were. With a great clatter the Emil's horsemen road into the town, and treated will enter in all directions like worse. With a great clatter the kimir's hursemen road into the town, and started pillaging it all directions. Just mear to where our men were standings a number of bundless of trade goods which had been hurriedly abandoned by the retreating townsmen lay scattered. Several horsemen road up and attempted to mine the goods, our moldiers interfered, saying the goods belonged to the white men and were not to be touched.

The kimir's people then rode down on our men, firing from the addie. Frivate Jatta Yola was shot in the thungs The gallant fallow, however, "fell is" his men. The enemy's fire was returned with interest, disperser, "fell is made. Friend continuously, the four ment of the Niger force literally drove the horsemen out of the town, and tobt up a position out the wall may the gate. Here they wave joined by one or more of the town folk. Time after time the Emir's horsement rede furiously against the town of the fighting continued the whole day. Whally the enemy drew off, discondited, leaving 25 men killed and 12 dead horses on the field.

The heroic defeation all received pseuniary recomposes from the Niger Chempany, and Jetta Yola weaprophylated to be a sergement; the three other men will also be promoted.

Lear Teacher and Superintendent,—We, the punits and teachers of Union Saboara School, Smitz, wish to show in some shaft way our appreciation of your service as teacher and superintendent for the peat number of years. You have spared militor time nor care in keeping our school randing, sometimes, too, under very itying escausiances, and, we are sorry to say, with vary little help.

Every Sunday, no matter how much you are in need of real you are to be seen in your place, and always with a very cheerial constanance. You may not see much fruit of your labours now, but we nope and treat that when it pleases tied to take you to the home prepared for you in Heavy you shall receive, that they have not been in vain.

Piesse accept this chair as a slight token of our love and regard for your increased of our love and regard for your services. We know that it does not in any way repay you for what you have done, but we nope that for many years you may rejoy its comforts, and by so dolag, rememper that with it come the love and respect of the whole community with which you are consected.

We will all jois in wishing you a happy

We will all join in wishing you a happy failure, and we carnestly hope that you may be spared to fill the office of teacher and superintendent for many years to

CRISPI'S EUROPEAN REPUBLIC.

Ex-Premier Crispi, the eminent It Expression Crisp, the emission ratiols giving his views regarding the possibility of accomplishing the professed purposes of this conference at The Engus. He may "There is only one way for Europe to save itself from the horrors of war in store—smulate? the example of the United States and make one grand republic of all the countries of Europe. This will efface the frontiers which diplomacy has constad; changing them into state. Thousandaries. The perpetual animosAties between the nations will be rooted out, racial and international jealousies and predjudices will be lost in one fraternal, comparted effort of civil progreen, bringing life again to the human and destructive envise of conquest."

There have been others to advocate a republic to simbrace all European entries, and sume who have spokcountries, and almo who have spot-ent of a republic to embrace the world as within the realms of possibility. But while the latter is almost incon-ceivable, the former seems not im-probable in the appures of time. But if such ever o hen, it will be a growth gipning.

Indeed, it may be said that we alpendy have hed a beginning in the conventions of Geneva and Paris and in "the cumoust of the powers." It is to be hoped that the present conferance will result in at considerable fur-ther advance from the beginning it is to be hoped that it will result in the longast step yet taken-a step from which there will be no receding toward that glorious consummation, the federation of Europe for the maintenance of peace not only in Europe but throughout the civilized world.

"When a tree was felled, it was trimmed up, dumped into the marrest shoot and went down like a 10 inch shell. In the course of time the, friction wore all the troughs as smooth as glass and also drove them into the ground, so they were mostly finsh with the surface. One winter day I was out laspecting, riding a tough mushing pony, and concluded to visit a trace that had been worked over and shandoned. The ground was thickly covered with snow, and the pony was contiously picking his way when suddenly he lurched forward and fall. I stuck in the middle, and the next thing I knew we were whisting through space like a rocket.

"You see, he had accidentally stepped into an abandoned log shoot, and as his legs were doubled under his body it was impossible for him to get out, but I discovered all that afterward. I happened so quickly I had no time to think, and all I remember of the ride is that swift swood of perhaps five seconds and then a mil through the air. Some obstruction had lotted me off, and I lit in a mow bank 20 feet away. The horse, poor brute, was arried on about a quarter of a mile to a break in the trough and dashed against a pile of bowlders dead as a doornal. I was comparatively unhurt, but as stunned and shakes up that it took me averal hours to quart back to the mill. The distance I satually traversed in the shoot was about 800 yards, and I am prepared to bed it was the fastest time over mede in the middle."

But it is just the way Turner & thest turn out their orders. This firm received a telegraph order for a 20x40 tent and 7 ft. walls, with poles, ropes, pegs and bags complete. They got the order at 7 o'clock on Wednewlay sight; on Thursday they cut it out and chipped it, finished complete, at 7 o'clock 'Thursday hight. This firm also received an order this morning for a 50 ft. tent complete, also for a fancy red and white strips tent to go on the inside of this. People seem to know where they get the best goods, hence the large number of orders this well-known firm receives from all parts of the Dominion. I'nited States England and South Africa.

Ruap Shots With a Graphophone.

The Graphophone is to the ear what the photograph camera is to the eye and more, for the gramaphone catches instantly and preserves every that and shade of sound. A most interesting use of a gramaphone is to make records of your friends voices to be preserved for future use. You can eath the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite mong of some loved one, just as she ang it and have it reproduced perfectly at nav time and as often as you please. Besides the Graphaphone affords wonderful antertainment in the way of reproducing the music of bands, ordestras or vocah or instrumental soloists. No investment will return so much in pleasure as the purchase of a Graphophum. It is the perfect talking machine. Write for estalogue No. 30 to the OOLUMPHA PHONOGRAPH COMPANY, No. 313 Main street. The two Teams" Quite Evenly Natched

The factors game on the P.A.A.A the Markham and Peterborough la-crosse clubs was one that was worth Trip Tickete to NIAGARA FALLS, N Y, going a considerable distance to see. The boys of both teams had made great preparations and every one was in tip-top shape. The attendance at the grounds was large, and the enthusiasm was quite evenly divided. The crowd from Murkham was a large one and many ladies were numbered among the party, cheering from time to time the Markham boys as they made brilliant slays. The Peterborber and their enthusiasm for the boys in blue was unbounded. The Markhums were arrayed in marcons white.

At exactly 2.35 o'clock Referee Benttie blew his whistle and the teams lined up as follows-

Patherborough, (5)-Gonl. F. Dobbin, point, H. Lewis; cover point, J. Brown defence, M. McDonough, R. Glover, Jas. McCube; centre, E. G. Hogart; home field, L. King, Jack McOabe, G. Lipsett; outside home, A. Hollingshead inside home, A. McClelland, Field Captain, J. Begley.

Markham, (6)-Goal, Kelly: Glover; cover point, Waies; defence, T Doyle, Hamburg, Scott; centre, L. Doyle; home field, C. Querrie, Barlow, Teft; outside home, T. Latimer;, inside home, R. Latimer; Field Captain, T.

Sir,—Permit me, through your columns, to refer to a matter which made to be brought to the notice of the ratepayers of Peterboroughs Alderman Neill, on his own authority, smat two contractors to Toronto to figure on the cost of a building for the Toronto Rubber Shoe Co., and he presented a bill to the Council-of own $20 which has been phick As a ratepayer I will expect the Council to see that Ald. Neill rafeines the amount. It essens strange, indeed, that a mamber of the Council cen, our his own authority, spend the money of the town, and as one who contributes largely to the taxes, I would ask that this matter be rectified and also that in future the Council will not may secondard which are brought in on the responsibility of a single member.

ireduced in the Bominion Furtisment by Map. Mr. Bintr—It will also Affect Tele-graph and Telephone Companies.

Ottawa, June 24.-A bill of consider able importance will be taken up by Hon. Mr. Blair at the next meeting of the Railway Committee. Its protelegraph and telephone lines, pub lie bridges, and the operations end control of railways.

Purhaps the most important that which refers to the operating rules for railways. It is provided that the Ruilway Committee of the Privy Council may make rules and regula tions for all railways within the jurindiction of the Dominion Parliament These rules will supersede all previous approval of the Governor-in-Council.

Another provision in the bill is to give power to the Railway Committee Privy Council to order Railway companies to erect and maintain sta-tions at given points.

The bill also provides that anyone destroying gates, fences or buildings of the company, or entering a train with the idea of defrauding the company of the fare, will be liablet to fine and imprisonment.

The Other Companies.

Telegraph and telephone companies neorporated by act of Parliament are empowered to break up or open any highway, subject to the jurisdiction of the municipal council. Travelere are not to be obstructed, and the company is not to needlessly destroy ahade trees. The surface of the street most be restored to its former shape an case Parliament shall order at my future time wires to be placed underground, companies now entitled to carry them on their poles will not se able to recover damages. In cases of companies incorporate to construct railway and general traffic bridges, no discrimination for transportation or running privilege can be made against any company, and tolls will be controlled by Governpr-in-Douncile Two years will given for commencing work, and five for their completion.

Procuring a stout log the men knocked the door from its binges. Immediately there waids pastot abot from within Land beputy theriff Clarke dropped back with his band shattered. Several more shots were fired, but the officers stood their ground and poured several volleys into the house. As long as the negroes were able they kept up a standy fire from two pistols, the mother of the hunted man being the most vigurous of the combatants.

When the officers entered the house they found the old woman breathing her last. She raised her right hand, ho ding an empty pistol, and made a vain effort to fire it. Then she amiled at the officers and said: "You have killed his mammy, but you will not get my boy." Then she breathed her help. By the woman's side lay Lum Philips, the father, mortally wounded in the elds. He, too, was game to the last ditch, and in a trumphant sort of way asked them to look for his boy and find him if they could. The old man died this afternoon, A younger son was also shot in the thigh, and will pecover.

talkit about a good deal within the last two months, but whil the promoters of public carriages of the horsess variety have been talking, everal business houses have been quitly adding to the number of sutomobils now in this city, for private us, says the Roston Trusscript. It is us a delivery waggen that the automobil has actually won a phase dealf, as has been almost entirely speculativ, so fur as general use is concerntiv, so far as general use is concerned, but in the work of a delivery waggon the success of the motor vehicle appears to be an accomplished foot.

The tirst waggon of the lived to make its appearance for regular luminess in floaton streets was that of the Ba H. White Occupany, who places one waggon in commission for delivery of dry goods last November. That waggon has given perfect estisfaction all the winders, so its mere report, in all kinds of going on the level and on the granes. Now the company has ordered two more waggons of the same kind and the granes. Now the company has ordered two more waggons of the same kind and the granes. Now the company has ordered two more waggons of the same kind and the granes. An these waggons are much similar to ordinary covered waggons used for delivery of goods.

An these waggons are much similar to ordinary covered waggons used for delivery of goods in the respective lines of trade. The White waggon, any very larger, walch makes the difference between it and the horse-drawst which a ther more atriking. The heavy plates of the storage batteries make all electric waggons waghs 3500 ponnings without any load in it. It has actually carried a lead of about six hundred pounds, but could earry a thousand pounds of that in delity set in course waggon in consumering of mearing with a normoraum waggon in the first measure it is own as a series where the two required with a borne, the thirt required with a borne, it has a said of the manes of the course of the manes of the course of the course of the manes of the course of the same of the sa

Bo far as the expense of operating sistor-waggons is concerned, it costs about fifteen cents a day. The waggon makes these trips a day, a total of about twenty-four miles, on work for which two horses would be used, the waggon doing, as the owner says, the work of "a horse suit a helf."

Some big stories about the way is which the new horseless cabe stuck fast in the anowdrifts came affing over from New York in the latter part of the winter, but those rumors against the effectiveness of horseless whiches in snowstorms have been offered to a large extent by the record of the White delivery waggon. The waggon attracted attention in town just after the fifschenic Fair exhibition of automobiles, and from the day when it first began active life as a delivery vehicle on the Back Bay route, Nov. It, it had a taste of all kinds of going, from smooth asphelt to a foot of most interest to moter-carriage enthushate. The waggon had its principal test of that sort just after the big storm of the week of Thenkagiving Day, in which the Portland wreck took place. The roow fell from Saturday night until Blonday the white waggon was taken out for a spin. chion of decking the house with

The fashion of decking the house with greens as we do at Christmas dates back into old Roman times, when a fast in honor of Saturn was celebrated and the temples of the dwellings were dressed with green boughs—possibly a resmant of that tree worship which, "in itself," says Ruskin, "I believe was always healthy," when "the flowers and trees are themselves beheld and beloved with a half worshiping delight, which is always noble and healthful."

The plants most is demand for church decoration at Christmas time in England as well as in this country are holly, bay and laurel. English holly is sometimes imported, but the American holly, which comes from Virginia and other sections of the south, is a very good substitute for it. The hay is the marest plant of the three in this country, but ground laurel is commonly sold and is one of the most effective of the Christmas greens.

In decorating a room with Christmas greens it should be remembered that a very slight touch of color should be used with green and that the most objectionable of all things is too profuse decoration. Christmas greens are numbly kept till after Twelfth Night, which encure on Jan. 6, and they should certainly be cleared away by the 2d of February, or Candlemas day, or otherwise, as tradition says, a goblin will appear for every green leaf left behind. It certainly must have been a stovenly housewife who would leave her Christmas greens up for so many weeks, and goblins of discontent and uncleanliness would be sure to invade such a house.—Philadelphia Times.

Chestenes in Bennark.

The tree is always lighted on Christmas eve in Dennark, and the family all most together then. The older people get their presents on a plate at their places at the sable, and the children's gifts are on the tree. Roset goose is always the chief feature of our Christmas eve dinner and a dish of rice is estenies Christmas eve before dinner is served. Apple fritters are eaten instead of plum pudding. Christmas day itself is observed strictly as a religious fastival, but the day before and the day after Christmas are holidays. The theaters are open, and it he young people give danoss. Our little Danish children do not know about Santa Claus. They are open, and the young people give denots. Our little Danish children do not know about Saxta Chana. They have instead what they call a Misses, meaning a Christmas brownte in the shape of a little old man with a large gray beard who is supposed to live under the ground. Another Danish super stition is that at addight Christmas eve the cows in the stable rise and low in salusation, and on Christmas eve young maident all their fortunes by breaking the white of an egg into a glass of water and matching the chapse it against a Observance in linguists.

If finney an English Christman is too well known to need much description. Singlish movels have descripted it fully, and the English illustrated papers at Christman time give a good idea of the finitivities. Every one who has a country place goes there for Christman. There is generally a large heave purpy, and denoing and shating help to pass the time. The houses and churches are mourased with holly and greens, and "mistletoe hangs on the eastle wall." The sever is amount as universal as institution in England as in Germany, and the evening is given over to amuning the children, who play hind men's buff, map dragon and hide and seek. The proverbial English Christman dinner always includes roast beef and prium padding. Every self respecting Englishman goes to church on Christman morning, and in some country parishes the "watte" still sing their carols from hease to house on Uhristman.—British Commit in Chicago Tribune.

From early Saturday morning the atreats of our town began to take on a heliday appearance, and at 10,30 ofclock every point of vantage was taken to witness the parada of the much heralded Adam Forepaugh and riells Br there' circus. In the early morn ing hours the country roads were tir with passing rigs all heading for town and laden with country folks to a large number of visitors, and altogether the criwids upon our streets were such as is seldom seen. The parade was fully up to expectations. It would be difficult to imagine anything more elaborate or more impusing.

The parformance in the afternoon and evaning were above the average.

The terformance in the afternoon and evening were above the average. Everything was carried out an advantised and the crowder who packed the tents at the performances seemed to be highly pleased at the superb entertainment. The managerie was also exceedingly good, there being a large number of animals, many of a kind not seen in specious above.

INSURGENTS SCATTERED.

MASS OF THE PEOPLE ANXIOUS FOR PEACE.

ienr Overthrow of the Present Adminis-trailon Predicted,

Washington, June 26 .- General Cois. in reply to a cable from the War Depairment, asking for information regarding the situation and conditions in the Philippines to-day, cabled a long reply as follows:- ..

Manila, June , 26 .- Adjutant-General Washington: Rainy acason. Little inland campaigning possible in Luzon. We occupy a large portion of the Taga-log country, lines stretching from Imus courb to Sam Fernandino north, nearly sixty miles, and to castward into Lagune Province. The insurgent armies have suffered grat losses and have scattered only the large force held to-gather, about 4,000, in Tarlac P. ovince and Northern Pampanaga;

They scattered forces in bands of 60 to 500 in other portions of Luxon in Cavite and in Batangas Provinces they could assemble possibly 2,000, though demoralised from recent defeat. The mass of people, terrorized by insurgent soldiers, idesire peace and American protection. They no longer fleet on the approach of our troops, unless forced to do so by the insurgente, but gladly welcome them. No recent burning of towns. The population withen our lines is becoming dense and are taking up land and cultivating extensively. They kept out of Munita as much as possible as the city population is becoming too great to be cared for. The natives southeast of Lizon are combining to drive out the insurgenta. The only hope of the insurgent leaders is United States

They proctaim the near overthroug of the present administration, to be followed by their independence and recognition by the United States. This is the influence which inables them, to hold out. Much contention . revalls among them and no cevil & .ernment remains. Trade with poin sot in their possession, the former soulog of the insurgent revenue, is now interdicated. UNION BANK OF CANADA.

In this issue we present the report of the proceedings of the 34th annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Union Bank of Canada, which was hold at their bunking house Quebber on Thursday, the 15th inst The report shows that the past year has been one of prosperity for this long betablished institution. The net profits of the year, after deducting expenses of management, recerving for interest and exchange and making appropriations for bad and chouldful dabts, amount to $222,845.76. Adding to this the indutre at credit of profit and loss account, brought for ward from last year, $26,055.93, the amount reaches to $218,901.69, From this were paid two dividends at 3 per mac. amounting to $111,005.85, $4,-696.92 written off bank premises, and $100,000 transferred to Rest account, leaving $33,808.89, to be carried for-

The capital of the bank was increased during the year by 5,000 shares. The paid up capital of the institution is

W $2,000,000. It is gratifying indeed that the report of the f'nion flank is so satisfactory, and hows that the business of the institu. a has been highly pros-

CAUSE OF SPAINS DOCLENE.

Profes or Marker, a noted German scientist, recently wrote upon the decline of Spain from the leading astion to an inferior position among the rountries of the globs. The Spaniards, he rays, have been the innocent and helpless victims of geographic and climatic mistortunes Spain, he argues. stands apart from the rest of Europe and its position, though apparently favorable, is really that of a land shut off from the life of the world. In the ege of discovery Ppain was again unlucky, according to this authority. The wealth of her new acquisitions was great enough to reduce the home population materially and to discourage habits of industry in those who were loft, while the trade winds and the equatorial current brought the conquering explorers into touch only with the enervating regions of the tropics and to even in the New World Spain ens at engrandas disadvantage, especi ally as compared with England. The absence of fertile lewiands and navig-able rivers is a feature of the Positiaula upon which Professor Maerker rome twenty years ago the King and Queen of Baiy were driving and Queen of Haiy were driving through the reats of Naples, when a peasant to run, ou the steps of the carriage, and with a crawn blade in his head tried to mab the hing. The Prime Minister, who was driving with them instanced his ewn body and received the kinfe instead. The blood from the wound saturated the dress of the Queen and it was many years before she recovered from the shock of the day's experience. The peasant was tried and condemmined to imprisonment for life. He died at the experience of ten years. But the peasant all this time had an old mother living at Francais, a sad old woman, of whom the neighbors knew little, except that she lived in comfort and no intile luxury for one of her position. She deed the other day, and can for the first time it was discovered that for liventy years, ever more her son had tried to hill his King, this old mether had been cared for by the king himself, supplessed out of his privy jurse, no one excepting the controller in charge told knowing a word of the matter. Magnanimity certainly has seldem been carried so far.

King Mambert's Kindstea A story, recently revived, of King Humbert of Italy is well worth repeat-

SHOPKEEPERS ARE JUBILANT Lundon Season Mas Been an Exceedingly Prolific Onc.

London, June 21.-Royalties were much in evidence during the past week. Almost daily members of the Roys family have been engaged in advaning the cause of charity, opening be mars and sales of needle work, c giving garden tetes. The Duchess of Albany's garden party, hald in behalf of charity, was the rendervous of most of the fashionable people. The Albert Hall bazaar, however, in aid of the fund of the Charing Cross Hospital, was the crowning charitable function of the meann. It was an immense success beyond the most resents dreams. The receipts were over $605,000.

The senon, on the whole, is proving most successful and the shupkespers and dreamnakers are jubiling. Money seams in every way more plentifus. The lavish entertainments of past seasons have been surpassed this season and the sums paid to singers and planists for privats entertainments are faturipes.

Mane. Melba is hooked for eleven priwate parties, at which she receives about $2,100 each. Mrs. Harmsworth Shas issued invitations to a party early in July at which Padurewski, Maller, Susan Strang and Coquelin witt all perform.

DO ANIMAL REASONS?

Hev. Charles Josiah Adams Has a Proof That They Bos-How a l Brought Help to its Mate,

Has the lower animal the power o tramming? I chaim that I have discovered four phases of reason. These are—That of appreciation, that of adaptation, that of imitation and that of origination. This claim I have takso the trouble to copyright.

One of my correspondents, a lady, tolu me, through letter, some time ago, this story-

The lady, when a girl, with som friends was in anjorchard. In a field adjoining two of her brothers were at work. In an adjoining pasture wer two young horses. To the bars which transctor the field in which the young man were working with the pasture, one of these bornes Cama running and whinithying.

One of the young men, who did not think that intelligence atopped short or a mun, walker toward him Then the norse started oil, looking back over his shoulder as if he expected the young man to follow. The hor-e was not disappointed, and the young man tooms to noral's com-panion on his back in a ditch unable young man found the nutses young man found in a ditch unable to get up.

Here is a clear came of appreciative masses. The noise could not save mis compension, knew that a man could do so, and did the sensible thing by going off to get a man.

The same phase of reason was shown by a cut or whose action rejort was made to nee by Mr. William Poster. The cat's name was shoses. He was the constant companion of Mrs. Foster, who was feat. When she was shone she did not always hear the dour-near ring. Then Moses would attract her attention, took at the list and send har to the door.

The appreciation of the output of any isculty by another is evidence that the one appreciating has the same faculty.

The musician appreciates those who have the musicial toulty. To go no tarther for illustration, aid not the fact that the highs knew that a man could act rationally prove that the fact that the mass know that a mass could not rationally prove that the hurse is andowed with reason? Had Muses teen able to open the dust for his mistress, might be not have done not floor not the fact that he et her know that she should no so prove that he had the same faculty by whose operation she did faculty by whose operation she did no?

A gentlamen upon the Hudson owned a maintey who was so rational that he had to get rid of him. Hud he not dame so he would have lost, all of his persanable property and probably the lives of the family and his own. This monkey would lay a walnut on a stone, take another stone and crack the walnut. In these actions he had a purpose. When the walnut was cracked he would eat the kernet. He knew that there were two perts of the kernel as well as any child could have known that important fact. He was not willing that any portion of the hernel should remain; uneaten it was "milling" to she him prodding with a pin for even minute bits. This monkey hated the hired man. The master, using a goad churchman, one day took his rector for a ride. As they returned toward evening they saw smoke coming from the room of the stable. The stable was reacher in the nick of time and saved.

The origin of the fire? The hired man when the mankay hated roomed on the upper floor. He had neglected to lower his window upon going out. The monkey had entered the room, uncrewed the top of the reservoir of a lamp in which there were more than a pint of kerosene oil, poured the oil over the bed, atruck a match and set title to the oil.

It does not appoin that the mankey had ever been shown how to strike a match. It seems hardly possible, taking into account the mischievous character of makeys and the impishness of this one in particular, that he would have been taught so dangerous an accomplishment. But some that the mankey was only initiatively rational in striking the match, was there not something originative in his uncrewing the contents on the bud.

I teld some two or three years from the tamp and pouring the contents on the bad.

I rold some two or three years ago have a rat and lain on its back and held an egg on its breast and abdomen while another rat pulled it by the tail to their hole in the cellar wall. I have something to add. The eggs were disappearing from the hen nones of an acquaintance of mine. The and her brother watched through a cruek for the thief. They caught two in the act of thiswing.

The masts were about three feet from the ground. They were made from boards and some four inches from the store and some four inches damp. This depth was somewhat lessensed by enough straw to keep the eggs from dumagns What the two watchers may was this—What an egg twas laid a rat got into a nest, rolled the egg to the side, got under it and subsuged to lift it to the top of the board, poised it there and then let it drop.

Yes, but not to the ground. The egg fell into the pays of another mat lying on his backtready to receive it. The lady says that the egg fell as little hust as if it had lighted upon a pillow of fown, and as directly as if its descent had been calculated by a practiced workman—as it was.

The fashion of decking the house with greens as we do at Christmas dates back into old Roman times, when a feast in honor of Saturn was celebrated and the temples of the dwellings were and the temples of the dwellings were dreamed with green boughs—possibly a resenant of that tree worship which, "in itself," says Ruskin, "I believe was always healthy," when "the flowers and trees are themselves beheld and beloved with a half worshiping delight, which is always noble and healthful."

The plants most in demand for church decoration at Christmas time in England as well as in this country are holly, bay and lauvel. English holly is sometimes imported, but the American holly, which comes from Virginia and other sections of the south, is a very other sections of the south, is a very good unbetitate for it. The bay is the rarest plant of the three in this country, but ground laurel is commonly sold and is one of the most effective of the Christ-greens it should be remembered that a very slight touch of color should be used with green and that the most objec-tionable of all things is too profuse deceration. Christmas greens are usually kept till after Twelfth Night, which hept till after Twelfth Might, which secure en Jan. 6, and they should certainly be cleared away by the 2d of February, or Candlemas day, or otherwise, as tradition says, a goblin will appear for every green leaf left behind. The tree is always lighted on Christ-The tree is always lighted on Christmas eve in Denmark, and the family all most tengther then. The older people get their presents on a plate at their phases at the table, and the children's giffs are on the tree. Roast goose is always the chief feature of our Christmas eve dinner and a dish of rice is eaten on Christmas eve before dinner is served. Apple fritters are eaten instead of plum pushting. Christmas day itself is esserved strictly as a religious festival, but the day before and the day after Christmas are holidays. The theaters are open, and the young people give dances. Our little Danish children do not know about Santa Chess. They not know about Santa Chasa. They have instead what they call a Nissen, meaning a Christmas brownie in the shape of a little old man with a large shape of a little old man with a large gray heard who is supposed to live un-der the ground. Another Danish super-stition is that at midnight Christmas eve the cows in the stable rise and low in salutation, and on Christmas eve young maldens tell their fortunes by breaking the white of an egg into a glass of water and watching the shapes

"Glagelig Jul!" is the Danish greeting for "Happy Christmas!"—Selected.

I fancy an English Christmas is too well known to need much description. English novels have described it fully, and the English illustrated papers at Christmas time give a good idea of the Christman time give a good idea or the festivities. Every one who has a country place goes there for Christman. There is generally a large house party, and dencing and skating help to pass the time. The houses and churches are decorated with holly and greens, and "missiletoe hangs on the eastle wall."

The true is always at any result is not. The tree is almost as universal an insti-tation in England, as in Germany, and the evening is given over to amusing the children, who play blind man's buff, map dragon and hide and seek. The proverbial English Christmas din-ner always includes roast beef and plum publing. Every self respecting English-man goes to church on Christmas morn-ing, and in some country parishes the "waits" ettil sing their carols from house to bouse on Christmas eve. The tree is almost as universal an instihouse to house on Christmas eve.

In other respects it is kept very much as the American Christmas.—British Comes in Chicago Tribune.

Ballways to Erect Stations at Any Point Which Committee Meems Proper-operating Rules of Ballways to be tran-form Throughout th Commission.

Ottawn, June 27.-The bill to amend the Railway Act was taken up in the Railway Committee to-day. The Minister of Railways explained the purpose of the bill at length. He said that the first clause made provision for a number of requirements that the committee had been in the habit of inserting in each railway bill that came before it. They were tiesigned to protect the public, and had relation especially to the construction and operation of telegraph and telephone lines,

Another clau e incorporated in general provision the usual regulations respecting the construction and operation of bridges. Protecting the Public

A further provision gave additional protection to railways in the interest of public safety. It provided a penalty not exceeding

The toroner's Jury Render Verdict-The Company in no Way to Blame for the Accident The Cause of the Explosion

Sidney, C.B., June 27.-The fire in he Caledonia mine at Glace Hay now under control. During the few days there have been some heavy falls in the pit, and this, of course, has made the work of the fire-fighters doubly dangerous. Undoubtedly, fire still exists under its debris, but it will be gradually snuffed out. The mine is now saved; unless the fire hould break out im mone other quarter, which is not considered probable. Amistant Manager Johnston and Superintendent Brown, with sixteen men, yesterday morning, travelled all over the mine except, of course, the part submerged and the fire district, $ nd several times walked entirely around the fire some. Only three days ago the danger attendant upon working in the pit was so great that but eight men were permitted in the mine at one time, these being relieved every two hours, and explicit instructions were given each shift that for no reason and on no account abould they go leyond a certain point, nor deviate from one certain pathways and remain not more than two hours, below the surface. / Insusctors Gilein and Neville will make an examination of the mine on Thursday morning, and if they report the danger past mining will be recumgnachines are in the affected part of the mina, but by working a double thift, all the pick man could be employed, thus admitting of a daily output of from fifteen to eighteen bur dred tone against two thousand

MR. NEW L'S MONESTY IN BOURT.

Mr. Neill may be a wery clever man of business, but he has not the regard for truth and justice that one would expect from a man of his pretentions. At the cour, of arbitration Monday to determine the rental value of the land on which his store stands, Mr. Neill stated under onth that the roadway (George street) in front of his store was no thoroughfare; that the market block bad too many saloons, and that the Times was "no use." Probably the wit-Times was "no use." Probably the witness meant that he could not, "use" the paper in support of some of his schemes. It is the duty of this great family, our nat to watch such men as Mr. Neill, who generally have axes to grind at the expense of the public. As regards that portion of George street if front by Mr. Neill's efter being a "thoroughfare," or not, we leave the public to judge. And as to the "asloons," see know of none. There is one hotel in the block, but no saloon. If gybss, everybody says is true, then Mr. Neill deserves much at the hands of the temperature of the mystery; for some of the hands of the temperature element, for he has made some of the hotelman "dance" while he glad. But this is apart from the sub-parance element, "do he has made some of the hotelman "dance" while he glad. THE ORIGIN OF DIAMONDS.

The dispute among geo.ogists as to the origin o the diamond seems to have been settled by Prof. Bonney, in a paper read before the Royal Society yesterday afternoon in the localities trom which the previous supply had been drawn, to the previous supply had been drawn, both in India and Brazii, the gem occurred like a tebuse, in certain gravelly materials, but had not been traced back to say rock that gave an indication of the supplemental supplementation of the supplementation of t materials, out that gave an indication of complying to $111,095.85, $4.00 to any rock that gave an indication of the second that gave and indication of the second to any rock that gave an indication of the second to any rock that gave an indication of the second to any rock that gave an indication of the second to any rock that gave any rock that ga Urange and Vaal rivers in South Africa they were found fir a psculiar material not of a "ujericial character. At first extremely incoh rent, and of a brownish buff color, it asumed, as the miners dug deeper, a dull dark greenish or bluish tint, and became harder. In this stuff, which they called 'yellow ground' and "blue ground," according to its color, is y the diamonds, together with several other minerals, such as garnets, various iron ores, alivine, sugite, and its alies. Digging was begun mearly thirty years ago, at first unsystematically; but from these early afforts, the great diamond-mining industry has been developed, and the excavations have been earised. near Kimbersy, to a depth of the rock has become so much more solid that it is at first shoun as hard, as ordinary limestone. The "blue ground" is soily found in limited areas, generally rather circular in outline, which are "spotted" irregularly over the country, one of the most famous are several acres in extent, being in the immediate neighborhood of Kimberley. The rocks as round them are of dark shales, banded with hard sandstones, in which sheets or dykes of basalt or some material once motten are occasionally found. The blue ground fills a rort of huge shaft in these other rocks, and is itself sometimes cut by regular dykes. Thus, it reminded geologists of necks of extinct volcances, such as may have been seen among the coal-bearing strata of the Fileshire coast.

That the diamond was an inmate of the blue ground rould not be douthed, but how do it 'get there, and what was the true nature of the rock! ENGLISH LOVE-MAKING Curiosa Statistics in Regard to English Proposals of Marriage.

Statistics in Regard to English Proposals of Maritage.

Statistics are at present being collected on aimost every conceivable subject. What do you think of an Blugian scholar who has actually thought it worth his while to collect statistics in egard to the manner in which men and women make love to each other? He has spent considerable line over this delicate work and now at last he informatine work and now at last he informatine work and now at last he informatine work and how at last he informatine work and how at last he information of the women, and how the woman, as a rule, accept the proposals of the men.

According to the English scholar, the number of young Englishmen who cimbrace their sweethearts at the moment when they are inviting them to become their wives amounts to 36 per cent. On the other hand, 67 per cent, of the men in love kins their sweethearts on the lips at the critical moment, while 4 per cent, shower kinese on their hair and two per cent, containt themselves with kineling their hands.

A carious reason has been assigned for the decadence of this chivalrous customs, which is, that of interpretary to any man to flep down addedly on his knees in a lady's presence. Garments, when strained, with rip and tear, and no self-respecting lover desires to have his act of adoration turned into a farce by any such causalty.

On the other hand wooses of to-day seem to be far more nervous than the gullant men who woosed and won a century ago. a sight of a body of watr. It did seem to me as if I would did up there in Texas unless I could get up there in Texas unless I could get within sound of the ocean's roar, so Drifter did the best of the could. He took me out to a pleasure reart about five miles from the city, at a place called Arlington. The trolley cars ran there, and the coupsign made a great fuse over the Arlington lake. I told Drifter I would be satisfied if I could spend a few hours in a sulfboat set there. At any rate, I would see a body of water once again in my life.

"Well, we had out filmer at the hotel, and I said: "Nov. Drifter, let us get right out on that lake an quick as now sible." The people in the hotel told us in what direction to walk to the lake, and not a sign of a lake was to be seen. At last we found one way hack to the trolley line, and saked one of the rail said men where the Arlington lake was "Oh," he said agrees they have so turned the water on yet. There isn't much of a crowd. Last Sunder they was a big excurs on, then you could have seen the lake full of water."

"Turn the water on! I exclaimed. Though they advertised sailboats and pond lilles and all that nort of thing."

"So they do, na'm," said tha trol ley man, but you know it's pretry draw there's a crowd." Drifter bristled up and said: "What we wan'to know it where the lake is and when there is any water."

"The trolley man was accommodating. He walked along with us, book na no what he called a will, and then pointed in the fact."

MRS. ANDERSON'S BARY.

You couldn't convince Mra. Anderson that Cupid ever was as pretty as her little girl.

Mrs. H. C. Anderson is well known in Sooth Britain. Conn., where she lives. She is very enthusiastic about Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription although no more so than thousands of other women who have been similarly benefited. She writes:

"During the reaction of the first of the period of gestaliarly benefited. She writes:

"During the rest medical but with little benefit. I he first of the period of gestaliarly benefited a nice little beby grid in February following. I went to bed the sixt of sixty of the first of Asset with the first of Asset with the first of Asset with the first one I did not take the Favorite Prescription." and the little one was sick all the time and lived just about two months. This last hely is an plump and healthy as any mother could wish. She is about three weeks old new and is gaining in first every day."

Mothers who suffer undue pain prior to or succeeding the baby's birth are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, by letter, absolutely without charge. The great success which has attended the careful methods pursued by Dr. Pierce, has caused imitators to spring up, who make offers of free advice, which they are not competent to give, not being physicians. When you are invited to "write to a woman," ask the simple question, "It this woman a physician?" You will find that she is not, and does not, and dares not claim to be, a physician. To offer such advice is deceitful. To receive it is dangerous.

THE KORESHANS, WHO OPPOSE THE USUALLY ACCEPTED VIEWS ON ASTRONOMY.

Rt. E. Hendersten, Mi.A., Ph. D., one of the leading exponents of Koreshan ity, the new rult, which has been receiving so much attendion in educated-circles of late, want in town yester-figs, and in an interview with a Times' representative, mid that the headquarters of the "Koreshans" is Chicago, where they number hundreds, many of them having been prominent teachers of the generalty accepted views on astronomy, but who have become convinced that their former opinions were erruneous and that the earth is simply a hollow ball and that within it;—a circumference of 25,000 miles—is cuntained all the rat of the universe. We live upon the inside of the earth pe asserted to be the helief of the hisrachans.

In order to give some of their reasons for rejecting the views of the leading astronomers, we give the following verbatim remerba of Dr. Henderson—"In every age of the world every great system has been accompanied with some gigantic fraud that has completely fooled the great body of the people, and the Copernican system has been accompanies. This popular belief has led the masses to conclude that astronomy is a demonstrated science, and of course, it would be if it were possible for any, one to predict or calculate an eclipse. But the naked fact is that eclipses hare sot calculated, much less predicted, but are simply completed. The eclipses are computed by data, founded upon a long series of observations, the same as the tides of the sea. (

"There is a regular cycle of eclipses are computed by har passing into the same as the tides come in and when they go out in any part of the earth, and so the astronomer turns to his tables and adjusts his future dates to the records of past observations. The theory of eclipses is that the earth and the sun, This is only theory, pure and simple, and the eclipses of the moon is cauched by her passing into the sarth's shedow, and that the eclipse of the moon is not revolution. THE FIGHT AGAINST TERRECTEONIS.

Dr. Schweinitz, one of the American delegates to the Berlin conference on tuberculoma, that' one object of the gathering undoubtedly has been serve ataria for the consumptive poor. He believes that many new institutions will be built in other countries. In Germany, part if not/ all of the cost o afflicted is borne by the employers and the working class. Each is required to pay a small tax. The fight against tuberculosis is becoming genaral throughout the vivilized world and it is not too much to expect that a great diminution in the number of cases will becapparent in the next few years and that this number will continue to increase until what may be regarded as a minimum is reached.

A 5 range Organization.

The syndicating of beggars or their organization into companies for mutual benefit has been spoken of by persons familiar with the lower social conditions out the discovery of such an accession has been rare. One, however has been unsarthed by two New York detectives through the arrest of two onselegad beggars. When the mean gave their bome address, the officers remembered that three other beggars they had arrested in the last two weeks also gave the same address. As investigation resulted in the durowery that a man named flurns conducted a hume for beggars and acted as suspaninendent of the organization. He kept from ten to fifteen young men at work constantly and received a percentage of of the alms they received. Cripples were preferred and wounds or other days always at work in the shopping district and an inspector was employed to sid these men by warning them to the approach of policemen. Burns looked after the men when they were sick and effected their gelease when arrested. One of the detectives remainbured that a year agy, he saw one of the men who had just been arrested drive up to a theater with a stylish young woman. He wore evening clothes and had a cork or wooden leg.

THE ENTREE AN ECONOMY.

it Dutie the Eater's Appetite For the Dinner Proper.

In the French and Italian cuisine, where conomy is studied far more scientifically and thoroughly than in the English or American kitchen, the entree is tish or American kitchen, the entree is not considered an extravagance. On the contrary, it is looked upon rather as an attractive economy—like soup, which dulls the eater's appetite so that he partakes less heartily of the more costly meat courses that follow. On the continent the luncheon never begins, as with us, with the chief dish of substantials. There is an introduction in the shape of a soup, or a dish of eggs, or of rice, or of macaroni, or semolino prepared in appetizing mode. Upon this the luncher tries the first edge of his appetite, so to speak. The piece de resistance comes afterward. or comes afterward.

In the same manner, at dinner, the soup is almost invariably followed by one or two entrees. In the more ambitious menus these may consist of fish or poultry, or even of meast, prepared in croquettes or rissoles, or val-au-vent. If there are two entrees, the vegetable will come second. But when, as is the case at many tables, there is only one entree, this is nearly always a vegetable and is served directly after the soup.

It must be borne in mind that the old fashioned custom which preveiled so gen-

It must be borne in mind that the old fashioned custom which prevailed as generally some years ago in America, and is still to be found in certain places, of serving a number of vegetables with the principal most dish is not followed on the continent. In England it is not unusual to see half a dozen dishes of vegetables appear with the reast. There they have even less idea of variety than is common with us, for precisely the same vegetables are affered day after day until one grows weary of the very sight of them. This, of course, is not the case among those people who have made a study of dinner giving and have grafted French customs on the British stock.

On the continent, however, things are done in a different fashion. At a simple dinner footnathing, let us say, five courses, the first will be soup, the second a vegetable enter the third most of some time.

diner, containing, let us say, five courses, the first will be soup, the second a vegetable entree, the third meat of some kind, with one, or at the most two, vegetables, and one of them meely fails to be a saind. Theu comes a sweet, and after it fruit or cheese. The vegetable interpretars as an entree need not of nowlessity be contly or unusual. Perhaps it is only a cauliflower, served with a good white sauce, or spin-sech, not cooked as we see it here—the stems and leaves scarsely chopped—but uninced to a powder and then put through a colander, so that it is deliciously smooth—id soft before it is dressed with butter or cream and surrounded with three coror cream and surrounded with three cornered bits of toast or friend bread, or the entree may be nothing more elegant than white turnips or young carrots cut into small pleces, stewed tender and served with a cream sauce, or celery divided into three inch lengths, fried brown and seasoned with a tomato gravy. The name of the combination is legion, but they all have one point in common—that they are comparatively inexpensive.—Harper's Basar. or cream and surrounded with three cor

One thing very noticeable is the frequency of tiny gold bottles attached to objects of jewelry derived from those ancient times. All evidence points to the conclusion that they were employed to hold poison, for in those days life was by no means secure, and at any time an emergency might arise where a man or woman would be glad to end existence promptly to escape lifelong imprisonments or indescribable torture by the horrible means used by the ancients. one used by the ancients.

G. W. Stevans, who traveled extensively in India, tells the following interesting story: A Pathan was being hanged, when the rope broke. The warder bade him ge up on to the sanfold again, but he objected. "No," he said, "I was sentenced to be hanged, and hanged I've been."
"Not so, friend," argued the warder; "you were sentenced to be hanged until you were dead, and you're not dead."
It was a new view to the Pathan, and he turned to the superintendent. "Is that right, ashib?"

New York, June 27 .- The City Macon arrived from Cavenmb this morning and reports that she passed the steamer Pawnes on fire forty miles from Care Henry, at eight o'clock yesterday morning. The Pawnee was a wrecky The fate of the crew is unknown. The Pawnee was bound from Charleston and Brunswick, for Boston. Captain Savage, of the City of Mrscon, mays that there was no sign of life on board the Pawnee, nor any evidence of what had become of the alfip's company.

At the office of William P. Clyde & Company, the agents of the line, all that could be told when the first news of the dimater was received was that the Pawner, in command of .Capt. Ingram, left Frunswick on day and Charleston on Saturday for Souton, loaded with lumber and general cargo. The Pawnes was a freight steamer and had a crew of about 34 nen and would have no passengers.

The Pawner was a wooden vessel built at Philadelphia in 1890. 208 feet long, 38 feet beam and 19.5 feat deep, and registered 1.804 town. She was valued at about 2100 800, bergeni saw bas

Philadelphia, June 27.—The British steamer Alborough, from Cardenas, which passed up the Delaware River this morning reported the destruction oy fire of the Clyde line steamer Pawsee, which trades between New York and Philadelphia. In order to give some of their reasons for repeting the views of the leading astronomers, we give the following verbatim remarks of Ir. Henderson—"In every age of the world every great system has been accompanied with some gigantic frault that has completely fooled the great body of the jespie, and the Copernican system has been accompanied with some gigantic frault that has completely fooled the great body of the jespie, and the Copernican system has been accompanied by fooled the great body of the jespie, and the support to this gule. We have always been taught to believe that our astronomers could predict or calculate the eclipses. This gopular belief has jed the masses to conclude that astronomy is a demonstrated science, and of occurse it would be if it were possible for any one to predict or calculated, much less predicted, but are simply computed. The eclipses are computed by data founded upon a long series of observations, the same as the tides of the sea.

"There is a regular cycle of eclipses consisting of some 18 solar years, or 223 lunatime. A captain of a ship takes cut his table and see when the tides come in and when they go out in any part of the earth, and so the astronomer turns to his tables and adjusts his future dates to the geords of the sun is caused by the moon casting her shadow upon the earth when she is between the earth when she is between the earth and the sun, is caused by the most caused of the sun is caused by the most cast-ing her shadow upon the earth when the is between the earth and the sun. This is only theory, pure and aimple, and the sclipses may be caused by something also entirely.

The generally accepted theory of actives is based on assumption that all heaventy bottles cast shadows. The earth in her revolution around the sun casts a shadow which runs to a point, as the sun is, believed to be, larger than the earth; and in like manner the moon in her revolution about the earth casts a shadow which form of a come, the earth being by fifty times the larger body. But who knows if any baseonly body casts a shadow; "The Encyclopedia Brittanics, latest edition volume two, page 745, mys—"We are in possession of the tables from which they (the Ladians) compute the eclipses and places of the planning." At page 745 it mys—"Frum 722 to 400 before our era Confucius recknoss a series of thirty-siz eclipress, and of these thirty-one have been verified by modern astronomers."
